One morning, Dean Swift and his man Jack were out early on the road.
Jack was riding ahead, and the Dean came distance behind, reading a prayer-book. The Dean forgot to tell Jack to stop and order breakfast and Jack was out of humor. Some one who knew Jack saluted him, and asked:
"Where are you going so early this morning, Jack?"
"We are on the road to heaven," answered Jack.
"To heaven?" said the other. "Arrah, Jack, sure you are not serious?"
"We are indeed," said Jack, "my master is praying and I am fasting." The Dean overheard Jack and rewarded his wit with a fine breakfast.

Landlady—I'll have to request you to pay in advance, Mr. Smith.
Smith—Why, isn't my box good for a week's board?
Landlady—No; it looks like an old fashioned emotional box.
Smith—Emotional?
Landlady—Yes; one that is easily moved.

It is a sin when low things, however good in themselves, stand in the way of high things.
The young emperor of Morocco is passionately fond of animals, especially wild ones, and a large open square outside his favorite portion of the palace is given over to them.
Through the bars of their cages blink large tawny maned lions and striped tigers, while gazelles, Barbary sheep, cranes and even wild boars roam about the grounds at will.

If the eyelids are red, bathe them several times during the day with warm water containing powdered borax. The proportion is a scant half teaspoonful of borax to one pint of water. Use a soft linen cloth to bathe the lids.

To the Suffering.
The following testimonial may be read with interest by sufferers from skin eruptions of various kinds.
Jan. 19, 1892.
Dear Sirs,—I realize your advertisement is a paper about your wonderful cure and I feel it my duty to tell you that I was indeed cured by the use of your medicine. I had been afflicted with skin trouble in my hands for 14 years. I have tried several doctors and they do me no good. I only used one box of Dr. Clarke's sure cure for Eczema. It has made a complete cure. I recommend it to all suffering from skin disease. My hand was so bad that I was unable to come off.
You can use my name if you wish.
Yours truly,
MR. JOHN WOOD,
Peaks St. Pier, P. E. I.

a line to say I highly recommend your catarrh cure. It has done grand work for me, I am so much better." The above testimonials, also Dr.

from itching piles. Some do not know the nature of their ailment, and others have not heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment as the only absolute disease. If you are suffering ask your neighbors about this great preparation. It has grown popular as a result of the news of its virtues being passed from friend to friend.

"I should think," said Mrs. Blighly,

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband should be a woman's constant study. Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Potts tell their stories for the benefit of all wives and mothers.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will make every mother well, strong, healthy and happy. I dragged through nine years of miserable existence, worn out with pain and weariness.
I then noticed a statement of a woman troubled as I was with pain and weariness.
I read it and had had from your Vegetable Compound, and decided to try what it would do for me, and used it for three months. At the end of that time I was a different woman, the neighbors remarked it, and my husband fell in love with me all over again. It seemed like a new existence. I had been suffering with inflammation and falling of the womb, but your medicine cured that and built up my entire system. I was indeed like a new woman.— Sincerely yours, MRS. CHAS. F. BROWN, 51 Cedar Terrace, Hot Springs, Ark.
Vice President Women's Club."

Suffering women should not fail to profit by Mrs. Brown's experiences; just as surely as she was cured of the troubles enumerated in her letter, so surely will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure other women who suffer from womb troubles, inflammation of the ovaries, kidney troubles, nervous excitability, and nervous prostration. Read the story of Mrs. Potts to all mothers:—

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—During the early part of my married life I was very delicate in health. I had two miscarriages, and both my husband and I felt very badly, we were anxious to have children. A neighbor who had been using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advised me to try it, and I decided to do so. I soon felt that my appetite was increasing, the headaches gradually decreased and finally disappeared, and my general health improved. I felt as if new blood coursed through my veins, the sluggish feeling disappeared, and I became strong and well.
"Within a year after I became the mother of a strong healthy child, the joy of our home.
You certainly have a splendid remedy, and I wish every mother knew it of it.—Sincerely yours, MRS. ANNA POTTS, 510 Park Ave., Hot Springs, Ark."

If you feel that there is anything at all unusual or puzzling about your case, or if you wish confidential advice of the most experienced, write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and you will be Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The Cigarette Peril.
If there are persons who think that the danger cry which has been raised against the use of cigarettes by the boys of this country is needless and senseless, they might perhaps be led to change their opinion by a careful consideration of the evils which this vice has wrought and is still working in other countries, and especially in the United States. In England public opinion appears to be waking, to the grave dangers consequent upon this pernicious habit. In a recent issue of the London Times a manifesto was published demanding legislation by Parliament for the prevention of juvenile cigarette smoking, and the list of appended names, which included those of Peers, Bishops, Judges, head-masters of colleges and medical officers, was long enough, it is said, to fill an entire column of the paper.
I am a recent member of the New York Independent, and find an article on this subject by Mr. Charles Buckley Hubbell, President of the Board of Education of Greater New York, and one of the most distinguished educators of the city. Mr. Hubbell shows how rapidly and with what evil results the cigarette habit had spread in that country in recent years. Twenty-five years ago the sale of cigarettes was comparatively small. Their use was first observed among the students of a school in New York patronized largely by Cuban and South American. At the present time, in Mr. Hubbell's opinion, the cigarette and the inhaling habit is more devastating to the health and morals of the boys and young men of the country than any habit or vice that can be named. This is a most serious indictment of the cigarette, and the eminent and competent source from whence it comes entitles it to great weight. This vice has not yet assumed corresponding proportions in Canada, although it is rapidly growing, and we people of this country will be greatly to blame if they do not heed and profit by the warnings of the writer quoted and others whose ability and disinterestedness must command the highest respect.

An astonishing feature of the situation even in the United States, Mr.
Hubbell finds, is that so comparatively few of the people realize the inroads that the cigarette habit has made on the health, morals and possibilities of usefulness of American youth. This he thinks is explained in part by the fact that a very large number of physicians in every community are addicted to the cigarette and the inhaling habit, and naturally are handicapped in the influence they should exert in advising and suppressing this alarming evil. Mr. Hubbell is not influenced in his opposition to the cigarette by any fanatical antipathy to smoking. While he does not commend the use of tobacco, he thinks that smoking moderately and under normal conditions by persons who have reached the age of full development is comparatively harmless.
The great danger in connection with the cigarette is not in its composition or in the paper in which it is wrapped but in the habit which it almost certainly induces of inhaling the smoke into the lungs. "The juvenile cigarette smoker almost immediately learns to inhale the smoke.
Not one cigarette smoker in twenty, I venture to assert, smokes them in any other way, and when once the victim has acquired the inhaling habit in connection with cigarettes he can scarcely secure any satisfaction with pipe or cigar without indulging his inhaling propensities. The normal smoker draws the smoke into his mouth and expels it, with the result that the minimum of the products of combustion—namely nicotine, the volatile oils and the deadly carbon monoxide—gets into his circulation.
The cigarette smoker, however, takes a deep inhalation of the smoke, which at once reaches the upper air passages of the lungs, where, almost immediately are released into its circulation the products I have referred to, usually causing the slightest distress and the mild intoxication, but is so fascinating and so devastating.
The effects of the cigarette habit show themselves not only in the impairment of physical and mental health but also in moral character.
The vice tends to enslave its victim and he is driven to dishonesty to satisfy his craving. Boys, otherwise honest, will steal from their parents or employers in order to indulge the restless craving for cigarettes. A Justice of the New York Supreme Court, now deceased, told Mr. Hubbell that in the last year he had nine of his boys in his employ who had been discharged for stealing postage stamps. It having been proved in every case that the boys stole in order to purchase cigarettes. There is abundant evidence in addition to that which Mr. Hubbell presents to indicate the wide-spread and pernicious effects of this vice upon the youth of American cities. While in Canada the cigarette habit and its consequent evils are much less prevalent than in the United States, they are rapidly growing and indicate a rapidly growing evil and one against which the moral and philanthropic forces of the country should be earnestly engaged. What the remedies to be applied should be we may consider in another article.—Messenger and Visitor.

Best Way to Rear Healthy Children.
Develop Their Strength With Fer-rozene, Which Makes Rich Blood, Hardy Muscle, Steady Nerves.
Children brought up on Ferrozene are known by their strong rugged frames, their chubby cheeks and healthful appearance. Mothers find it an indispensable tonic and body builder, and in thousands of homes no other remedy is used.
Mrs. E. Montgomery, of Pittsburg, writes: "A little boy came to visit me, and noticing his pale and haggard looks, I started him out on a course of Ferrozene. The change that mar-velled in a few weeks was marvellous. Her appetite chirped up, and she had more strength and a rosy color. I am sure she had some into her cheeks that I never saw there before. I weighed my little about the time she started to pick up and a seven weeks she gained almost eight pounds, and just looked the picture of health. I think this should be an example to many mothers, and I hope that others will use Ferrozene for their little boys and girls. I am thoroughly convinced that it's the most strengthening tonic. It has my strongest endorsement."
The reason Ferrozene works so beneficially with children is that it acts directly on the blood, freeing it of all unhealthy matter, at the same time giving it an additional supply of iron. This at once results in more strength, new vigor and renewed vitality. Just one tablet at meal time works wonders.
You must be sure to get Ferrozene.
