Miramichi and the North Shore.

St. John's—There will be service in St. John's Church, Chatham, on Sunday next, 29th inst.

The DECK-LOAD.—Deal-carrying vessels which do not clear by Saturday next will come under the operation of the law enforcing reduced deckloads.

THE FINEST TEA, Apron Fair, etc., held in the Main Hall, Chatham, on Tuesday evening, by the ladies of St. John's Church was a very enjoyable and successful one.

IMMEDIATE REV. FR. CH.—There will be service in the Church in future every Sabbath evening, at 6 o'clock until further notice.—Sunday School at 3 o'clock.

EXHIBITION return tickets are to be sold from Chatham Station and by Mr. Robert Johnson, until 6th October, good to return until 12th October. The price will be one first-class fare—$4.50—from Chatham.

A FIVE-ARMED.—Mr. Alex. Dickson, of Napin, brought a Victor Hugo coat, one and a half years old, to town yesterday to be weighed. It turned the scale at 1000 lbs. This is hard to beat, we think.

ANOTHER "CHATHAM BOY".—The Phoenix, Advertiser describes a splendid two-story brick residence 42 x 48 feet, which is being erected in a town for Mr. F. M. Fowler, from plans by Mr. J. M. Oughton—a "Chatham boy."

TWO BAD.—A Newcastle correspondent sends us particulars of a salmon-seizure in that town and gives the name of, at least, one magistrate—Mr. R. H. Oughton, who bought and bled one of the unseasonable fish before the officer did his duty.

FIRE in the water filled the atmosphere with smoke on Sunday and Monday. The dried up logs were on fire and a good deal of rain falling was destroyed in some localities. The rain of Monday night, however, brought relief from the drought.

PICKED UP.—The lancet Oronto, now in port, picked up three men in a dory on St. Pierre Bank. They were fishermen who had been out six days from their vessel and one of them had opened a vein in his arm, from which he had sucked blood to quench his thirst.

THE FIDUCIARY of the season was that held at Black River Wednesday of last week. Those who failed to miss great fun. The committee seemed to have made all their preparations in good shape and when they repeat the programme next season, they expect a still greater success than they have already secured.

FOUR RACE.—On Saturday night a foot race of one hundred yards took place at Campbellton and was won by Mr. McKeenrick, who crossed the line fully four feet ahead of Mr. Moore. The amount of money staked was ten dollars a side, which was placed in Mr. McKeenrick's hands directly after the race, by the stakeholder, Mr. J. H. Lawson.—Times.

COLLISION.—An unknown vessel ran into the French lancet Oronto on the night of the 14th, off Bird Rocks. She had her main-topgallant mast, main yard, mizenmast, portions of her side, cabin, etc., carried away or badly broken. The damages are estimated by the surveyors called at $6,000. She will probably have repairs effected at this port.

SALMON are being illegally caught in large numbers on the spawning grounds. The protection given by the Local Government is on a par with that offered by the officers of the Fisheries Department. A fishery officer asked a lumberman the other day to seek the poachers away from a certain pool and destroy their nets. Nice kind of officer that!

MR. PICKARD, M. P., came down from his capital yesterday by steamer. After a very pleasant week he proceeds to Los Angeles with Mrs. Pickard. Mr. Fred. Thompson, M. P., has purchased Mr. Pickard's residence on Regent street, London, and he thinks he will not be able to attend Parliament this winter.—Telegraph of Tuesday.

TWO BAD.—The Fredericton School Trustees have declined to enter into the competition for the prize offered by the Educational Committee for manual work in the schools—Times, short notice.

More than twelve months ago the Provincial Teachers' Institute recommended a display of the work of the public schools, and we believe the Chief Superintendent forcibly represented to the Government the advisability of exhibiting to the world the nature of the work performed throughout the Province, but no action was taken on the important recommendation.

Here, then, is another of the late Government's items of neglect brought to light—and that by a paper formerly supporting them.

OBJECTION.—We are informed by the High Sheriff that our Grand Jury respondents erred in stating that he—the Sheriff—mistaken the foreman. He says that a charge of the jury he put the name of Mr. Stewart which was made by Mr. Joseph Fleet and duly seconded. The statement of our respondents surprised us, as we enquired of another grand juror, and his impression in the matter was. We found that he too mistook the putting of the question for the foreman. Members of a grand jury who would endorse such an address as that presented to Judge Fraser, however, could not be expected to be very clear on what was done by or for them as a body.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.—Bishop McDonald, of Harbour Grace, Newfoundland, accompanied by three venerable priests of the Diocese of Antigonish, N. S. (Very Rev. Neil McLean, V. C., Rev. Andrew McMillan, and Rev. Roderick McDonald, brother of the Bishop) paid a short visit to Chatham, on Wednesday, and were the guests of Bishop Rogers. In the afternoon they visited the Convent School of the Holy Sisters, Chatham, and of the congregation of Notre Dame, Newcastle. At the latter place a grand little reception was given them by the Sisters and people. The distinguished visitors, accompanied by the Bishop of Chatham, proceeded in the evening train to Bathurst, where, during their visit, they enjoyed the kind attentions of the Rev. Messieurs Varrill and Duncanson and of the ladies of the congregation of Notre Dame. At Campbellton, during the stay of the train, they were met and entertained by the Rev. Mr. McDonald, R. C. Pastor stationed there.—World.

Presbytery of Miramichi.

The Presbytery of Miramichi met at Newcastle on Tuesday, the 25th inst. The attendance of Ministers was large, but only five Elders were present. The Rev. J. C. Herdman, B. D., presided, and constituted the Court with devotional exercises. The minutes of the former sederunt were read, and the Elders' commissions were given in and the roll of the Presbytery made up.

Session Records were requested from those congregations which did not furnish them at last meeting.

The Rev. E. Wallace Waites reported that he had visited Tabusintac and Burnt Church, and dispensed the Communion, and that the congregation there had submitted, within a trifle, enough to pay the catechist, who had been labouring there during the summer.

Reports on Lumbermen's Mission; Commissioners' expense fund; statistics; Presbytery fund, etc., were read and approved.

A committee to examine the statistical reports for the current year, consisting of Rev. John McCarter, Wm. Atkinson, E. W. Waites, and Mr. J. R. Nicholson, was appointed.

Rev. Alex. Russell stated that he, in company with the Rev. Peter Lindsay, had, by instruction of the Presbytery, visited the congregation of New Carlisle, Repent, and Port Daniel, and exhorted them to do more for the support of their pastor.

Reports were read from the various catechists, who had been employed in the mission fields during the summer. Many of them referred to taking of goods, and in not a few cases, gave indications of much progress.

The trial exercises of the students with in the bonds were reported as satisfactory.

It was agreed to employ two or more catechists during the winter months.

A petition was presented from families living in Lower Napin district, requesting the Presbytery to allow the Rev. Robertson of Black River to give regular service in the new church there. The petition was tabled until all parties concerned should be cited to appear for their interest which will be held in Chatham, on the fourth Tuesday of January, 1884.

Heavy Fire at Nelson.

A very large number of our readers, to whom the name of the venerable Father Egan, of Nelson, is as a household word, will be sorry to learn that the church in which he has so long ministered, together with his residence and outbuildings, all excepting one barn, were burned to the ground on Tuesday afternoon.

The fire broke out about four o'clock, originating from the vestry corner, near its junction with the main building, the interior of the church being on fire. Before any adequate effort could be made to prevent the destruction of the building, it was a mass of flames, the S. W. gable prevailing at the time acting as a blast before which the pine, which the struts were largely built, disappeared like chaff.

The flames spread rapidly over the dome and fine-bellied church, from point to point and up to and around the bell-tower and steeple, was a grand one, as a mere spectacle, but it is not to be wondered at that there were many who viewed it with tearful eyes, because of the memories which were recalled as the old and sacred building was being reduced to ashes. The altar before which the worship—the marriage, the baptism, the confirmation—of nearly three generations had been solemnized, could not be destroyed before their eyes without appealing to the strong emotions of a devoted people, and when the aged priest, who for half a century, ministered here before them was driven from his home as it was seized by the fire, it is not a matter of true sorrow shed.

Fortunately, there was another property near in the track of the fire and when it had expended its fury on the church and Father Egan's buildings, the danger was over. The people worked hard to save what they could. All the furniture and effects were safely taken out of the vestry and residence and much property was saved from the wreckage-house and barn. The hay in the latter was, of course, consumed. Fortunately the grain was sufficiently detached from the hay barn to render it safe, for the violent gale prevailing helped to carry off the heat by which it was endangered.

Telegrams from Newcastle informed the Chatham Press and some other city papers of the fire shortly before five o'clock, when a reel with 450 feet of line, was sent to Mr. Snowball's Steamer St. George, which proceeded at once to Nelson, taking a sufficient force to man the line. The steamer anchored in the channel and the hose was quickly run ashore, but a joint under water burst when the pump pressure was put on. The defective joint was taken off with little loss of time and water put on the ruins, the stream being a strong and effective one.

The Newcastle hand-engine had reached the scene shortly before the Chatham brigade, having been taken over on the ferry steamer, but was found to be out of order. The Newcastle men allowed two lengths of their hose to be added to the Chatham line and assisted to work the stream from the St. George, from about a quarter of six until half past nine, when all appearance of fire had been drowned out where they were in the cellar of the presbytery from which there was no danger. The St. George returned to Chatham at about 10.30 p. m.

The building destroyed was the oldest R. C. Church on the river, if not the oldest of any denomination, and Father Egan, who is the oldest Priest in the Province—the fiftieth anniversary of his priesthood having been celebrated on 19th March, 1879—having been in charge of it for about fifty years continuously. When he came here there were only about twenty priests in all the Maritime Provinces, where there are now about two hundred. His field, it is said, was from the head and mouth of the Miramichi to the Restigouche, including all of Gloucester. He lived to see others cultivate the fields in which he planted the first seeds of the Church and his declining years have been passing peacefully, as he has ministered to the large congregation at Nelson. The great loss that has fallen upon him and them, we are sure, call for the fullest sympathy of their friends and neighbors and many abroad whose thoughts of Miramichi are always associated with the old church and its venerable pastor.

That Address.

The St. John Press says,—"The first past address of the Grand Jury of the Northumberland Circuit to Judge Fraser is the subject of considerable comment in the North Shore papers. The World, whose editor was foreman of the Jury and is said, the author of the address, of the course defends the style and matter of the document; the Advance very properly condemns it, and some of the Jurors have thought it necessary to repudiate responsibility for a paper the real character of which they appear not to have understood until they saw it in print. The wonder now seems to be that Judge Fraser should condescend to notice such an address at all, and having condescended to reply to it he did not treat the performance to a lesson on the respect due to the Bench."

Lawn Tennis.

The game of lawn tennis is becoming quite popular on the Miramichi. A club was formed a month or two ago at New Carlisle, where a suitable lawn was secured from the St. Andrew's Church corporation. It is very conveniently located and the club have room on it for two courts, which, however, do not seem sufficient, for the full enjoyment of the game by the membership. The game has everything to commend it. Its strong features and claims to popularity are that it is played by young and old of both sexes, provided they are not too old to venture on the milder kinds of exercise, is a nice family pastime and equally well adapted to parties, clubs, etc. There is nothing about it suggestive of romping. It calls for general muscular action, but, instead of the strenuous exertion of some other games, in this respect, as by no means exacting or tiresome, while it is graceful and very free from the probabilities of injury by accident. It is, in short, a game of scientific skill, requiring just such exercise of the limbs to keep the blood in healthy action.

Our reporter visited the Newcastle grounds the other day and found a fair representation of the grace and beauty of the shire-tennis there. He was a novice at the game, but came home with love with it. He found middle-aged gentlemen of about 200 avoirdupois, young athletes, middle-aged ladies and blooming girls with rackets and shuttle-cock, all balls containing for the supremacy in pairs and fours. Every thing seemed to go like clockwork and to be suggestive, at times, of the grand square in the Lancashire. The whole game, in an onlooker, seems to be a succession of the ball out of one hand and striking it with the racket so that it will pass over a set about three feet high and touch the ground in the nearest square of the court on the side diagonally across the net, and the player stands. If the ball falls in that square and is not struck back by an opposing player so that it will fall within the court on the player's side, the player counts fifteen. The whole court is rectangular, the regulation size being 78 x 30 feet. A net is stretched across the centre, on each side of which the court is divided into four equal-sized squares, each of which has its part in the contest of the game. We would advise our Chatham friends to organize a club as soon as possible in order that they may be ready for play next season. Such an organization would be the means of increasing the social intercourse between the young people of both towns, while the rivalries of the game would lend an additional attraction to the meetings.

A Newcastle correspondent sends us the following:—

LAWN TENNIS AT NEWCASTLE.

The first series of a set of Lawn Tennis matches commenced at Newcastle on Friday afternoon, 21st Sept. In singles the following played:—

R. Mackenzie, vs. L. Harley and A. Main.

N. Klockner vs. J. F. Harley.

M. S. L. Richey vs. Dr. R. McLean.

Mackenzie won two sets. The serving of both Harley and Main lacked the proper pitch, but considering the practice these gentlemen have had, the returns were highly creditable.

J. F. Harley was not in good play and Klockner won two sets easily.

Richey vs. McLean.—There was some excellent play in this match, and well worth looking at. In the end, however, the ball was kept up, before it fell, no less than two 5-6 times. McLean won the first game—6-4. The second was taken by Richey, 6-4. The third game was won by McLean, and McLean finally won by 6-4.

The remaining ones left to play were Mackenzie, Klockner, and McLean. Mackenzie played McLean and won two sets. McLean played well, and had a few more chances would likely have beaten Mackenzie. Mackenzie then played Klockner and won two sets.

We believe a match is arranged between some Montserrat and Newcastle players, for Saturday afternoon 29th inst. Montserrat has started a club and has some promising players. This match is to take place on the grounds at Newcastle, and probably quite a number of people will witness the game.
