Jubilee Movement of the Congregationalists Is Making Headway-Enthusiastic Rally.

That the enthusiasm of the Congregationalists of the city over the jubilee movement has not waned to any extent was shown by the attendance at the jubilee rally, held last evening in the Southern Church on Horton street. The object of the gathering was to present to the members and adherents of the local churches a statement of the jubilee fund accounts and to stimulate and encourage them to complete the campaign started with the purpose of freeing the churches of debt. Rev. D. S. Hamilton, of the First Church, gave an address, which was received with pleasure. Mr. Hamilton movement from its inception, reviewing the work done and the success so far attained. After comparing the work accomplished by the London churches with those of other cities, and giving some very interesting facts regarding the campaign, he closed by heartily congratulating the church and wishing of God-speed in its future work. A few selections from the church male quartet were aceptably rendered. Highly entertaining and instructive was the address of Rev. P. C. Harris, of Guelph. Not only in the capacity of appreciated. Mr. Harris drew a vivid and graphic picture of the Bible story of Gideon, pointing out the apparent impossibility of the overthrow of the Midianites and the ultimate victory, which, by the intervention of Divine Power, was won by the brave three hundred. In applying this story to the jubilee fund, the speaker said, in the words of Rev. J. K. Unsworth: "At first it seemed to be an impossibility; later on it looked like an audacious under-taking, but lastly it seemed not only within the bounds of possibility, but very probable, that success crown our efforts." He warned his listeners against the sin of pride and the baleful consequences that must inevitably result from it. He exhorted them to keep humble, and concluded by expressing Ms conviction that, leaning on the omnipotent arm of the Almighty Congregationalism would soon be liberated from the burden of debt, and be better equipped to carry out its desired purpose, expressed in the jubilee motto. 'Free to Serve." There was no urging for subscriptions, but there were a few voluntary offerings, which considerably swelled the amount. Refreshments were then served and several votes of thanks The pastor, Rev. W. H. Claris, spoke briefly, after which the meeting was closed by singing the "Doxology."
