

THE SOCIAL MEETING,

Which always precedes the opening of the General Conference, began at 9.30 a. m. on Saturday, October 4th. It was presided over by the Pastor of the Fredericton Church, Rev. Joseph McLeod, who made a few opening remarks. The attendance was very large, the Church being filled. For two hours testimonies were given by both brethren and sisters. One hundred and thirty-six had spoken when the hour for closing came. Hundreds, who would have spoken had there been time, testified their faith by simply rising. There was throughout the meeting the manifest presence of the Spirit, and great quickening and refreshing came to the people. "It is good to be here," was the feeling of the hundreds who participated in the service.
