TEMPERANCE NOTES.

The Secretary of the State of Iowa says: "Of the 90 counties in Iowa in 1888, there were 55 which reported non-commitments to county jails."

Dr. Dunlop, of London, medical officer of St. Pancras Workhouse, declares that 25 per cent. of insane cases in workhouses are of alcoholic causation.

The British Medical Temperance As sociation has now a membership of 402 registered medical practitioners, with 109 medical students as associates. The wife of United States Senator Spooner, of Wisconsin, is credited with saying in a recent interview that "the woman or girl who offers one of my sons a glass of wine will personally affront me." The 55th annual session of the National Division Sons of Temperance of North America will be held at Ocean Grove, N. J., July 9, 10 and 11. A series of public meet-ings will be held in the great auditorium during the season. In spite of his illness, Canon Wilberforce In spite of his filness, Canon wholerforce is doing splendid service in the temperance cause. He rose from a sick bed in Calcutta to address a large meeting of Mohammedans and Hindoos, and nearly 800 pledges were taken at the close.

CONSCIENCE AND GOD.

The conscience bears the same relation to The conscience bears the same relation to God as an accurate timeriece bears to the sun, says S. T. Coleridge. The timepiece merely indicates the relative path of the sun, yet we can regulate our plans and proceedings by it with the same confidence as if it was itself the efficient cause of light, heat, and the revolving seasons.

Walk in the fields in one of the mornings of May, and if you carry with you a mind unpolluted with harm, watch how it is impressed. You are delighted with the beauty of colors; are not those colors beautiful? You breathe vegetable fragrance; is not that fragrance grateful? You see the sun rising from behind a mountain, and the heavens painted with light; is not that renewal of the light of the morning sublime! You reject all oblivious reasons, and say that these things are beautiful and sublime because the accidents of life have made them so; I say they are beautiful and sublime, because God has made them so ! that it is the original, indelible character impressed upon them by him, who has opened these sources of simple pleasure to calm perhaps the perturbations of sense, and he makes us love that joy which is purchased without giving pain to another man's heart, and without entailing reproach upon your own.—[Sydney Smith. -Sydney Smith.
