

My Changeling Friend

My Jesus in the Tabernacle, How can you be so near
To such a wretched, sinful soul
Who kneels before You here?

You are so great and wonderful,
You, Whom the heavens adore,
Yet to a miserable child of earth,
You listen from Your door.

Oh! I have longed so much to tell You all my joys and cares,
So now I'll tell You everything,
Since You are listening there.

Now I think I have told you all That bothered me today,
And hence, my spirit bursts with joy
As flowers do in May.

Oh! how good it seems to know
Thee,
And I almost feel I do,
Because I've told my secrets
And laid my trust in You.

There are many, Sweet Lord, who Know Thee,
Yet many who do not.
Oh! that all before the judgment
May know Him Who for them Fought.

I wish I might linger here
To visit with Thee more,
But now, my duties call to me,
So I must journey o'er

Goodbye, dear Jesus, now I'll Tread
Upon the streets alone,
Since You have told me you Would guide
Me, on my pathway home.

"One afternoon, Noella brought her secret to Ramin. Victor loved her—Victor the brave, the generous, the true; the tall, strong, eldest son of Caspard, who never failed in any of his duties; who, like her, went to pass an hour every day before the Calvary, and then walked home with her—or at least half the way; who once had suddenly stopped and taken both her hands, crying: 'I love thee—love thee, my Noella! Will thou be my wife? And she had answered: 'Yes, if grandpere also will say 'Yes.'"

"But grandpere at first he answered: 'No. Attend to me, my child. Wait till I can see. The thought of losing thee has made it very dark to my old eyes. (Ma, I think I said the same to Angele.) And Noella laid her soft cheeks close to his and whispered: 'Thou wilt not lose me, grandpere; and thou wilt find a son, but sons that break into our lives. Mademoiselle, through the round window of our daughter's wedding ring, they never are the same as those God sends us—no, jamais. And when she added slowly: 'If thou wouldst, I should stay with thee, I stay; but I will never marry any one but him! Ramin felt warm tears falling on his face, and heard a sigh that left his heart all fluttering like a captured petrel. And soon he, too, said: 'Yes, and Easter week they were betrothed at St. Pierre."

"Several times after that I met him coming back from the cliff-walk, each face alight, as one sees the altar on fête days when every candle burns; hand clasped in hand, their shadows making one (a boy's eyes, Mademoiselle, take note of everything); and there were others who had dreamed of one day walking in Victor's place beside her—dreamed as youths dream."

"The old man, grown young again from his plunge in Memory's gushing stream, paused in his story long enough to sigh and take a new position."

"Eh, bien, the miracle, it happened on the eve of that June day set for their wedding. A strange purple shadow hung about the horizon, though in mid-sky there was not a cloud large as a mackerel. And the heat—ah, terrible! Not enough breeze to fill a baby's cap. The sea smooth as a pane of glass, glinting in the sun-glare; and blue as the cloak of Our Lady's picture, with one or two narrow rows of white fringe trimming the edge of the stars. Since before dawn, Victor had been 'out' in his new boat, La Promesse; and with him his partners, Jean and Eugene, two as lusty lads as ever cast a line. Ramin had come down to change a greeting with the ancient comrades that always sat, smoking an afternoon pipe, upon the quay. And when suddenly the sun was blown out like a torch by a gust

That Racking

Persistent Cough
Should Never Be Neglected.

The constant hacking, racking, persistent cough that sticks to you in spite of everything you have done to get rid of it, means danger.

The longer the cough sticks, the more serious menace it becomes to your health. It is a very easy matter to get rid of the cold at the outset by using

Norway Pine Syrup,
In nearly every case it will allay the inflammation, soothe the irritation, heal the diseased mucous lining of the lungs and bronchial tubes, and thus rid the system of all the bad effects of the lingering cough or cold.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup has been universally used for the past 30 years, and so great has been its success, it is only natural that a great many imitations have been placed on the market.

Don't accept any of these, so-called Pine Syrups. Get the original "Dr. Wood's."

Announcement

For the information of our many patrons, in both town and country, we deem it necessary to an-ounce that the Coal Business, successfully carried on in the past by the late Mr. Charles Lyons, will be continued by the Estate, under the old firm name of C. Lyons & Co.

By maintaining a high standard of service and by courteous and honest treatment of the public, this firm has, for a period of more than a quarter of a century, enjoyed a large and ever-increasing patronsage; and in announcing our intention of "carrying on," we desire, most earnestly, to give expression to our appreciation thereof. We are deeply grateful to the firm's many patrons for their constant manifestation of confidence in it, in the past, and we assure them that if they favor us with a similar evidence of their good-will in future there shall be no economy of effort on our part to make our intercourse both pleasant and profitable to them.

As we possess almost unlimited facilities for supplying the coal trade, and as we are desirous of extending our already large business, we respectfully invite the patronage of new customers; and if we succeed in thus increasing our present connection, we guarantee that we shall be indefatigable in our endeavor to justify the confidence of
