

HELP FOR WORKING WOMEN

Some Have to Keep on Until They Almost Drop. How Mrs. Conley Got Help.

Here is a letter from a woman who had to work, but was too weak and suffered too much to continue. How she regained health:

Frankfort, Ky.—"I suffered so much with female weakness that I could not do my own work, had to hire it done. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I tried it. I took three bottles and I found it to be all you claim. Now I feel as well as ever I did and am able to do all my own work again. I recommend it to any woman suffering from female weakness. You may publish my letter if you wish."—Mrs. JAMES CONLEY, 516 St. Clair St., Frankfort, Ky.

No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

All women are invited to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for special advice,—it will be confidential.

The House of the Whispering Pines

By ANNA KATHARINE GREEN

death haunted spot.

As the day advanced and I began to realize that I, Elwood Ransleigh, easy going man of the world, but with traditions of respectable living on both sides of my house and a list of friends of whom any man might be proud, was in a place of detention on the awful charge of murder I found that my keenest torment arose from the fact that I was shut off from the instant knowledge of what was going on in the house where all my thoughts, my fears and—shall I say it?—latent hopes were centered. To know Carmel ill and not to know how ill; to feel the threatening arm of the law hovering constantly over her head and neither to know the instant of its fall nor be given the least opportunity to divert it!

My examination before the magistrate held one element of comfort. Nothing in its whole tenor went to show that as yet she was in the least suspected of any participation in my so called crime. But the knowledge which came later of how the police first learned of trouble at the clubhouse did not add to this sense of relief, whatever satisfaction it gave my curiosity. A cry of distress had come to them over the telephone, a wild cry in a woman's choked and tremulous voice: "Help at the Whispering Pines! Help!" That was all, or all they revealed to me. In their endeavor to find out whether or not I was present when this call was made I learned the nature of their own suspicions. They believed that Adelaide in some moment of prevision had managed to reach the telephone and send out this message.

It was in a condition of mingled dread and expectation that I opened the paper which was brought me the next morning. Arthur, the good-for-nothing brother, had returned from his wild carouse and had taken affairs in charge with something like spirit and a decent show of repentance for his own shortcomings and the mad taste for liquor which had led him away from home that night. Carmel was still ill and likely to be so for many days to come. Her case was diagnosed as one of brain fever and of a most dangerous type. Doctors and nurses were busy at her bedside, and little hope was held out of her being able to tell soon, if ever, what she knew of her sister's departure from the house on that fatal evening. That her testimony on this point would be invaluable was self evident, for proofs were plenty of her having haunted her sister's rooms all the evening in a condition of more or less delirium. She was alone in the house, and this may have added to her anxieties, all of the servants having gone to the policemen's hall. It was on their return in the early morning hours that she had been discovered lying ill and injured before her sister's dressing room.

One fact was mentioned which set me thinking. The keys of the clubhouse had been found lying on a table in the side hall of the Cumberland mansion—the keys which I have already mentioned as missing from my pocket—an alarming discovery which might have acted as a clue to the suspicious I feared if their presence there had not been explained by the wait-

For several reasons, we know more about the travels of the night-flyers than we do about those of the day-flyers. First, because many more birds travel by night than by day. Second, because practically all birds that fly by night are migrants. Third, because the night-flyers seem unable to avoid the lighthouses in their way.

Dressing Station, Firing Line—Official Film, "Battle of the Somme."

An urgent call for help again goes forth from the Motherland's mighty life-saving agency—the British Red Cross. The Empire is called upon to give greatly, give lovingly, give quickly, that the sick, wounded and suffering on all the battle fronts may not languish and perish in their hours of deepest need.

Here is a great work in which all can share. The Joint War Committee of the British Red Cross Society and Order of St. John is the only institution which carries voluntary aid to the sick and wounded of the British forces on land and sea in every region of the war. Thousands of lives of our bravest and best are saved through this splendid work. YOUR gift may save a life. Isn't it worth doing? It is GIVE!

Make "Our Day" Your Red Cross Gift Day Give on October 19th

Ontario's princely gift in 1915 of $1,514,000 ranks a clarion mercy call, throughout the Empire. The British Red Cross were grateful beyond measure, and their appeal through Lord Lansdowne, President, now comes to us as to friends who sympathize and help. The need is greater to-day than a year ago—it is ever growing. Will Ontario do less than she did last year? No! GIVE—give a day's pay, give all you can, GIVE!

Premier Hearst Has Seen the Work "My visit to England and France has aroused deeper appreciation than ever of the splendid work of the Red Cross. It deserves every support, and I trust the people of Ontario will respond with their usual generosity to the British Red Cross Appeal for October 19th."

He gives twice who gives quickly. Your help is needed NOW!

The Motherland's only direct appeal to us for help in this great war is her great Red Cross mercy work. Ontario's response must and will be quick and generous. Give through the Treasurer of your Local Committee—or, send your subscription to the Clerk of your municipality—or, make it payable to Hon. T. W. McGarry, Treasurer British Red Cross Fund for Ontario, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

Don't Let Your Stricken Defenders Call in Vain, but Give and heal!

There was some comment made on this because Arthur had denied using his cutter that night. He declared instead that he had gone out on foot and designated the coachman's tale as all both. As for myself, I felt inclined to believe that the mare had been out, that one or both of the women had harnessed her and that it was by these means they had reached the Whispering Pines. Adelaide was far from strong and never addicted to walking under the most favorable conditions I could understand now how Carmel had succeeded in returning in safety to her home. She had ridden both ways—a theory which likewise explained how she came to wear a man's derby and possibly a man's overcoat with her skirts covered by a bearskin she would present a very fair figure of a man to any one who chanced to pass her. These were my deductions drawn from my own knowledge. Would others who had not my knowledge be in anywise influenced to draw the same? Yet if they let this point slip, where should I be? Human nature is human all the way through, and I could not help having moments when I asked myself if this young girl were worth the sacrifice I contemplated making for her. She was lovely to look at, amiable and of womanly promise save at those rare and poignant moments when passion would seize her in a gust which drove everything before it. That she had had provocation I did not doubt. Adelaide, for all her virtues, was not an easy person to deal with. Upright and perfectly sincere herself, she had no sympathy with or comprehension for any lack of principle or any display of selfishness in others. She was a little odd, a little reserved, a little lacking in spontaneity, though always correct and always generous in her gifts and often in her acts.

Give and heal!

The Red Cross looks after the transportation of sick and wounded—it equips thousands of hospitals, rest and convalescent homes. It supplies countless requisites for hospital work, clothing and other comforts. Over 2,000 Red Cross Motor Ambulances are at work on the various fronts, while "rest stations," hospital trains, steamers and launches, food for prisoners, books, special work for the blind, etc., are a few, only, of Red Cross activities.

The Sick and Wounded Call For Your Help Give on October 19th

Your gift will go entirely to the British Red Cross, where, again, through much voluntary work, the working expenses are cut down to only 2 1/2% of the total revenue. Thus, if you give $10, actually $9.77 1/2 goes to the healing and saving of some stricken hero. The expenses of the Ontario Committee, advertising, printing, etc., are being met entirely by the Provincial Government.

Mr. N. W. Rowell, K.C., Brings a Red Cross Message "I bring a message of cheer to those who have relatives at the front and who fear they may be wounded. I believe everything human skill can do, that human care and sympathy can provide, is being done and provided each day and each night throughout the year by the Army Medical Corps and the Red Cross. It is a perfect marvel of efficiency."

MR. N. W. ROWELL, K.C., Leader of the Opposition.
