FATHER BRADY HOME

Rev. Father Brady, of St. Lawrence's Church, returned home this morning from St. Antoine, Abbe, Quebec, where he said solemn requiem mass at the funeral of his father, who died on Tuesday. His brother, Rev. Father B. J. Brady, Canon O'Meara, of Montreal, and Rev. Father Donnelly, of St. Antoine, also took part in the service, which was attended by ten priests. The deceased was 89 years of age, and he and Mrs. Brady recently celebrated the 65th anniversary of their marriage.

The Persians have a different name for every day in the month.

BENT ON EXCLUSION.

Resolution Prepared for Submission to Vancouver City Council.

Vancouver, Oct. 25.—City Solicitor Cowan prepared a resolution to be submitted to the City Council on the immigration question. The resolution came before the Finance Committee this afternoon. It recommends that the Dominion Government be memorialized to procure for Canada, "either by diplomatic negotiation or by notice of abrogation under article two of the Japanese treaty an untrammelled right which was enjoyed prior to the treaty of passing laws under section 95 of the B. N. A. Act in relation to immigration," and "that a law excluding for a time at least, the immigration into Canada of Asiatics would not only serve the material interests of the city, but would promote good government and would meet with almost the unanimous consent of its residents."

ELOPERS FORGIVEN.

Girl Denied Admission to Home Runs Away to Wed.

Windsor, Oct. 25.—Having been denied admission to her home after returning late Saturday night, Miss Hazel Oliver, a Bell Telephone operator, eloped with A. E. Mallard, and was married Monday in Sarnia by Rev. J. H. Oliver. The newlywed couple notified the bride's parents here of what had occurred, and were invited to return. They have now arrived and have been forgiven by the bride's parents. The groom is a Detroit druggist, but formerly resided in Wiarton.

London Stock Market.

London, Oct. 25.—Money in the market to-day continued in good demand, with rates firm. Discounts were firm, much caution was exercised pending a settlement of the financial troubles in New York, the stock exchange finished an exciting week, with the time calm and prices steady.

Sir Allan MacNab.

(From the Globe, of 1857, October 27.) In another place will be found the address of Sir Allan MacNab to his constituents announcing the resignation of his seat in Parliament. Sir Allan MacNab retires from public life at a time and under circumstances which will prevent the expression of any other feeling, even by those who have opposed him from his advent to his exit, than that of good-will. His name is associated with some of the most important events in Canadian history, and, though for a long period of his life he stoutly resisted the liberal ideas and movements of the time, he ultimately relaxed in his opposition, and adopting "railroads" as the motto, worked cordially with the men to whom he was politically opposed in introducing these improvements.

A Historic Battle.

(Toronto Mail and Empire.)

Congratulations are certainly due to the ladies of the Wentworth Historical Society, whose efforts have saved the country the battle field of Stony Creek, and have made that historic ground a national possession. On this spot 500 British soldiers vanquished and drove out an invading army of 3,000. Our neighbors, seeing that Britain was engaged in defending liberty in Europe against a great oppressor, supposed that with her hands thus tied she would be unable to hold Canada. The invasion was, therefore, planned. Two large armies entered Canada, and one of them made its headquarters at Stony Creek. The 70 British made a forced march to the encampment, surprised the enemy and took the 3,000 to flight. This action was decisive, and it is well that the scene, so important a struggle should be preserved as a national memorial to the men who fought and fell in defence of their country.

A Slap at Studholme.

(Toronto Mail and Empire.)

If Mr. Jacobs, of London, is another Studholme, the Parliamentary sessions will be prolonged many months should he be elected, and the oratory will not accomplish anything for labor.

Some good farmers mix sulphur, salt, wood ashes and oil meal and keep the mixture before horses and hogs, believing it to be of great benefit to them, and saying that the animals will not use enough of the compound to injure themselves. There is no rule for the proportions; equal parts will do.
