THE TEMPERANCE PEOPLE BLAME
THE GOVERNMENT.

As we expected would be the case, the temperance people are now charging the Government with double dealing. The Montreal Witness, which all along has been the soul of the prohibition movement, states that one cause of the defeat was "the by no means negative position of the Liberal party throughout the province. With the exception of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, all the French Liberal leaders were in the fray. French Liberal leaders were in the fray.

The institutions needed to carry out this plan would be:

1. A centrally located reception hospital and dispensary. The dispensary should treat the ambulant tuberculous patients, whose admission into the sanatorium is impracticable or has to be delayed for want of room. These dispensaries should also serve the patient discharged from the sanatorium as a place to seek counsel, and thus aid in his continued improvement or guard against approaching relapses.

clusion that the plebiscite in this pro-vince was a deliberately planned failure." From The Witness it appears that many people were not aware that that these things were done without Sir Wilfrid Laurier's instructions, but it was his duty as head of the Government to see that a fair expression of public opinion was taken throughout the whole country. His failure to obtain such expression of opinion in the Province of Quebec is wilful negligence. He must have known very well what was going on. The people in this city had full notice of the campaign of the French sections of the Cabinet against a prohibition movement in Quebec. Everything goes to show that it was a prearranged policy on the part of the Government to have the plebiseite defeated in Quebec. The fact that Sir Wilfrid Laurier did not personally take feat does not exonerate him. It was an old trick of Sir Oliver Mowat to have municipal care of consumptives." The author is S. A. Knopf, M.D., of New York. He not only shows that consumption is largely a preventible dising it out of existence. The tuber culosis problem is much more serious than the drink question. "Of the 63,-000,000 people living to-day in the United States," writes Dr. Vaughan, an expert die of tuberculosis unless something is done to prevent it." Applying the same figures, proportionately, to Canada it can be said that of the five million people living in this country over 700,000 will die of tuberculosis unless something is done to prevent it. The liquor traffic, in its palmiest days, never caused such dreadful havoc as this. Here our temperance friends will find a field ripe for the harvest. They will meet with no opposition. If but half the energy were devoted to this problem that has been expended upon the liquor question, tuberculosis would be subdued in short order. We subjoin Dr. Knopf's plan for the care of consumptives by the State and municipality:

Just as there exists in nearly all Just as there exists in nearly all States or municipalities a commission or a number of special examiners for the purpose of determining who is a proper subject for State care in an asylum for the insane, so should there exist a commission for the determination of admission to a municipal or State institution for consumptives.

Such a commission, composed of a certain number of general practitioners and health officers, should be aided in its work by the charity organizations. Each and every case should be investigated by a combined committee of physicians and laymen, for the following purposes:

purposes:
1. To determine the applicant's condi-

quiry, sent to the former medical at-

Everywhere the local members had instructions to secure a negative vote. These instructions were given in the name of Mr. Tarte and Sir Wilfrid Laurier. We have unquestionable information that Sir Wilfrid's name was wrongly used in this matter. He was anxious to know the mind of the country and carefully abstained from biasing the vote. But as he was known to be a disbeliever in prohibition it was easy to import his dame into the matter. It is reported that almost every Liberal heeler in Montreal was working yesterday for all he was worth on behalf of the liquor men."

Further on The Witness states that "every observation points to the conclusion that the plebiscite in this produce of the color of the titude, if possible, of between one than three or five hours by rail, at an altitude, if possible, of between one than three or five hours by rail, at an altitude, if possible, of between one than three or five hours by rail, at an altitude, if possible, of between one than three or five hours by rail, at an altitude, if possible, of between one than three or five hours by rail, at an altitude, if possible, of between one than three or five hours by rail, at an altitude, if possible, of between one than three or five hours by rail, at an altitude, if possible, of between one than three or five hours by rail, at an altitude, if possible, of between one than three or five hours by rail, at an altitude, if possible, of between one than three or five hours by rail, at an altitude, if possible, of between one than three or five hours by rail, at an altitude, if possible, of between one than three or five hours by rail, at an altitude, if possible, of between one than three or five hours dy than three or five hours dy have already spoken.

Any society or body that institutes a the Grand Trunk yard to-day and was the plebiscite was being taken. Pro-clamations were hardly anywhere to be seen, while the official machinery for recording the votes was placed in the hands of the liquor interest. It may possibly be true, as The Witness says, that these things were done without Sir Wilfrid Laurier's instructions, but

But regrets are useless. We will have our high-grade carpets and our repre sentatives may appear in dress grade ability that is essential to the expansion and development of the city: Everything in connection with the ne City Hall is being and has been ac quired regardless of expense. The only incongruity about the thing is the men who will occupy the chamber. Surely these high-grade carpets call for highgrade men. If not, why were they ordered? The aldermen have done their part in the building and furnishing of the edifice. It will be the people's duty

purposes:

1. To determine the applicant's condition by a medical examination.

2. To visit his home if he has been found tuberculous, and to institute such hygienic measures as seem necessary (distribution of pocket spittoons, disinfectants, etc.)

3. To examine the other members of the family in order to find out if any of them have also contracted the disease, and if so, to counsel proper treatment.

4. To report in full to the sanitary authorities concerning the condition of the patient's dwelling. Its renovation or even destruction may become imperative when it is evident that tuberculosis has become "endemic" there, owing to the condition of the soil or to other sanitary defects.

5. To determine the financial condition, whether the patient' is or is not able to pay, and whether or not by his being taken to an institution the family will become destitute.

If the latter should be the case, it would become an imperative duty for the municipality to provide for the family. In many cases a letter of inquiry, sent to the former medical attendant of the potient, would materi-

A BETTER KIND OF PROHIBITION. Our prohibition friends need not despair. If they are in earnest in their desire to benefit humanity there are scores of different channels along which they may profitably divert their energies. We propose to refer to one such channel. The idea is suggested by an equally high-grade class of men. If

"Let us," says he, "do something—let us do it soon and let us do it well—so that with the dawn of the new century we may hope to see the tuberculosis problem solved, at least in North America; solved by the most humanitarian method, thanks to the combined efforts of physicians, statesmen, philapthropists, health officers of States, provinces and cities, and the good will of an intelligent people."

The prohibition of consumption will be a popular movement. We trust our temperance friends will adopt it in lieu of the weakling which has just succumbed.
