

Clothers and Hatters,
97 Johnson St.

MEDICAL.

THREE SCORE YEARS
OLD DE GORDON'S
REMEDY FOR MEN
ABSOLUTELY
Cures Lost Power, Nervous
Debility, Night Sweats, Diseases caused by Abuse, Overwork, Indigestion, Tobacco, Opium or Stimulants, Lack of Energy, Lost Memory, Headaches and Weakness of the Young, middle-aged or old men suffering from the effects of excesses and overwork, and restored to perfect health and BELIEF TO THOUSANDS BY THIS MARVELOUS REMEDY.

A Cure is Guaranteed to everyone using this Remedy according to directions,

a sure cure for all the above mentioned ailments.
PRICE $1.00, 6 PACKAGES $5.00.
Sent by mail to any part of the world.
Write for Book "STARTLING FACTS" concerning this medicine. It will tell you how to get well and stay well.

ADDRESS D. E. CAMPBELL
Family Chemist
SOLE AGENT, VICTORIA, B. C. ap:ly wk.

UPTURE
More OUBLES than any other remedy for DEFORMITY
L. S. KING, N. Y.

Ladies,
Mother Green's Tansy Pills.
Used by thousands. Safe, Sure and Always Reliable. REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.
From all Druggists or mailed free on observation, on receipt of $1.00.
Send particulars, 3 cents.

WEAKNESS OF MEN
Quickly, Thoroughly, Forever Cured by a new perfected scientific method that cannot fail unless the case is beyond human aid. You feel improved the first day, feel a benefit every day, soon know yourself a strong man in body, mind and heart. Drains and lessens. Every obstacle to happy married life removed. Nerve force, will, energy, brain power, when falling or lost, are restored by this treatment. All small and weak portions of the body enlarged and strengthened. Victims of alcohol and excess, regain your manhood. Sufferers from follies, overwork, early errors, ill health, regain your vigor! Don't despair, even if in the last stages. Don't be disheartened if quacks have robbed you. Let us show you that medical science and business honor still exist here go hand in hand. Write for our book with explanations and proofs. Sent sealed, free. Over 2,000 references.

THE GREAT
Hudsonian
This extraordinary discoverer is the most valuable discovery of the age and is indicated by the leading scientists of Europe and America.

WAR TO THE KNIFE.
The Prohibitionists Take the Bull by the Horns.

KEEPS YOU IN HEALTH.
DUNN'S
FRUIT SALINE
DELICIOUSLY REFRESHING.

LANGLEY & CO., Victoria,
Agents for B. C.

CATARH
Sole by Druggists or sent by mail,
90c. E. T. Haseltine, Warren, Pa.

VOL. 9—No. 42.
WHOLE NUMBER 471.

YATES ON EUROPE.

Edmund, the Eavesdropping
Flinkey of Royalty.

GIVES THE GAS BAG ANOTHER SQUEEZE

England's Fat Little Monarch Gadding
About Again—Important Doings of Her Eldest Boy—The Masqueraders
at a Brilliant House—Russell's Retirement from Politics.

New York, May 1.—Edmund Yates telegraphs the Tribune as follows: "The Queen is to arrive at Buckingham Palace on Thursday, and Her Majesty's palace will be in town until Saturday evening, when she will return to Windsor. There will be a dinner party at the palace each night of the Queen's stay in town. The Queen will leave Windsor town on May 22nd, starting at about 10 o'clock. The royal train will proceed by the Great Western and North Western railways to Warrington, and thence by a specially constructed line to Llanochter, where the Queen is to embark on board the admiralty yacht to embark, which is to convey her along the ship canal to Trafford wharf, opposite Cardiff docks, about nine miles. The Queen will drive through Manchester in an open carriage, and the day is to be observed as a public holiday. Her Majesty is to leave Manchester at 6 o'clock and will probably dine on the train, which is to proceed north to Balmoral by the usual route, and the Queen will arrive at Balmoral on Wednesday morning and stay five weeks. The Prince of Wales will give a dinner party to the members of the Jockey club at Marlborough house on June 6th, that being the evening of Derby day. The Marlborough house garden party will probably take place on Saturday, July 7th. No date has yet been fixed for the marriage of the Czarevitch and Princess Alix of Hesse, but the ceremony will not take place before November, possibly not until January. The wedding will be celebrated at St. Petersburg. The princess will have to change both her religion and name before even the preliminary arrangements for the wedding can be made. It is expected that Marie will be the new name of the princess, that having been selected by the present empress, instead of Wilhelmina. The memory of the oldest and most hardened "st. rights" would be taken into account in a more brilliant audience than that which assembled on Saturday evening to witness the production of "The Masqueraders" at St. James's theatre. Two boxes on the ground floor of the theatre were reserved for the Duke and Duchess of Teck, her mother, with whom were the Baroness and Mr. Burdett-Coutts and one or two others. In the stage box below were Lord and Lady Lyndoch, and their family. They were faced by Sir Francis and Lady Jenne, with the daughters of the house, who are not yet "out," and by Lady Dorothy and Miss Mercedes Neville, who were with Mrs. George Alexander. In the stalls, representatives of all the world. It is months, if not years ago, since I drew attention to the extravagant scale on which money was being purposely lavished on the labor combination. A clamorous consciousness of this fact has dawned on parliament and the house has waked to the knowledge that over £240,000 has been spent on the compilation of what will be nothing but an academic handbook of social statistics. What is to be done? It would be of no use to inquire at this time of day, but good may come of it all, for steps are being taken to prevent the recurrence of folly of this sort. It does not need one to be laudator temporis acti to recognize in the life of Mr. McCallum the type of radicalism that has had its days. When the late Joseph Hunt, Viscount Williams, Peter Taylor, Perronet Thompson, and McCullagh, Parsons, barked they were prepared to bite. They would snap fingers at Sir William Hayter or Mr. Brand, or anybody else who invited them under the plea of the displeasure of Mr. Schnaushorst and all his host to vote against their sworn convictions. Mr. Terence was not a very big man, but clever in his way. He was a frequent walker of London pavements, and a frequenter of the British Museum library. Nothing delighted him more than to talk with some old fisherman of the days of Tom Duncombe, and Tom Wakely, and Wat Tyler Cox, Sgt. Parry, and Sir Morton Peck. His slim and until lately upright figure, old-fashioned gait, and air will long be remembered.

beer two cents, and "ponies" one cent. No attempt will be made to make money, and this unique temperance institution will be maintained by the contributions of the deacons, elders and other good people of the town. The object of this extraordinary proceeding is to deprive the other twenty-six saloons of their trade. As there are 100,000 thirsty people living in prohibition towns within a few miles of this city, and as all these towns are connected with Haverrhill by electric railways, the cold water element will have to raise a big fund to maintain its new venture.

PROTESTANT SISTERS.

A Methodist Church Society for Charitable Work.

Chicago, May 3.—Grace Methodist Episcopal church on the north side was the scene this morning of a unique gathering. It was the national convention of the Protestant Sisters of the United States.

London, May 3.—The executive committee of the London district of the Independent Labor party today voted unanimously to support the candidates of the Liberal party, and to abstain from voting in constituencies where Liberal candidates were not put in nomination. It is thought that similar action will be taken by the labor element in all the large manufacturing centers.

HOME RULE PROSPECTS.

The Premier Speaks Hopefully for the Great Measure.

London, May 2.—Lord Rosebery, at a large Liberal meeting in Manchester this evening, spoke at great length concerning Home Rule. "Agrarian crime in Ireland had almost died out," he said, "and as there was no longer any fear of the Catholics combining against the Protestants, the conviction in favor of home rule must soon be carried to the heart and mind of the English people. Home rule ought to be and must be accepted as a common sense one. If the people of England wished to have a united empire, they should move toward the ideal of a union of the English people. Had I known when I accepted the position that the honor is unconstitutional, I should have declined it. The government of Boas del Toro will probably be changed shortly. All the merchants and plantations, and all the fruit groves is sent to the American market."

St. Paul, May 3.—The U. S. ship Ranger has all her stores on board and is ready for sea. She was to have left here for Port Townsend this morning with extra stores and men for Behring Sea. The secretary of the navy sent word to the commandant to hold the Ranger until further orders. The Ranger will be sent to Honolulu, though no definite news has been received to this effect.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 3.—While three men were engaged boring a well at Crompton last night an old engine and boiler which was being used for the purpose exploded, instantly killing Alonzo Claus and seriously injuring C. O. Johnson and W. A. Beck.

San Francisco, May 3.—County commissioners of the Midwinter Fair favor having the exposition extended through July. The executive committee now has the proposition under consideration. A great many of the exhibitors express the opinion of remaining should the fair be kept up after July 1st.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

VICTORIA, B. C., FRIDAY, MAY 4, 1894.

POOH BAH IN FACT.

Senior Don Jose R. Casanova of Bocas Del Toro

IN THE UNITED STATES OF COLOMBIA

Holds a Banquet of Officers—The Fact Oppresses Him—He is Research of All the Forces of the Military Chief and Holds the Veto Power.

New York, May 3.—On the steamer Louisiana, which arrived in port yesterday, came as a passenger a veritable autocrat, Jose R. Casanova is a native of Bocas del Toro, in Colombia, but he has spent most of the last thirty years in New York. He is now at 55 West 105th street. Last summer he unexpectedly received the appointment of provincial governor of Bocas del Toro, a city of the same name. Yesterday he came home to recover from an attack of fever. "Bocas del Toro," said Governor Casanova last night to a reporter, "is an archipelago of about thirty islands in the great Bay of Guatemala, 140 miles west of Colon and 13 miles southeast of Bluefields. It is a wonderful banana country, and a number of Americans are there engaged in the banana trade. I am ruler over the whole territory. I am there as an admiral in mid-ocean on board his man-of-war. Everything is under my control. It is indeed more power than any man holds anywhere under a constitutional government. The principal political, judicial, executive and administrative authorities are invested in me, and I hold the power of veto over the decrees of the municipal council. I am likewise military commander-in-chief of the forces stationed there, and to add a little to the foregoing functions and to complete the picture, I am also notary public, executor, and so on, and so on, and so on. Finally, I am factotum of the whole territory. All this is too much for one man. In Colombia the constitutional powers are limited, and for this reason I am inclined to think that the place I hold is unconstitutional. The Colombia constitution distinctly provides that in no one man shall be vested both military and civil authority at the same time. Had I known when I accepted the position that the honor is unconstitutional, I should have declined it. The government of Bocas del Toro will probably be changed shortly. All the merchants and plantations, and all the fruit groves is sent to the American market."

Los Angeles, Cal., May 3.—While three men were engaged boring a well at Crompton last night an old engine and boiler which was being used for the purpose exploded, instantly killing Alonzo Claus and seriously injuring C. O. Johnson and W. A. Beck.

San Francisco, May 3.—County commissioners of the Midwinter Fair favor having the exposition extended through July. The executive committee now has the proposition under consideration. A great many of the exhibitors express the opinion of remaining should the fair be kept up after July 1st.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

VICTORIA, B. C., FRIDAY, MAY 4, 1894.

ROYALTY ASSAULTED

Unfortunate Accident to the Prince of Wales

WHILE VISITING THE FRENCH CAPITAL

An Old, Worn-Out Idea Frenziedly
Enters His Head—Finding Nothing
There Gets on His Tongue and is Uttered—What the Moss Covered Proposition Was.

Paris, May 3.—The Gaulois publishes a story that the Prince of Wales, during his recent visit to Paris, expressed the wish that France and England had adopted a common European policy. It is said the Prince thought it possible for England to act as a buffer between France and Germany, guarantee peace and facilitate general disarmament. ABSOLUTELY FEARLESS. A Man Who Had Nerve Enough to Marry Ten Times. St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but he was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest.

St. Paul, May 3.—A notorious career has just been closed by the death of D. R. Jones, near Burr Oak, Lacrosse county, Wis.—He was "wanted" in several different parts of the state for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness. At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdemeanors, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgery. When 21, he married and settled down to carpentry, but