Terrible Affray Said To Have Taken Place in the Sultan's Palace.

Constantinople, Aug. 5.—A strange chariot, laden with 40 dead bodies, mysteriously left the Sultan's palace at dawn a few days ago.

Some young officers and students of the military school, inspired by the Belgrade assassinations, had plotted to kidnap the Sultan and force him to abdicate in favor of his youngest brother, Djouhdi Bey. The Albanian Guard surrounded the conspirators and cut them to pieces.

The number of bodies carried away clandestinely is said to have been more than 300.

OFFICIAL BRUTALITY

Horrible Treatment of Privates by German Officers.

Berlin, Aug. 5.—The details were published yesterday of a court martial held at Metz on a non-commissioned officer named Dunkel for mistreating private soldiers at Meersingen, Lorraine. Five hundred and seventy-six instances of brutality, occurring since last December, were cited. The evidence showed Dunkel's ferocious ventiveness in novel methods of punishment, such as compelling a soldier to run at full tilt across a room and ram his head against a wardrobe. The court decided that 366 counts of the indictment had been proven, and sentenced Dunkel to 2½ years imprisonment and degradation to the ranks. The scandal became known to the military authorities through the suicide of one of the maltreated men, which an anonymous letter ascribed to Dunkel's brutality.

CALLS HUSBAND ROBBER

New York, Aug. 5.—Mourning the loss of her husband and $40,000 in money and jewels, Mrs. Rachel Timbell is left penniless in a strange city, thousands of miles from her home. The man she befriended, according to the story she told Inspector McCluskey, of the detective bureau, today. About a week ago she arrived here from Johannesburg, South Africa, with her husband, William Timbell, whom she married only six months ago.

The woman says she is the daughter of wealthy parents, and she wedded Timbell despite the opposition of her parents. Soon after the marriage she settled $10,000 upon him, she asserts, and for some time they lived happily in Johannesburg. When they arrived here Mrs. Timbell became ill. She says that while she was in bed Timbell wrote out a check, inserting a 4 before the $900, and then went to a bank and cashed the check. He returned home, she says, and while his wife was in bed took her jewels, valued at $25,000, and disappeared, leaving her with but $100.

A CANINE HERO

Saves Lives of Family but Is Burned To Death.

New York, Aug. 5.—The family of Richard Jennings, of No. 539 Jefferson avenue, Elizabeth, N. J., owe their lives to the vigilance of a faithful watchdog, who, when he saw the house was on fire at 3 a.m. Monday, barked so loudly that Policeman O'Brien hurried to the dwelling.

He found the back kitchen in flames, and shattering the glass in the door with his club effected an entrance, and with the aid of some neighbors all the sleeping inmates were rescued. Two children were almost suffocated before they were got out and it took some time to revive them.

The faithful animal was forgotten in the excitement, and when the blaze was subdued its charred body was found.

A LOVERS' FUED

Fatal Affray Over a Young Woman's Affections.

Pana, Ill., Aug. 5.—Two young men of Todd's Point, named Harmon and Niederfer, became engaged in an altercation Saturday morning on account of a feud brought about by rivalry in love. Harmon has been paying attention to one of the belles of the neighborhood. Later she and Niederfer met and Niederfer won her affections. During the trouble of a morning Harmon was aided by a younger brother, who struck Niederfer on the head with a scintillating critical moment. The latter fell and both antagonists jumped upon him. When he recovered he sufficiently stabbed the older Harmon, over the heart, with probably fatal results.

GAUDY UNIFORMS ARE DEBARRED

British War Minister Puts an End To Craze for Flashy Costumes.

London, Aug. 5.—Mr. Brodick, Minister of War, has, with the King's help, dealt a heavy blow to the craze among young society men for wearing gaudy uniforms. Discussing the War Office votes in the House of Commons yesterday evening, Mr. Brodick said that the practice had grown of allowing lord lieutenants of counties to appoint deputies who were entitled to wear a fine uniform resembling a general officer's. The privilege had been so abused by young men who wished to make a display of their uniforms, that the county lieutenant of 120 deputy lord lieutenants. Mr. Brodick added that he had approached the King and secured a re-arrangement, by which deputy lord lieutenants would be proportioned to the population. In the case of a mentioned the deputies would be reduced to twenty. Hereafter nobody would be appointed to the office before he was 28 years old, and would not get his gay uniform for ten years unless he joined the militia or volunteers, being compelled meanwhile to wear evening dress on ceremonial occasions.

THE DUKE'S JOKE

His Signature Cost Nothing So He Used All Of It.

Madrid, Aug. 5.—The following anecdote of the visit of the Duke of Veragua to Chicago has just come to light in this city.

When the Duke of Veragua, the descendant of Christopher Columbus, visited Chicago he inquired at the telegraph office the charge of a telegram to the city of Columbus. "Fifteen cents," answered the official, "not including the signature, which is wired free."

Whereupon the duke wired: "Mayor, Columbus—Shall visit your city next Monday or Tuesday." And he signed it: "Cristobal Colon de Toledo y Leizategui de la Cerda Ramirez de Baquedano Gante Almirante y Adelantado Mayor de las Indias, Marques de Jamaica, Duque de Veragua y de la Vega Grande de Espana, Senador del Reino, Caballero de la insigne orden del Tolson Oro, Gran Cruz de la Concepcion de Villaviciosa, Gentil Hombre de Camara del Rey de Espana."

THE TRICKS OF FATE

Man Loses a Old But Finds Immense Fortune.

Albany, Aug. 5.—Information has been received in Granville, Washington county, of the death of Lewis Deuel in Australia at the age of 84 years. He left a fortune of $250,000.

Deuel was a native of Granville, and during his boyhood was known as the champion skinner and trapper of the Northern New York. Deuel hunted the ill-smelling pole-cat for the value of his pelt. His energy, thrift and intelligence were respected by the villagers, but when Deuel proposed to Amanda De Long, a local belle, she refused him. He joined the exodus of gold-fevered men to California, and kept his address and good fortune in mining a secret until his death a few weeks ago.

Miss De Long died twenty-five years ago in Granville, never having married because, as she said, on her deathbed, she had never loved anyone except Deuel.

Some of the heirs in Granville and vicinity are Mrs. Julius Higby, Morgan Smith, Mrs. Frank Scott, Mrs. Lee Charles Deuel, Mrs. S. B. Goodspeed, J. Whitecomb, R. S. Bullock, Mrs. William Hewlett and Hiram Deuel. There are other relatives scattered through Western New York, Michigan and Wisconsin.

RADIUM KILLS TYPHOID

Important Experiments in New Discovery by German Scientists.

Berlin, Aug. 5.—Dr. Pfeiffer and Dr. Friedberger, of the high school of medicine of the Konigsberg University, have concluded some highly interesting experiments with radium, which portend the deadly effect upon bacteria of this marvelous element.

They exposed for forty-eight hours in a dark room a gelatine plate which had been freely sown with typhoid bacilli to the radiation from a small quantity of radium-bromide. The effect was most decisive, by far surpassing the results achieved in the same experiment by X-rays. The bacilli were either killed or their growth completely stopped. It was also proved by further experiments that the radium had worked its effect upon the bacilli themselves, and not merely upon the gelatine.

Similar results were obtained in the case of cholera bacilli, and this even in a shorter time (sixteen hours), while in the case of anthrax bacilli it took three times twenty-four hours to have them destroyed by the radium rays, or, as they are also called, "Bequerel rays."

The practical importance of these experiments lies in the hope which they give of using the rays of radium for therapeutic purposes in infectious diseases of the skin (as, for instance, lupus). It is, however, possible that the injurious effect upon the bacteria caused by radium rays may prove too strongly to admit of their being used in therapeutics.

IN SELF-DEFENSE

Railway Timekeeper Kills a Galician Laborer.

Erwood, N. W. T., Aug. 5.—As the result of a row at the Canadian Northern Railway construction camp, 60 miles west of here, last Friday night, the timekeeper, Van Alstyne, shot and killed one of the Galician laborers. The Galicians wanted their time checks, which were refused by Van Alstyne. The laborers assumed a threatening attitude, and Van Alstyne, becoming alarmed for his safety, drew a revolver, and in self-defense fired into the crowd. The bullet killed one of the men, who died from the effects of the shot four hours after the occurrence. There were 70 Galicians in the crowd. Van Alstyne has left camp, and the police have not been able to find him.

NAPOLEON'S LAST NIECE

Princess Mathilda Dangerously Ill in Paris.

Paris, Aug. 5.—The last surviving niece of Napoleon I., Princess Mathilda, is dangerously ill. She is well known in Paris, where for more than half a century she held one of the most prominent positions in Paris society. She always spent the summer season in her magnificent chateau of Saint-Gratien, where she is now staying. A few days ago she stumbled on a bit of carpet, and in falling broke the femoral bone.

She was immediately attended by Dr. Landolt, who was at the time visiting at the chateau. Professor Berger, the eminent surgeon, of Paris, was called in to reduce the fracture. She is attended by her niece, Countess Rasponi, and her sister-in-law, Princess Clotilde, who came at once from Italy when she heard of the news.

But, on account of the age of the princess, the fracture, and especially the shock occasioned to her nervous system, it is looked upon as serious. She was born in 1821 at Trieste, and is the daughter of King Jerome Bonaparte.

When her husband wrote to her from Florence on the eve of the fall of the second empire, telling her to leave Paris, as he was being driven out of the city, she replied that her duty was to remain by the side of Empress Eugenie. In fact, she refused to stir from Paris until the Empress had succeeded in escaping. Then, before returning to Italy, the princess visited the establishments which she was in the habit of patronizing.

When the Prince Imperial was 18 the Bonapartist party resolved to fete his coming of age with great éclat at Chislehurst. Prince Napoleon refused to join in any such demonstration, which, he said, would make the party ridiculous. The princess interfered, saying that it was necessary that her husband should go. He was bound in duty and in honor to do so. Prince Napoleon was still obdurate, but when his wife insisted that the interests of the family were at stake he went off to Chislehurst at once.

YOUTHS IN COLD STORAGE

They Try To Beat Their Way for a Joke.

Augusta, Ga., Aug. 5.—As a result of a banter, Lewis Hopkins and Tracey Matthews, the latter married, were taken out of a refrigerator car nearly frozen to death after being eleven hours in the car without food or drink. These two, with a young man named Stovale, decided as a joke to beat their way from Augusta to Kansas City, At the freight yards they entered the first open car they found and went to sleep. After a few hours Stovale became so cold that he left the car and returned to the city. He realized the danger his companions were in and notified Hopkins' brother, but the train had gone. At Belair, eight miles out, the conductor sealed the car doors. Tracers were sent after the car and it was found at 5 o'clock the following afternoon in the Atlanta freight yard. When the young men were taken out they were almost frozen.

DREAMED THE CURE

Indiana Man Has Vision of Successful Surgical Operation.

Elkhart, Ind., Aug. 5.—As the result of a remarkable dream, Valentine Marx persuaded a surgeon to perform an operation on him, and the result was true to his dream his voice was restored.

Since 1899 until this week he has been unable to speak above a faint whisper, and that with difficulty. He was told that the cause of failure was the presence in the left lung of a bullet which he received at the battle of Stone River.

Two weeks ago he had a dream that a resort to old-fashioned bleeding would restore his voice.

On Wednesday last, Dr. J. B. Greene, of Mishawaka, performed the operation. When the lancet made an incision near the right elbow a thick, dark colored liquid oozed out just as in the dream. Marx says his voice has steadily increased in power since that time.

A BAD BOY ESCAPES

A Very Peculiar Case That is Puzzling St. Thomas.

St. Thomas, Aug. 5.—John Johnston, a 14-year-old lad of Springfield, who has been a terror to the police for some time past, was on Saturday, at the instance of County Crown Attorney Donahue, K. C., committed for trial on charges of housebreaking and theft and was brought to the county jail here by County Constable Chumas.

Governor Moore, however, refused to take the lad on the ground that he being under 14 years of age, could not be received into the jail.

Mr. Donahue was called in and told Mr. Moore that the boy was committed under the criminal law of the Dominion, and the case did not come under the provincial statute which Gov. Moore took for his guidance. He declined, however, to receive the boy without an order from the sheriff. A visit was paid to Sheriff Brown's office, but he was not in, and the crown attorney advised the constable to take young Johnston to his hotel and hold him until the sheriff could be consulted. This was done, but during the night Johnston effected his escape and is now again at large.

This is the same boy that was at the last assizes tried for arson, and the jury decided that the people of Springfield are in terror for fear of the boy, who has been conspicuous in depredations.

The question now is, who is to blame for the escape of the young prisoner?

GERMAN OUTRAGES

The Old Hate Being Revived in Alsace-Lorraine.

Paris, Aug. 5.—Two recent events on the frontier of Alsace-Lorraine have caused the old hatred against Germany to break out with all the bitterness of the years just after the Franco-Prussian war.

In a little village, Paguy-sur-Moselle an old French soldier, a hero of many battles, was recently assassinated in a most cruel manner by a German, who had evidently no other motive than to avenge the loss of his life by killing a man who had fought valiantly against Germany.

The latest outrage, whose name is Barazzi, a German subject, who for some time has been doing odd jobs in a local factory, was shot by a French soldier, a former adjutant in a cavalry regiment and decorated with the cross of the Legion of Honor, on the frontier of Alsace-Lorraine, without the slightest provocation, and the veteran down and plunged a knife into his chest when he calmly submitted to being arrested and insisted that he was perfectly sane and happy to have killed a man who had been in the war shed German blood.

The other incident took place near Belpert, in the town of customs, Scheibler shot and killed one young Frenchman and wounded four others.

Three of the young men, Menche, Schoett and Murr, were quietly chatting near the German customs bureau when a little dog which was with them, started barking at Scheibler, who wore a German uniform.

Enraged at what he called an insult to the uniform he wore Scheibler told the young men to stop the dog from barking, and when they smilingly declared that the animal meant no harm the German knocked them down with the butt of his rifle.

Another Frenchman, Alphonse Gett, tried to interfere, but was shot down on the spot by the furious German, and a blow of the gun shattered his head.

At the sight of the blood the murderer crossed the frontier, but he was immediately arrested and narrowly escaped a lynching.

THE UNIONIST PARTY SPLIT

Free Traders and Tariff Reformers Prepare for Fight.

AT THE SHEFFIELD CONFERENCE

Hicks-Beach Anxious To Have Business of Colonial Conference Made Public.

New York, Aug. 5.—The Tribune's London correspondent cables: There is a great struggle between tariff reformers and free traders for control of the Unionist party machine. It is consequently expected that the Conservative conference at Sheffield at the end of September will be unusually exciting, as it will indicate the drift of opinion among Conservative associations on the question of the hour. The conference will be asked to pass resolutions in favor of preferential tariffs, and free traders are taking active steps to organize the opposition. They are particularly anxious to get hold of that part of the proceedings of last year's colonial conference which has not yet been revealed. All that is known at present is that the premiers expressed the views of the colonies they respectively represented on the subject of preferential treatment.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach and those who agree with him consider it essential that the tariff controversy should be illuminated by the knowledge of all that took place at the conference. Mr. Chamberlain has promised to ask the permission of the colonial premiers to publish their communications, and if this should be obtained interesting light would be thrown on a practical carrying out of the preferential tariff system. Of course Sir Michael Hicks-Beach cannot get any information on the subject that he was not already fully aware of, as he was a member of the Cabinet at the time the conference was held, but his knowledge is useless to him now for controversial purposes, because he must treat it as confidential.

Mr. Chamberlain has claimed the fears of Lancashire that raw cotton from America will be taxed in order to give preference to the colonies.

The local Secretary does not like to spoil the chance of success by proposing an impost that would have crippled the greatest manufacturing industry in the kingdom. There is, however, still considerable doubt as to whether he intends to put a tax on meat and other goods imported from America.

It is a singular fact that in 25 English towns only one change in the price of bread has been reported since July 1, when a shilling registration duty on imported corn ceased to operate. In that case the price of a quarter loaf actually rose one halfpenny, and yet the duty realized about £2,500,000 for the exchequer. A Birmingham paper is responsible for the statement that President Roosevelt is making a close study of the English company laws and practice.

RAILWAY COMMISSIONERS

The Government Will Appoint Three Instead of Two.

Ottawa, Aug. 4.—The Minister of Justice Monday gave notice of a resolution fixing the salaries of the railway commissioners and secretary of the railway commission provided for in the bill now before the House. The resolution only speaks of three commissioners, so that it is evident the Government have determined not to extend the number to five, as suggested by the railway companies. The chief commissioner will get a salary of $10,000, and each of the other two commissioners $8,000. The secretary's salary will be fixed by the governor-in-council, but is not to exceed $4,000. The provisions of the bill, are subject to the approval of the governor-in-council. The salaries of the commissioners and secretary will be paid out of unappropriated funds in the hands of the receiver-general, and all other salaries, remunerations and expenses out of moneys to be provided by Parliament.
