AMHERST BLAZE. Loss $4,000 at Rhodes, Curry & Co. Works.

Amherst, N. S., June 18.—(Special)—This morning, at 4:30 o'clock, an alarm from private box 31 called the firemen to the wood-working factory of Rhodes, Curry & Co., where it was discovered that fire had started in the engine room and rapidly extended to the eastern end of No. 1 factory, the most inflammable portion of the works. Immediately on discovering the fire, the watchmen and night operators applied the company's fire protection, and were enabled to hold the fire in check until the arrival of the fire company, in a very short time. The speedy working of the new quick hitch harness lately adopted by the fire department, was demonstrated by the fact that before the first round of the alarm had finished 2,000 feet of hose was en route to the fire. The immense volume of water and the systematic work of the fire-men enabled them to prevent the fire extending further. The loss, which is principally damage by water to machinery, finished work, etc., will be about $4,000, fully covered by insurance. The company hopes to have matters so adjusted this afternoon that work in this department will be resumed tomorrow. The car works adjoining will not be at all interrupted. This fully demonstrates the efficient equipment of the Amherst fire department. Thirty-two men responded to the call promptly. A few moments' delay meant the loss of one of the largest and best equipped factories in Eastern Canada. The new Sigsbee ladder truck with rapid extension, proved most successful and aided greatly in the quick extinction of the fire. King Bros., of Westmorland Park, lost two head of fine beef cattle Saturday. They were run over by the Springfield accommodation. Messrs. King valued them at $500. Miss Alice Smith and Miss Mary Behrill will attend the Epworth League convention at St. Francis this morning. The Rev. J. K. King, of Salisbury, has been transferred to Vancouver, B. C. His many friends in Amherst will regret his removal. Addressed the Wrong Audience. Bishop Potter's appeal to the actors to present only pure and ennobling plays was addressed to the wrong class for the most part, as among them, as in common humanity, all grades of character are to be found. There are actors who will not appear in a national play, but there are plenty of others who will, and the worst play that the law will permit can be produced with a full development of the actor's talent. The class of plays, however, are not the actors, but the managers. It is for them to see that the plays which shall be produced are of a high standard. The actors are human, responsive to the people, and where the fine and the vulgar are mixed together, the actors will be drawn in. THE ROYAL VISIT. Civic Committee Gets to Work—Private Residence to Be Looked For.

The committee of the common council appointed in anticipation of a visit from the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall, held a meeting in city hall yesterday afternoon. Mayor Daniel, Ald. Macrae, Maxwell, Robinson, Millidge, Waring, McLukin, Armstrong, Hilyard, Saiton and Christie were present. Mayor Daniel explained that he had been unable to get definite information as to when the royal visitors would arrive here on the length of their stay, but he confidently expected St. John would be included in the itinerary and that the arrival here would be October 18. His worship told the aldermen that other cities were already making reception preparations and that he called the meeting so that St. John might not be left behind. He also spoke of the programme arranged in Halifax, Ottawa and other places. As the duke was in mourning, anything in the nature of a banquet would probably not be appropriate. A reception might be arranged and the local militia asked to assist in a demonstration of welcome to the point to get a shipyard established for the purpose. Some of the members suggested that a private residence which might be obtained for the occasion. A committee was appointed to procure information of the residences available for the occasion. A committee consisting of the mayor, Ald. Macrae, Robinson and Armstrong were appointed to interview the local government. Dr. Kennedy Out on Bail. New York, June 18.—Judge Newburger agreed today to release Dr. Samuel J. Kennedy who has been tried three times for the murder of Emmeline Reynolds, kept on bail in $100,000. Dr. Moore, Kennedy's attorney said that bail would be furnished at once. Dr. Kennedy was released this afternoon and was cheered by a crowd of 600 as he walked to his counsel's office to join his wife. An hour later he was on his way to the city of New York which he has not seen for 34 months. Judge Newburger in the morning was seen by Louis R. Scarsdale, one of the eight jurors who held out for acquittal and the juror urged that the doctor be released, saying that the four jurors who had voted for conviction had authorized as to say they endorsed this request. District Attorney Philbin held a whispered consultation with the judge, telling several jurors could be fully coerced in providing tonnage to care for their own families and communities. The attorney secured that Dr. Kennedy be admitted to $100,000 bail. The wife of Lieut. Elmer E. Hand, a retired naval officer and torpedo expert, became surly in $100,000. The prisoner's wife wildly as Kennedy's attorney said that his wife called him "good-bye." Dr. Kennedy and Mr. Moore walked steadily by the doctor's office. As the doctor entered the office his wife stretched out her hands to him and with a sob in her voice said: "How do you feel, Sam?" The Camera in War. Hoses, guns, gold buttons, and embossed brock no longer constitute the entire essential equipment of an army. The camera has taken an important place in the panoply of war, and the official commissioned photographer is of more consequence than nine-tenths of the uniform bearers. Of course, the war photographer is on the field with a definite purpose, which is not the snap-shooting in full uniform of the soldier of fortune, but the use of the camera in the most important use of the war camera is the photography of projectiles. At first the principle use of the camera was in taking photographs of battlefields and fortifications and the movement of the work of this kind was done in the Crimea and in the Mexican wars. Photography, or land surveying by photographs, was first practised in the Franco-Prussian war. The most important service of the camera recently has been in photographing the movements of projectiles and the movements of projectiles and their effects on armor-plated and other targets. It is now possible to photograph the air waves surrounding a moving bullet and the so-called jam of guns and small arms. Photographs have been taken at the Krupp works recently in the one to two millions of a second. This marvelous snap-shot work has opened an entirely new field of investigation. Photographs taken at this speed catch a moving bullet as clearly as though it were at rest. The pictures show that the bullet compresses the air in front, producing a wave like the prow of a moving ship. The bullet leaves a wake of confused air-currents for some distance behind it, much the same as a ship. It has been found in this way that a great deal of the ball's force is wasted in producing sound waves. The photographs taken at this speed of projectiles striking armour give many curious results. The Mollioux Case. Buffalo, N. Y., June 19.—The fate of Roland B. Mollioux, convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment in the State Prison at Albany in December, 1888, is in the keeping of the seven judges of the court of appeals, who, for three days past, have been listening to the arguments for and against his pardon. The appeal was finally submitted at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon and the decision will not be announced until some month hence. It is believed that the court will grant the pardon to the court room this morning was larger and more determined than ever. Excited men fought for places near the glass doors where they might see the outcome of the proceedings and the words of the closing session. The principal speaker was David B. Hill for the people, who will have three hours and 15 minutes of his allotted time left when court opened at 10 o'clock. He spoke until 1:15 and John G. Milburn, of Mollioux, was heard for 20 minutes in concise reply.
