"Our Dumb Animals."

Report of S.P.A. Inspector for Week Ending July 15, 1922.

Was called to humanely destroy a dog which had bitten a resident on Pearce Avenue; went to Cornwall Avenue to examine a horse suffering from rupture, owner would not have it destroyed without the consent of a veterinary; went to town for veterinary who ordered the horse destroyed immediately, as it was beyond aid. At the request of Mr. Thistle, I humanely destroyed a horse owned by him which had fallen and met with an accident; sent in 6 horses for a rest and treatment, and insisted on some drivers not to be overloading their horses; also supervised the landing of 50 head of cattle, some sheep and pigs from the Canadian Sapper; saw them all watered and fed. Humanely destroyed dogs belonging respectively to Hon. R. Watson and P. H. Hudson, Esq., who are subscribers to the Society's funds. I received a report of some horses employed at Government work being lame; investigated and found owner willing to carry out my instructions. Received word from Marconi Station of a horse being over-driven and cruelly whipped, owned by a city baker. I secured the evidence and issued a summons, and will be prosecuting the case in a few days. Any complaints telephoned to No. 653 will be courteously and promptly attended to.

The Strange Adventure of "Pete."

During the autumn Mr. C. E. King and family, of Port Arthur, Ontario, drove out into the woods to enjoy the foliage and an outing at the old Shuniah mine. With them were their young son, Bill, and their Irish terrier, "Pete." The dog ran to and fro, now and again disappearing in the woods, but reporting for supper. When it came time to go home Pete was not to be found. The family started back, however, feeling sure that the terrier would join them somewhere on the way. But he did not come, and at bedtime he was still missing. Early the next day a searching party was organized, and all the trails and bridle paths were carefully explored, but no Pete was found. Day after day the search was renewed, and a "Dog lost" advertisement placed in the News-Chronicle, the evening paper, but all with no result.

Two weeks passed, when by mere chance a lover of nature strolled by the old Shuniah mine. To his surprise, he saw Pete near the bottom of an old shaft, huddled upon a small seat just out of the water. For a full fortnight the terrier had fasted and waited. Quickly followed a telephone call, and Pete's family hurried to his rescue. It was then dark and great care had to be exercised. Mr. King was lowered with a rope into the shaft. Another rope was dropped and placed around Pete. Both were then raised to the surface. The prodigal was given fresh milk and a warm blanket, and taken home to the family fireside, where it took three weeks' nursing to restore him to normal condition. Our Dumb Animals.

High Maternity Death Rate.

M.C.A. TAKING MEASURES FOR PREVENTION.

NEW YORK. (Associated Press).—The high death rate among women of the United States during childbirth and the ignorance of the proper methods of nursing and care of the mother have led the Maternity Center Association of New York to publish 12 talks for mothers, stressing the vital importance of complete maternity care. More than a million of the pamphlets will be distributed nationally. The association asserts that more women between the ages of 15 and 45 die from causes incident to maternity than from any other cause except tuberculosis. Dr. Haven Emerson, of the association's advisory board estimates that only one woman out of 17 in the United States receives the benefit of modern medical and nursing science at childbirth. The result, it is said, is that more than 20,000 women lose their lives during childbirth each year, more than 100,000 babies are born dead and more than 100,000 die under the age of one month. The association hopes to convince expectant mothers that parental care is needed, and lead them to present their cases to local nursing and public health organizations and receive personal advice and direction.

The Human Mind.

There are minds and minds without number.

There are minds that will never be. There are minds full of evil not beauty. As God has meant them to be.

The mind is the man and the woman. No matter what may be said; The mind is the spirit that liveth. Tho' the body remaineth dead.

And the mind that speaketh for justice. In this world of sin and pain; Is the mind of the God that made us. As He maketh the wind and the rain.

For that is the way he cometh Into our lives again. And if we obey and follow. His kingdom shall remain.

And the minds of the little children Who are born in the world each day. Are the gifts of God's love eternal. We must see that they do not stray.

Let us give them the love and guidance. Along life's thorny way. So their minds may reach perfection. To answer on that great day.

Let us help each other onward Over the beaten track. From childhood up to manhood Over the world and back.

Back to the land of promise And the future, that awaits. So that we all may enter The city's iron gates.

To Try Channel Swim.

SAILS FOR ENGLAND ON STEAMSHIP ASSYRIA.

Charles Toth, noted Boston swimmer, was a passenger aboard the Cunard liner Assyria when the big boat pulled out of her dock in East Boston, July 8th for England. He will attempt the most severe swimming test known to men, that of crossing the English Channel, and he is very confident he will be successful.

A period of intensive training this spring has put him in wonderful condition, and he will waste very little time after reaching England, in making his attempt on the first tides that sweep the channel. Toth's recent feat of towing a boatload of people a mile through the rough water of the harbor gives his friends confidence in his effort.

Jim Snow, Dan Carroll, Charles Treaser and Fred Mardo, four members of the L Street Brownie Club, of which Toth is a member, were at the dock to wish him God-speed.

Gus Wise, manager of Toth, who will pilot him on his trip across the channel, and Ernest Chastelaine were in the party that sailed on the Assyria.
