

This architectural floor plan depicts the first floor of the New York City Police Station. The layout is organized around a central corridor system, indicated by dashed lines. Key areas include:

- Top Section: A "COVERED PLATFORM" at the top edge, with a "REST ROOM" located just below it.
- Central Core: A large "VAULT" is situated in the upper-middle section, flanked by two staircases. Directly beneath the vault is the "REST OFFICE".
- Left Wing: A large "GENERAL WAITING ROOM" occupies the left side of the plan. A "CLOSET" is located near the top left corner.
- Right Wing: A "LADIES WAITING ROOM" is located on the right side, with a "CLOSET" nearby.
- Bottom Section: A "MAN LOBBY" is positioned at the bottom center, featuring a staircase and a "CLOSET".
- Entrances: Multiple doorways are shown along the perimeter, with some labeled "ENTRANCE".
- Structural Elements: Thick hatched lines represent walls and structural columns. Staircases are shown with parallel lines indicating the direction of travel.
