Organization Meeting Called by Employees at Parliament.

ployees at Parliament.

Toronto, April 18. Notices have been sent to the employees of the Ontario Government in the Parliament buildings, the education department and Osgoode Hall, notifying them of a meeting called for Friday afternoon at the Parliament buildings to discuss the advisability of organizing the Civil Service Association of Ontario.

Although there has been an association of the civil servants at Ottawa for some time, tids is the first step in that direction taken here. C. C. James, deputy minister of agriculture, is convenor of the committee, which has charge of the arrangements, and Frank Yelgh is one of the chief promoters.

The general character of the examination papers had been good, though an occasional question had been given which practically no candidates could solve.

The special course in Ontario high schools is much superior to those offered by German, English and Scotch continuation schools, according to Mr. G. M. Jones, who read a paper in the commercial section on "Engish for Commercial Classes." The reason was that it made good provision for instruction in English history and art.

ambitious scheme for a union station here and will take the matter up with the officials of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Northern. In view of the Canadian Northern changing its route through the city and buying a lot of north-end property the controllers favor a union station at the corner of Burton and James streets, with the entrance there and running back to Stuart street two blocks. Their idea is for the Grand Trunk to come in underground and the Canadiaa Northern above.
