

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., OCT. 11, 1912.

A Worthy Work.

We have received the report for the year ending November, 1911, of the Massachusetts School for the Feeble-minded, of which institution Dr. Fernald has been Superintendent for a period of twenty-five years.

There are nearly 1500 inmates, with more applications for admission than can be accommodated. The support of this school is guaranteed by the State, yet donations and bequests are gladly received by the Corporation.

It will be remembered that Dr. Fernald, the Superintendent of this noted institution, paid a short visit to Halifax last summer. The Halifax papers published interesting accounts of interviews with Dr. Fernald, also of a drawing-room meeting at the home of Mrs. Dennis, president of the Woman's Council, where he addressed a large number of interested men and women on the subject so dear to his heart.

Many persons who for years have been longing that a suitable provision should be made for the feeble-minded of our land, received fresh courage and inspiration from Dr. Fernald's talks and advice.

We learn from recent Halifax newspapers that Dr. Fraser has formulated a scheme for a school for the feeble-minded, and that Mr. John Wier has been sent out to visit fifty towns and villages of Nova Scotia to form branches of the League and hold meetings in the interest of this much needed but long neglected institution.

The Morality of Hanging for Crime.

A conversation with Radcliffe, the late official haugman of Canada, is published by a Socialist weekly. It appears that he was the son of an English clergyman, and during his twenty-one years as executioner he was the means of sending one hundred and thirty-two souls to eternity.

Reciprocity was not invented by them. It was not drawn from the lumber room of outgrown ideas by them to improve the markets of Canadian producers.

The Standard, of St. John, N. B., one of the ablest and best newspapers in Eastern Canada, is making extensive improvements in its plant in order to succeed in its effort to win first place.

Reciprocity Still.

BY REVIEWER.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is still shouting reciprocity and 'wider markets.' Canada has to-day in her home market a greater boon to the producing acres of our great country than any treaty with the United States could possibly produce.

Those Liberal politicians who were so badly discredited in September, 1911, still act and talk as if they were the appointed guardians of the West and East, and the political prognosticators of stormy weather, and that they had a vision of western Canada tottering on the brink of a precipice of irretrievable ruin.

Reciprocity is a sort of traditional inheritance with a portion of the Liberal party like a few other nostrums, but so far as Canada is concerned reciprocity was buried a thousand years deep in 1891, and ceased even to be an academic question in 1897.

In 1891 it was openly connected with annexation in the writings and speeches of such men as Farrar, Charlton and Wiman. To these leading Liberals many of that party inclined more than a friendly ear.

As the national policy bore fruit in the building up of Confederation and in the development of the national resources, reciprocity receded more and more into the background.

As the national policy bore fruit in the building up of Confederation and in the development of the national resources, reciprocity receded more and more into the background.

It may be quite true that the cost of living is higher these days than it was nine or ten years ago. At the same time it may be quite true that people's ideas and ambitions have gone up higher, since the days of our fathers, and grandfathers. It is doubtful if ever there was a time in the history of the world when the average man could live so well on the product of his day's toil as at the present time.

Reciprocity was not invented by them. It was not drawn from the lumber room of outgrown ideas by them to improve the markets of Canadian producers.

man will pass up an 85 cent shirt. And why? Solely because they are cheap in price. The woman wants summer frocks that cost $10 and the man shirts that sell at $2.

Take a Kodak with you.

We say 'Kodak' advisedly. We do not merely mean camera, but the particular make of camera that bears the trade-mark 'Kodak.'

Your vacation will mean more to you, if you Kodak. Not only more pleasure at the time, but afterward, the added pleasure that will come from the pictures.

Let us show you how simple it all is by the Kodak system. Our stock is very complete and we are always glad to give photographic help to any amateur.
