

on the presentation of regular certificates of good standing and dismissal from the authorities of such institutions, to their standing in this College.

Occasional Students may be admitted to attendance upon courses of lectures on presenting a Presbyterian order to that effect, or on payment of the fee of four dollars for each full course, or of ten dollars for all the courses. Such occasional students are not required to pass the terminal or sessional examinations; nor are they eligible for the scholarships and other rewards open to regular Students. Should they, however, desire to take the sessional examinations, certificates of their proficiency may be given them by the Professors whose lectures they have attended. The Senate may remit the fees in special cases.

The regulations mentioned above concerning regular Students apply equally to French speaking Students preparing for French work, for whom a special course of preliminary study is provided, on passing the final examination in which they are entitled to enter upon the Theological course. Such French Students may, however, enter upon the same footing as English Students, passing the same examinations in all the subjects, with the exception of English, Philosophy and History, for which the following equivalents will be taken:—

French.—Grammar and Composition; History of French Literature.
Philosophy, &c.—Logic; Cousin's History of Philosophy; Jouffroy's Ethics (Cours de droit naturel); Piaux, Anatomie du Papisme.
History.—Duruy, Histoire Universelle.

The rule for English Students intermitting any part of their Literary Course, as to examination in all the subjects in which they have not been previously examined, is applicable to French Students also.

THEOLOGICAL CURRICULUM.

The course of instruction in Theology extends over three sessions of six months each. In addition to the ordinary subjects taught in the classes of the various Professors as prescribed for each year, in which every Student must pass an examination at the close of the session, an honour course is provided, which is optional and in which no lectures are given, but to which certificates of honour, scholarships and medals are attached.
