

- Noyes, Nicholas, and the Salem witches, 180.
- Nurse, Rebecca, accused of witchcraft, 165; judges force conviction, 174.
- Ohio River, La Salle hears of, 111; La Salle's expedition, 111-115. See also next title.
- Ohio valley, beginnings of English occupation, 260, 264; effect on the French, 261; Indians, 263; power of the Iroquois, 263; French influence over the Indians, 264, 266, 269; French possession asserted, 264-267; Duquesne sends expedition to control, 268; Washington's mission, 270, 271; Fort Duquesne built, 272; failure of Washington's expedition, 273-276; effect of Fort Duquesne on English prestige, 277, 293; English gain control, 340. See also Fort Duquesne.
- Ojibways, Algonquin Indians, location, 99; French friendship, 105.
- Old Britain. See Demoiselle.
- Old South Church, Boston, founded, 201.
- One Hundred Associates, privileges and duties, 90; first expedition captured by English, 91.
- Oneidas, Iroquois Indians, meaning of name, 45; segregated from Mohawks, 47. See also Iroquois.
- Onondagas, Iroquois Indians, meaning of name, 45.
- Organizations, tendency to rigidity, 213.
- Osburn, Sarah, accused of witchcraft, 162.
- Oswego, N. Y., importance of founding, 262; captured by the French, 308; destroyed, 309; effect of capture, 309; rebuilt, 345; successfully defended, 346.
- Ottawas, Algonquin Indians in Canada, 64; war party with Champlain, 65-70; Champlain among, 84; driven westward by the Iroquois, 106.
- Panama, Champlain suggests a canal at, 41.
- Parliament, Witch Act, 143.
- Parris, Elizabeth, and the Salem witchcraft, 159. See also Salem Village.
- Parris, Samuel, minister of Salem Village, 157; church troubles, 158; his household and the beginnings of the witchcraft delusion, 159-161, 192.
- Pennsylvania, western claim, 268; attitude of the Assembly on Fort Duquesne, 277; troops for campaign of 1759, 343.
- Penobscot River, Maine, explored by Champlain, 52; called Norumbega, 52.
- Pepperell, William, commands the attack on Louisburg, 251; created a baronet, 256.
- Pequawket Indians, Lovewell's fight, 246-248.
- Philip II. of Spain, death, 35.
- Phips, Sir William, governor of Massachusetts, 169, 203; wife accused of witchcraft, 184.
- Physical science, effect on belief in witchcraft, 137.
- Pickawillany, Ohio, Miami trading village, Céloron at, 266; destroyed by the French, 267.
- Pitt, William, controls war affairs, 315; character, 315; popularity, 316; policy of destruction of New France, 342.
- Pittsburg, Penn., named, 341. See also Fort Duquesne.
- Pomeroy, Benjamin, punished for revivalism, 230.
- Pomeroy, Seth, in Johnson's army, 296.
- Pontgravé (François Gravé, Sieur du Pont), monopoly of the fur-trade, 36, 37; and Champlain in Canada, 41, 60, 62.