

POOR DOCUMENT M 0 2 0 3 4

SEE
MANCHESTER'S
Adv. on Page 12

The Star

LATEST WEATHER REPORT
FAIR and COLD

VOL. 10, NO. 104

ST. JOHN, N. B. TUESDAY, JANUARY 11, 1910.

ONE CENT

SKATES

If you intend learning to dance on skates this winter the proper skate to buy is the Ladies' or Gents' Beaver as shown above.

Toe runner rounds slightly
The pointed toe grips the ice.
The blades are high quality steel nickled
The makers are Star Mfg. Co.
The price is $2.25 per pair.

W. H. THORNE & CO., Ltd.
Market Square, St. John, N. B.

January Reductions

Anderson & Company are offering very special reductions in Jackets, Muffs, Stoles and Throws, Fur Caps,
Gloves and Tams
Garments Made to Order
a specialty

ANDERSON & CO., 55 Charlotte Street.
Manufacturing Furriers.

Three New Lines of Our Popular College Style Overcoats at $10 $12 and $15

The great demand for these Overcoats has made it almost impossible for us to keep styles stocked but we have just placed on sale three new lines that will satisfy the most exacting dresser.

American Clothing House,
11-15 Charlotte St., St. John.

WOOL TAMS

Red, Black, Blue and Grey colors. The proper Tam for covering a shape.
PRICE 50 CENTS

F. S. THOMAS, Stores close at 7 p. m.
539 Main St.

Men's Extra Trousers

— AT —

Specially Low Prices

This is the time of year when an extra pair of Trousers come in good play. They brighten up the Coat and Vest of the Suit you have been wearing all Fall and Winter, and make your Suit presentable until time to get a new Spring outfit.

We have always planned to have a large stock ready for this demand, and this year are offering even a more complete stock than ever. It embraces very nobby new styles in the more dressy lines, and a very large variety of strong serviceable for every day wear.

If You Need Extra Trousers See This Stock
Prices: $1.00, 1.25, 1.50, 2.00, 2.50, 2.75,
3.00, 3.50, 3.75, 4.00 and 4.50
Ask to See Our Special $2.00 Trousers

J. N. Harvey, Tailoring and Clothing
OFFICE HOUSE BLK. --- 790 to 207 UNION STREET

DISMASTED IN THE BAY YESTERDAY

Crew of Schooner Eskimo Had Exciting Experience

Vessel, Left Practically Helpless—Saved by Timely Arrival of Tug—Covered With Ice.

Captain Charles Pike and crew of the 60-ton new-schooner Eskimo, had a rather exciting experience in the bay yesterday morning. It was blowing a gale of wind and a telephone message was sent to St. John to be on the watch for the vessel, and the tug G. K. King was sent to the eastward of Partridge Island to be on the look out for the lumber laden craft.

About five o'clock yesterday afternoon the Eskimo was off this port and the wind had become more northerly and blowing strong off the land. Without a moment's notice there was a crash and the foremast broke off about fifteen feet from the mast head. It tumbled forward with both port and starboard rigging and as it went by the board it carried the main topmast with it, the topmast breaking about four feet from the track.

The weather was cold and the spray frost the sea froze as fast as it flew over the vessel so that in a short time deck load, rigging and about ten feet up the masts were coated with ice.

When the mast broke the schooner was left with but part of the flying jib and the mainmast, but without seeing any further stays these could not be safely used.

Fortunately the tug G. K. King sighted the schooner, took her in tow and at ten o'clock last night docked her safely in the North West wharf. A large number of people viewed the wreckage with interest this morning and Captain Pike was seen to be in the best of spirits.

TARIFF REFORMERS AND FREE TRADERS

MAKING THE MOST OF THE FINAL DAYS

Hot Old Arguments Presented in a Practical Way to Suit Every Kind and Condition of Man—Black Bread Furnished by Contract for the Royal Family.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—Inquiries this morning show that the chief organizers on both sides have abated nothing of their confidence. I first asked a Liberal authority who replied: "Our chief whip adheres to his estimate of a Liberal majority of fifty over all parties. Personally I am convinced, from daily touch with the campaign that he is too conservative. We shall have one hundred and twenty majority and quite possibly another landslide not altogether unlike 1896."

The secretary of the Tariff Reform League was not less jubilant. He replied: "My estimate of a month ago was ninety Unionist majority over all parties, but as reports come in each day from manufacturers and agriculturists alike, I realize how right Chamberlain is in his confidence of an overwhelming tariff reform victory. I am myself preparing to see Free Trade snowed under."

"And this is how the foremost fighters on both sides talk among themselves in their minds. Never before have estimates been so conflicting, just as never before have the issues seemed so indistinct. If, however, you consult ordinary journalists who are attending meetings on both sides, the impartiality of their judgments is at least a fair thing to say with the chances in favor of the Radicals.

The tariff reform party, seeing a falling away of public interest in the extreme anti-foreign cry are pushing their bread and butter politics to the full length. They have for instance opened one hundred and twenty tariff reform shops in industrial centres, exhibiting imported German, American, Belgian and other foreign goods, especially aimed at the workingman's class in general. The manager of these shops tells me he is especially aimed at the workingman's class, showing her she pays just as much for imitation foreign buttons, needles, plates, as she would pay for the real British article for leaving huge profits to those great holders of the trade, the merchants and middlemen and robbing British workmen of their jobs. The manager showed me astonishing specimens of German and other goods made in British style sold under British trade names, and yet under the Merchandise Marks Act compulsorily marked in minute type "Made abroad."

INSULTED BECAUSE HE IS A CANADIAN

Hamar Greenwood Having a Hard Fight in York

Warrant Out for Noted Suffragette—Voted Against Employer of Man Who Was Frozen to Death.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of the Hon. Mrs. Haverfield, who on January 4, was sentenced to a month's imprisonment for leading a suffragette raid in an effort to present a petition to the premier last July. Mrs. Haverfield is in the north of England and calmly refuses to come to London, saying she can see no reason why she should pay the expense of the journey.

On Jan. 11—Collins Handy, father of the Canadian bean growing industry, is dead here in his 84th year. He was born at Wellington, Conn., and came here in 1831. He built the first frame house in Oxford township and filled the contract for the first mail route west from St. Thomas to Malden.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 11.—The coroner's inquest into the circumstances surrounding the death of A. Coleman, who was frozen to death near Dryden last Monday, resulted in a verdict of manslaughter being returned against Mr. Conlin, the contractor for whom Coleman was engaged to work. Conlin was arrested.

TORONTO, Jan. 11.—The World today prints the following special cable from London: "A desperate attempt is being made by the Tories to defeat Hamar Greenwood in York, because he is a Canadian he is called a 'foreigner.' Canada ought to resent this at once. Mr. Greenwood always sticks up for the Dominion and is today insulted because of it. His opponent, a Tory brewer, says the empire has been built on beer. Greenwood replies that it was built on brains. It is strange but it is bitterly true, that because the Tories is a typical Canadian it puts many Tories hot against him, although they always are talking of the Dear Colonies and Empire."

LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 11.—A formation of a mammoth tobacco company which would not only control the Burley tobacco raised in Kentucky but the manufacture and sale of the product was the object of Thomas W. Lawson's visit to Lexington. It was announced today. Mr. Lawson met the executive committee of the Burley Tobacco Society in a long conference. After dinner Mr. Lawson returned to the society headquarters where members of the executive committee were with him until late in the night. Mr. Lawson after the night meeting gave out a statement in which he said that it was useless to attempt to sell this season's crop to the so-called tobacco trust and that the best and fairest way out of the difficulty was the organization of an entirely new tobacco company composed of the Burley tobacco growers, "a people's trust" with a capital at the start of $5,000,000. The organization he proposes is to be in the hands of a board of governors consisting of twenty-one of the leading men of Kentucky. No action was taken last night on his proposition by the Burley officers.

MRS. MORSE FIGHTING FOR HER HUSBAND'S FREEDOM
Back From Atlanta She is Preparing to Give Her Entire Time to Securing His Release.
NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—"I will devote my entire time to freeing my husband," Mrs. Charles W. Morse declared today. Mrs. Morse is back at her home on Fifth avenue from a visit to her husband, who has been serving a term of 18 years in the federal prison at Atlanta.

It is known of course that a petition will be made for executive clemency if all other means fail, said Mrs. Morse. "But there are other legal methods to be tried to get Mr. Morse free, and I want to consult Mr. Morse's attorney, Martin W. Littleton, about them."

"Mr. Morse is bearing up under his trials like the brave man he is," continued Mrs. Morse. "He is hoping for the best, as of course I am."

LIMA Peru, Jan. 11.—Congress yesterday approved the treaty recently negotiated between Brazil and Peru and defining the boundary line between these two countries in the Amazon. Each country retains its actual possessions in the disputed territory.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Jan. 11.—A wireless was received here yesterday saying that a big liner, thought to be the Italian, was in distress about 30 miles southeast of Louisbourg, with shaft broken and drifting. The Dominion Coal Co.'s steamer Curma was ordered out and sailed yesterday afternoon from International pier in search of the disabled liner.

There was very little excitement about the collieries this morning, and less than two hundred of the pickets turned out for duty at the several collieries owing to the heavy snow storm prevailing, which rendered it almost impossible to stay out for any length of time. There are large numbers of men at work at the several collieries this week, and an excellent output is anticipated for the fortnight.

SYDNEY, N. S., Jan. 11.—A wireless was received here yesterday saying that a big liner, thought to be the Italian, was in distress about 30 miles southeast of Louisbourg, with shaft broken and drifting. The Dominion Coal Co.'s steamer Curma was ordered out and sailed yesterday afternoon from International pier in search of the disabled liner.

There was very little excitement about the collieries this morning, and less than two hundred of the pickets turned out for duty at the several collieries owing to the heavy snow storm prevailing, which rendered it almost impossible to stay out for any length of time. There are large numbers of men at work at the several collieries this week, and an excellent output is anticipated for the fortnight.

Probably the Berardo—Shift is Broken—No Disorders Today Around the Collieries.
NEW YORK, N. S., Jan. 11.—A wireless was received here yesterday saying that a big liner, thought to be the Italian, was in distress about 30 miles southeast of Louisbourg, with shaft broken and drifting. The Dominion Coal Co.'s steamer Curma was ordered out and sailed yesterday afternoon from International pier in search of the disabled liner.

There was very little excitement about the collieries this morning, and less than two hundred of the pickets turned out for duty at the several collieries owing to the heavy snow storm prevailing, which rendered it almost impossible to stay out for any length of time. There are large numbers of men at work at the several collieries this week, and an excellent output is anticipated for the fortnight.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The family of G. Howard Leavitt, banker and railroad financier, confirm the announcement that his daughter, Margaret Howard Leavitt, 25 years old and heir to a million dollars, was married "without the knowledge or consent of her parents" to Joseph F. Smolton, her chauffeur.

Miss Leavitt's father purchased for her a six cylinder motor car last summer and engaged Smolton, who was formerly James J. Corbett's chauffeur, to teach her to operate it. Last Thursday and Miss Leavitt went to Jersey City and were married, according to the statement issued by her family. The bride's parents have not announced their forgiveness.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.

He says he went to the Bellevue dispensary for treatment and came there to the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, after having been assured that his fiancée would be waiting for him there, and did not know that they were searching the hospital and police stations for him in vain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—John Smith walked into his dining room last night and found the table set for one, his wife in mourning and signs of a recent funeral about her home. Indeed, a body supposed to be his had been buried by the family after identification at the morgue by the wife. His married daughter and his son-in-law, a scar on the right leg and crooked finger of one hand seemed to make the identification positive, although the clothing was of different quality.