MONDAY, Sept. 16th, 1912.

"Patriot" and Magistrate Fitzgerald.

We direct the attention of Mr. Fitzgerald to the following statement, which appeared in the Chronicle on Friday in some notes from Fogo:

"Our old friend, Mr. H. F. Fitzgerald, and his good lady, paid us a visit last month and was heartily welcomed. We hear he visited several places in the district and was well received by many of those who were formerly his political opponents. Mr. Fitzgerald is a tried and true friend, and his friends think he will knock what is left of the Coakerites 'to pieces' in 1913."

Mr. Fitzgerald will appreciate the fact that the above statement is a political message meant to boom him, as the Morris Party candidate for the District of Fogo at the next General Election.

Mr. Fitzgerald is not likely to forget that he is a Magistrate, even if this political press agent of the Chronicle has forgotten. But the indiscretion of his friends should convince Magistrate Fitzgerald how circumspect his own conduct must be, and how necessary it is for him to avoid anything which will give color to the remarks of such a man as "Patriot" of the Chronicle.

Should Magistrate Fitzgerald decide to stand for Morris in Fogo at the next election, and wish to make political visits, we feel sure he will see the propriety of sending in his resignation before he commences a political canvass.

Magistrates and Judges have entered of the political field and become candidates for the suffrages of the people, but they have all found it desirable and necessary to quit the bench before they took to politics.

Magistrate Fitzgerald should put "Patriot" right in the premises; or "Patriot" may succeed in putting Magistrate Fitzgerald in the wrong light before the public.

Now Under Construction

A new wharf is now being built on the Black Diamond Line Company for discharging their ships, which will commence bringing enormous flour and beef cargoes here from Montreal next month. A gang of men are now employed building the new wharf, which when completed, will be one of the most substantial along the waterfront. A gallery over the wharf is also being erected to be used for landing salt and coal.

A Meeting of Frontiersmen and those interested in movement will be held in C. L. B. Armoury on Tuesday, Sept. 17th, at 8.30 p.m.—sep16,1i

The Shooting Season.

DELANEY SAYS BEWARE OF THE MAN WHO WANTS A LOAN OF YOUR DOG.

Delaney isn't a "sport" by any means, he's just a common jack who when shooting time comes round takes his dog and gun and strolls in over Petty Harbour barracks.

Now, Delaney owns a fine dog, in fact Tucker says 'tis the best setter in the country, and of course Delaney takes a great pride out of him and feeds him and looks after him right through the year.

All along through the winter when the frost is keen and the snow causes the carmen and the snow plougher to exchange courtesies, Delaney looks after his dog, but he is the only individual in the country that seems to care two straws about Carlo.

Carlo some fine days in the spring goes out in quest of the tempting jowl bone or that little round ring that you buy with a pound of beef steak, but though he tramps and sniffs all day no one pats him on the head, or in any way pays attention to him.

Carlo goes to a football match later on, chases Delaney, but he's no sooner on the field when Sergeant Grimes is after him and fires him outside the gate. A little later on in the year the sporting element begin to cast glances at Carlo and some of them become so interested in him that they open his mouth and peer into the mysteries hidden within its walls. A few weeks after they whistle to Carlo and sound his praises, so as Delaney can hear them.

Later still, about the fourteenth of September, this individual walks quick and catches up to Delaney going home to dinner. He tells Delaney that he thinks 'tis going to be a fine dry fall, enquires of Delaney "How's all your care," and ends up by asking Delaney if he wouldn't mind lending him his dog, as he was thinking about going off for a day or so.

Now so far, Delaney says, this man didn't put himself in the way of being turned down this year, and he hopes he won't, for as Delaney says, he wouldn't mind lending a man a pair of black pants to go to a funeral, or a buck saw to saw up some wood, but when it comes to lending a dog, 'tis too dangerous, for the half-baked sport that would expect another man's dog to "rise" partridge for him, might also expect that "Carlo" could thrive on fresh air and a whistle.

We, the people, are much too indiscriminate in fixing human values. The really brave man is the one who is afraid to do it, but does it just the same.

Killed at Halifax

James J. Hiscok, a native of Newfoundland, was killed last Thursday, as were two other persons by the breaking of a derrick used in demolishing the walls of the Woodside Sugar Refinery, Halifax.

About 9 o'clock as the men employed at the top of the building were wheeling their burden along the platform at the top of the scaffolding erected up the face of the building, the derrick which was in use as a crane, suddenly gave way while lifting a steel bar of about 800 lbs., from the interior of the building, and crashing down to the ground about 40 feet below, carried the unfortunate men with it.

This derrick was a powerful one, capable of lifting 10 tons but gave way for some unknown cause, under the strain of only 800 lbs. The mast snapped in two and the upper part together with the heavy boom smashed through the scaffolding, taking the men with it.

25,000,000
Years Old.

Edmonton, Alta., Sept. 8.—Perfectly formed fossils of the trilobite species, the highest animals of the Cambrian formation, declared by paleontologists to be more than 25,000,000 years old, were unearthed by Dr. C. D. Walcott, Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C., at the base of Mount Robson, in the heart of the Rockies, west of Edmonton, while on a scientific expedition, occupying two months. He was accompanied by H. H. Hayden.

Dr. Walcott said in the course of an interview here to-day that the bed of fossils, which was found at a point 5,000 feet above sea-level, is practically inexhaustible. He reported also finding fossils of an entirely new species, which he believes will add valuable information to the geology of the world.

The finding of the trilobite is looked upon as important, it is of the group of fossil crustaceans, of which a single specimen is known from the Permian of North America. The animal, which has been extinct for ages, is scientifically described in these terms:

"The dorsal surface of the body was covered with a calcareous shell, which presented three longitudinal lobes, a median and two lateral, and was divided into three parts.—A head shield, a body shield or thoracic segment, and a tail shield or pygidium. The head was approximately semi-circular, and a central protuberance, the glabella, and a flat border, formed the gense or cheeks. The animal was able to roll itself up so that the soft lower surface of its body was protected. The anterior appendages were modified to form antennae, mandibles and maxillae."

Seamen Washed Overboard

AND DROWNED.

Messrs. Job Bros., have received a wireless message from Captain Waite of the S. S. Beothic, acquainting them that Thomas Walsh was washed overboard and drowned on Saturday last. The message came via Frame Point and stated that the Beothic, which was on her way to Montreal from Sydney, encountered rough weather. On the day in question a violent northeaster prevailed while heavy seas constantly swept the ship's decks. It was at this time it is alleged Walsh, who was walking from the deck to the fore-castle, was washed overboard and never heard of afterwards. The victim was seen leave the deck by Capt. Waite who was on watch. Walsh was a trimmer on the Beothic and a good and capable seaman. He was thirty years of age and resided on Patrick Street in the West End. This morning Rev. Fr. Kelly broke the sad news of the drowning to the parents of the deceased young man who was well known in the community.
