The Situation.

Hon. Lloyd-George, in the preface to a book containing his speeches since the outbreak of hostilities, makes the statement that Germany and her allies still have "an overwhelming superiority in all the material and equipment of war," and he impressively brings home the fact that Great Britain and her associates will need to still further bend every effort in order to bridge this disparity.

shown that the might of this military clique has exceeded the gloomiest prognostications provides an additional argument for its destruction. MUST UTILIZE RESOURCES.

"Nor have the untoward incidents of the war weakened my faith in ultimate victory always provided that the nations put forth the whole of their strength ere it is too late. Anything less must lead to defeat. The allied countries have an overwhelming preponderance in the raw material that goes to the making of the equipment of armies, whether in iron, money or metal and machinery, but this material has to be mobilized and utilized."

Notes and Comments.

That Sunday rain was just another little reminder lest we forget.

France now proposes to recruit from her colonies, and thus expects to secure about 700,000 more men.

Zeppelin activities are at top notch just now, probably because the stormy weather period will soon once more reign over the Channel.

The attendance at the Toronto Industrial Fair this year totalled 854,000, or about 100,000 more than last year. It was worth it.

Lloyd-George, who opposed the Boer war, is now one of the leading factors in rousing the people on behalf of this one. He gives sledgehammer blows, no matter which side he takes with regard to anything.

The failure of the Government to fill the many vacancies in the Senate—now ten in all—indicates a desire to hold up prizes for the faithful who will help in the next election and provide consolation for such as fall by the way.—Toronto Globe.

The leading Liberal organ, judging from the above, manifestly feels that the Borden Government will be sustained and still have the distributing.

in the departure. The usual scenes of friends marching in the ranks was observed, while all the children of the Central School lined one whole block and were very enthusiastic.

The lady employees of the C. O. F. Headquarters gathered at the doorway and formed an arch of flags which was cheered by the departing soldiers. Quartermaster Plummer's dog of the 25th and Riley, the mascot of the Battery, also drew swords for a short period, but were parted.

AT THE STATION.

There was little delay at the station. The train was standing waiting and three rear cars were reserved for the soldiers, who marched up the back of the station directly to them. There were the last hurried and touching good-byes, handshakes, tears and cheers, with the band playing, "The Girl I Left Behind Me," "We're Here Because We're Here," "Auld Lang Syne." As the train pulled slowly out, the band struck up the National Anthem and with that tune and the last outburst of cheering, the soldiers set out for camp.

A GOOD PRESENT.

Before the soldiers left for camp this morning, T. J. Fair and Company presented them with 350 cigars which works out to about two apiece. The men wish to express their sincere thanks for this splendid gift.

he said, and returned to his car, which was to take him on to inspect some other formation.

"Any idea that the commander-in-chief spends all his time over a map with a telephone at his elbow," the staff officer explained, "is quite erroneous. He is always on the go."

The automobile enables him to get over a lot of ground in a day. Sometimes the inspections are quite formal. Different battalions of a brigade drawn up in file for the officers to inspect. The commanding officers know of his approach when they see the flag of his car fluttering along the road.

On these occasions he usually makes a little speech. Once he addressed a battalion he passed it by and went closer to the men standing in the field with their rigid columns around him. After that, platforms went out of fashion.

"One might think that he could learn very little by a brief inspection or watching troops march past on parade," said the staff officer, "but a soldier's eye takes in more than a civilian can guess. He not only sees that uniform and equipment are in good condition, but he is able to judge both the spirit and the physical condition of the men. If they have been having a hard time of it in the trenches he can tell how much fight is left in them. He may judge the character of the reserves who have filled the vacant places. And the men seem to him. He is no longer a distant figure. They feel the effect of his personality."

The new army contingents as they arrive receive particular attention. "Every general in the army seems to be taking his turn at inspecting us," said one of the new army officers. "We had plenty of inspections at home. We came out here to fight."

When this was repeated to a staff officer who belongs to the headquarters, he said: "They need not worry about that. They will be getting fighting enough when the time comes. But they have the right spirit. All the armies in this war have found that the men who have been in the trenches know from experience how to hold their own. They can dig and they can stick, no matter how heavy the shell fire. But fresh troops, when properly drilled, are the best for the offensive. England has a far larger army, which has never heard the crack of a bullet than has ever been under fire. The new army men learn a good deal in England, they are to be taught more at the front."

Attempt at Suicide.

Montreal, Sept. 13.—A spectacular attempt at committing suicide was made in broad daylight and on a public thoroughfare yesterday by a Chinaman, who attempted to end his life by hanging himself to an electric light pole at the corner of St. Urbain and Lagache streets. The attempt was frustrated by Constable Berlangette, who reached the Chinaman as he was dangling from the end of a twelve foot rope, but managed to cut him down and lower him from the pole before he had succeeded in strangling himself. Constable Berlangette, before entering the police force, was a lineman, and it was his ability to climb the pole that saved the Chinaman's life.

SIR WM. VAN HORNE, NOTED RAILROADER DIES AT MONTREAL

Montreal, Sept. 13.—Sir Wm. Van Horne, ex-chairman of the board of directors of the C. P. R., and previously president and general manager of the Canadian National Railway, died Saturday morning at Royal Victoria Hospital following an operation on August 22 for the removal of abdominal abscess.

The remains will be interred in Joliet, Ill., his birthplace. The funeral services will be held at Sir William's late residence here on Tuesday, and the body will then be shipped to Joliet. Sir William, who had been in failing health for some years, was stricken down with an abscess on August 22. The patient rallied well after the operation and bulletins issued regarding his condition reported it as satisfactory.

A RELAPSE.

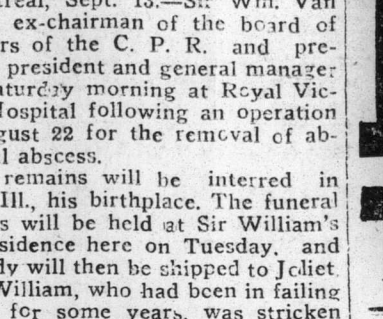

Continued improvement was recorded until Wednesday of last week, when the patient manifested alarming symptoms. Sir William's condition grew steadily worse. His temperature rose and his appetite failed. Saturday morning it was announced that hope had practically been abandoned.

Lady Van Horne, Miss Van Horne, daughter, Benjamin Van Horne, son, and Wm. Van Horne, grandson, were present at the bedside to the last. Sir William had lapses into unconsciousness, but was conscious just before the last and bade farewell to his family.

Sir William Van Horne was born at Joliet, Illinois, on February 3, 1843, and started his railway career as a telegraph operator in the employ of the Illinois Central Railroad in 1867; with the Michigan Central in various capacities from 1855 to 1864; operator, ticket agent, dispatcher, superintendent of telegraphs and divisional superintendent Chicago and Alton Railway, 1864 to 1872; general superintendent St. Louis and Kansas City and Northern Railway, 1872-74; general manager Southern Minnesota Railway, 1874-78; president same railway, 1878; general superintendent Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway, 1880-82; general manager Canadian Pacific Railway, 1882-84, and carried railway to completion; vice-president same railway
