Amatite Roofing!

You'll Never Need a Paint Brush. When you lay Amatite on the roof you're through with it. You don't have to paint it every year to keep it from leaking. It has a real mineral surface which does not need painting. Most of the old-fashioned, 'smooth surfaced' or Rubber Roofing, which requires painting, costs more than Amatite and you have all the extra cost of paint. It looks easy now to give your roof an occasional coating in the future. But do you realize that in 1913 you must paint it, and in 1915 you must paint it, and in 1917 you must paint it, and in 1919—that far-away year—you must still be painting that confounded old Rubber Roof. Why, a new Amatite Roof will cost less than the paint alone. Send to us for free samples and booklet explaining all about it. Ask your dealer for Amatite Roofing.

Religion and Amusements

S. J. M. COMPTON.

As an example of the attitude of Jesus to these things, take the incident of His presence at the marriage in Cana of Galilee. From that incident there issue one or two principles that are fundamental for the guidance of the disciples of Jesus in every age. What are these principles?

There is first of all this principle—amusements have a legitimate place in the Christian life. It is difficult to miss that truth as it lies on the very surface of the incident of Cana. An invitation had been sent to Jesus and His disciples to the wedding and one of the pleasures of the day. Did Jesus refuse both for Himself and His followers, thinking that to accept would be wrong? Was Jesus afraid that the great work of the kingdom of God to which He had just dedicated Himself in public would suffer by His acceptance? Not at all. He accepted the invitation and went. Then for all who can hear Him, say to them: 'One is your master, even Christ; the principle is established that amusement has a perfectly legitimate place in the Christian life. And the kindest way to think of the doctrine that taboos all amusement is that such doctrine is not of Christ. John the Baptist came neither eating nor drinking. That is, John took no part in the social pleasures of his time. But Jesus came, and He said of Himself, eating and drinking. That is, Jesus did contentment and take part in the lighter side of social life. Jesus understood how to make merry and be glad. The fact is that so different was the mentality of Jesus from the austerity of John that the gossips of His day looked upon Him as a glutton and a winebibber, one too fond of the pleasures and gaieties of life.

Now for those whose mental image of Jesus is that of a man of sorrows with a bleeding and thorn-crowned brow, it may be unweelcome to have this somewhat different image of Jesus held before the mind and heart. Jesus as a genial and joyous but withal an earnest spirit may be a source of discomfort for some. But what is the use of shutting our eyes to the facts of life? Jesus did not shun the joy and gaiety of His time. And no man will deny whose heart Jesus altogether controls. For such a life there is one thing certain: there is a legitimate place for amusements and recreation.

But there is another principle bearing upon these things. The amusements of a disciple of Jesus must contribute to the main business of the Christian life. Turn to the account of Jesus at the marriage again. How does it record the impression that Jesus created there? Thus, 'He manifested forth his glory and his disciples believed on him.' Now what is the main business of the Christian life? What is its chief end? Simply to glorify Christ, to make men feel the wonder and charm of His life and love. And everything in the life of a disciple must be a means to that end. It is here that we emerge the second guiding principle governing the amusements and recreation of the Christian heart. Does our amusements contribute to faith, our own and other's faith? Is there some subtle quality about our amusements that makes some one pause and bethink himself of the beauty and charm of the Christian spirit as it plays? In other words, can we glorify our Master in our recreations? If we can, let us go on with never a fear. In such a case there need be never a question about our amusements. It is told us that the saintly Carlo Borromeo began a game of chess with some friends, and as they played the propriety of such amusements was questioned. Suppose they knew they were to die within the hour? Borromeo was asked what he would do in such a case. And the saint, knowing the secret thought of his own heart, replied: 'I would go on and finish my game, as I began it, for the glory of God.' That is the Christian spirit. If in our deepest heart we know we go into our sports and amusements desiring to make others feel how clean and healthy can be the life that is Christ's, we may be sure of the Master's 'Well done.' And for the Christian heart that is enough.

Royal Naval Reserve Called to the Colours

Early Sunday morning Commander MacDermott of H. M. S. Calypso was appointed that the Admiralty had issued an order calling the Royal Naval Reserves to active duty, and was instructed to put the order in force here forthwith. Copies of the order were posted about the city, and telegraphed the Magistrates requesting them to make it known to the reserves as quickly as possible. Capt. Parsons of the S. S. Kyle was also wired to pick up the men at the various ports coming north, and the captains of the other coastal steamers to also give passage to all reservists, so that they could reach here as soon as possible. The full force of the Newfoundland Reserves is about 600, and about one-third of these are expected to be aboard ship by to-day. The order posted about the city, and as issued by the Admiralty reads as follows:

'Special Admiralty Order Mobilization of Royal Naval Reserve men called out for service in the Royal Navy. His Majesty the King having issued His Proclamation ordering and directing that Royal Naval Volunteers (commonly known as the Royal Naval Reserve) under the Royal Naval Reserve Act, 1859, or so many or such part of them as the Admiralty may direct, be called into active service. Notice is hereby given that men in the Newfoundland Royal Naval Reserve are required to report themselves in person forthwith on board His Majesty's Ship Calypso. Men at sea, or for other unavoidable cause unable to attend as above, must report themselves as soon as possible on board His Majesty's Ship Calypso. Men are to appear in uniform and bring their certificates R. N. 2, and any necessary with them. Reasonable expenses incurred in travelling to the rendezvous will be allowed. Men serving in the Royal Navy for a period of Naval training will continue in active service. Any man failing to report without delay in compliance with this order will be liable to arrest as a deserter. By Command of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty.'

A Sane Proposal

London, July 29.—The Times urges the Government to exclude, Tyrone and Fermanagh from the Home Rule Bill, on the distinct understanding that such arrangement be devised to meet temporary exigencies, adding: 'It is imperative to patch up our domestic difference without delay in order to strengthen Britain in Europe. A general election as a remedy for the Irish difficulty is out of the question when the great Powers are burning their armour.' With equal candour the Times admits that it prefers Sir Edward Grey to continue at the Foreign Office. 'Were postponement of the Irish Bill will not suffice after Sunday's events,' continues the Times. 'Whatever is done must be tangible and concrete. If Asquith would take the statesmanlike step of including in the Amending Bill the exclusion of the six counties, he would probably relieve Ireland from the immediate risk of strife, and have the nation at his back, during the troublesome time ahead.'

Narrow Escape

Ottawa, July 29.—H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught, the Duchess and Princess Patricia narrowly escaped drowning last Saturday. Two motor boats, on which they were passengers on the Lake of the Woods at Kenora, struck floating logs with such speed that hoses were driven through their tin sheeting. The boats began to fill. Other boats dashed to the rescue, and succeeded in taking the Governor-General, his family and suite off the boats, just before they sank.

War News

London, Aug. 3.—In a naval conflict reported to have occurred in North Sea, Germany is said to have lost seven ships; British two. Reported England has declared war.

London, Aug. 3.—Despatch to telegraph from Paris says the German troops have taken possession of the Belgian town of Arlon.

Paris, Aug. 3.—Two defeats of German troops invading France are announced here. It is stated that in one engagement on the frontier the Ulmans, the famous cavalry of the Kaiser's army were routed by French troops, 2,000 prisoners captured, and two German Officers and 20 soldiers killed.

Since Germany Will Have it, She Shall Have it in Full Measure

London, Aug. 3.—Sir Edward Grey stated in the House of Commons today that the House was free to decide what the British attitude in the present European conflict should be. Sir Edward added that Britain had not committed herself to anything but diplomatic support. Grey requested the Commons to approach the consideration of the European situation from the point of view of British interests, British honor and British obligations. 'The Cabinet, after a conference' that lasted just a few minutes less than two hours, recessed at 1:10 p.m. No hint of what matters had been discussed could be gathered immediately after the session. 'At last the suspense is at an end. We believe every Briton with any sort of manhood in him will hear the news with relief. Since Germany will have it, she shall have it in full measure,' said Sir Edward Grey. 'No nation went into war with better heart or clearer conscience than Great Britain does now.'

Italy Remains Neutral

London, Aug. 3.—Italy, by proclaiming neutrality, has virtually separated herself from her German and Austrian partners in the Triple Alliance. Although she has put 500,000 of her 2,400,000 troops under arms she will fight only if attacked.

British Cruisers Protect British Gold

London, Aug. 3.—The steamship Kronprinzessin Cecilie of the North German line, carrying $18,000,000 in gold and silver, has been intercepted by four British cruisers. They are said to be escorting her to Southampton. It is understood the Cecilie received orders from her owners to proceed to Hamburg without calling at any British port. Her gold cargo was shipped from New York and was consigned to British and French bankers. It is assumed England determined to see that it is properly delivered to the consignees.

THIS WOMAN'S SICKNESS

Quickly Yielded To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Baltimore, Md.—'I am more than glad to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. I suffered dreadful pains and was very irregular. I became alarmed and sent for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it irregularly until I was without a cramp or pain and felt like another person, and it has now been six months since I took any medicine at all. I hope my little note will assist you in helping other women. I now feel perfectly well and in the hour of health.'—Mrs. AUGUST W. KONDNER, 1632 Hollins Street, Baltimore, Md.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact. For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc. If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.
