TRADES COUNCIL TO ASSIST STREET CAR MEN TO GET WAGES

No. 1 Committee Appointed To Investigate Matter-Road Purchase Discussed.

us for a free sample. Temple-ton's, 142 King St. W., Toronto. sp High Rents Complained Of— Ald. Ashton Says Assessment Measure Remedy.

Number 1 committee was appointed to approach the city council on this matter.

"If the road is left for another year it will be just like the street railway they have in Windsor," said Ald. Ashton. "That is a regular junk heap. They didn't buy it in the right time and the company were not getting sufficient funds to keep the road in the condition it should have been kept in. Now is the time for the city to buy the road. The company is not putting one dollar's worth of repairs either on cars or the rails and in due course of time it will be a junk heap. I understand the company will seil it for what it cost. What better offer would anybody want than that?

Developments Expected.

"I think something will be done today when the railway board meets. What it will be we do not know, but we hope it will be in regards to our receiving the wages guaranteed us."

J. F. Thompson, one of the delegates, brought the following resolution before the council, and in a few words stated why he did so. "We should take joint action on this and then receive a data from the ones concerned," said Mr. Thompson. No 1 committee was appointed to take the matter up. The resolution was:

"That in view of the repeated rise in all commodities and services purchased by wages and seeing that such increased prices largely void any increase in wages that result as a consequence of the action of trade organization.

thing with the matter, but Ald Ashton assured the delegates that the city council would assess the landlord on the money he wanted for the house. money he wanted for the house.

Several Complaints.

"I have heard several complaints about the increases in rents. Many rents have been advanced over 100 per cent. I know a man who, prior to the war, would have sold his house for war, would have sold his house for $1,000; now he will not sell it for $1,500. He has not improved the inside fixtures to any great extent, but still he wants more money. There is only one way in which we can get back at these people, and that is to assess them on the and that is to assess them on the amount at which they value their

A delegate from the inside wood-workers' union asked why the factories that have been reported in local papers were not coming to the city. "That is were not coming to the city. That is all we see of them, just on a sheet of paper. All the men of my union want the factories, and they certainly will appreciate it very much if the Chamber of Commerce or the city council can bring them to the city."

will appreciate it very much if the Chamber of Commerce or the city council can bring them to the city."

A delegate from the cigarmakers union said that in a labor paper in Toronto a non-union brand of tobacco was advertised. He pointed out that the paper which was fighting for labor unions would advertise something that was not made by union men.

As it is the usual custom of the trades and labor council to hold an annual church parade, it is going to hold one this year. The date was not set, but it is expected it will be the first Sunday in September. Rev. Hawkins will be the chief speaker and will talk on "Unionism." The members will gather on the market square early in the afternoon and then proceed to the Labor Temple, where Rev. Hawkins will address them.

With regard to the plans and the funds thus far subscribed toward the Labor Day program for the city, the secretary of the committee reported secretary of the committee reported very good progress. Only three or four local unions have not sent word as to whether they are going to take part in the proceedings. The funds are increasing every day, and from present indications one of the best Labor Day programs will be given in the city this year than has been arranged for sime time.

It was decided at the regular meeting of the trades and labor council last evening that action to have the street railway men receive the increase in wages they were guaranteed by the railway board after the strike last June, be taken. Ald Ashton, the delegate for the street railway men, said that they were only receiving the wages they got before they went on strike.

"We only get from 42 cents to 48 cents an hour, and that is starvation wages for any man nowadays," said Ald. Ashton. "I think it is the duty of the trades and labor council to discover why we are not receiving the wages we were guaranteed."

The matter was then put to a vote and it was unanimously resolved that No. 1 committee of the council look into the matter.

The subject was then broached as to whether the city should buy the road. Number 1 committee was appointed to approach the city council on this matter.

Possibly the most humorous events on the sports program were the boxing in barrels of authous the tug-of-war. In the former event two brothers, E. O. and Emerson Desjardin, boxed several rounds to a draw, and to the amusement of the spectators until the latter was forced to retire owing to the fact that his trousers became tor: in several places, and there was not a surplus barrel to borrow for the homeward journey. Weir Oliver succeeded in best-ing E. O. Desjardin after several fruitless attempts, which were greatly enjoyed by the hundreds present.

Rope Tied to Auto.

The tug-of-war was pulled off by teams captained by William Oliver and George Eggleston. The latter outfit had a victory in sight until Henry Hueston, of Exeter, the judge in this event, discovered that Eggleston had attached his end of the rope to a motor captured the cigars.

Undaunted by this defeat. Eggleston challenged George Oliver to run a hundred-yard dash, and as both contestants are well hundred-yard dash, and as both contestants are well known in the district much interest was evinced by the crowd. After several false starts the challenger defeated Oliver despite his protests, which were based on the suspicious methods used in the tug-of-war. Following these events an exciting game of baseball was played between teams picked from the merry-makers, after which the crowd adjourned to the casino for the baby show, silver cups being awarded to the winners.
