"A republic without republicans," was the description given by some writer recently of the new Germany. The returned foreign visitor, who knew only Hohenzollern Germany, wandering like a Rip Van Winkle through the Berlin of 1921, at first emphatically indorses that description. He buttonholes those who have been in Berlin for a while, and pathetically begs for enlightenment. a word. Germans support the regime of Ebert and Wirth not so much because it is a republic as because it is not a monarchy. They have little or no conception of real democracy. But they do know something about a monarchial form of government; they have suffered a terrible disillusionment concerning it, and they don't want anything more to do with it, at least while their present mood lasts.

The New Way to End Corns

The Scientific Method

Easy, Gentle, Quick and Sure A famous chemist, some years ago, discovered a way to end corns. A surgical dressing house of world-wide repute adopted and produced it.

Millions of people use this instant relief and quickly rid themselves of throbbing corns.

The method is Blue-jay-liquid or plaster. One applies it by a touch. The pain stops instantly, and the whole corn quickly loosens and comes out. Old, harsh methods are supplanted by it. So with corn pads, so with paring. All such ways are folly.

Try Blue-jay on one corn now and see. You will be delighted. Your druggist has

The dilemma of Wirth and the rest of the republican leaders of Germany would be bad enough if it were merely the sequence of ordinary party politics. German party politics, as any observer knows, are enough to turn the hair grey and the brain soft overnight! There is a belief here that the monarchists will try some sort of coup before long, and that it will be more carefully prepared than the Kapp "Putsch," which came to such an ignominous end early last year. And there is a feeling that one of the prime movers in what-ever action of this kind the reactionaries may take will be Ludendorff. Now that the war is over it is becoming increas-ingly clear what tremendous power he wielded during the struggle; it is be-coming apparent how emphatically Lulendorff and not William Hohenzollern was the true ruler of Germany, an autocrat such as no Prussian monarch had ever dreamed of being. What more natural than that one of his imperious and dominating stamp should like to recover the power which the collapse of the empire snatched from his hands? All of which only makes the antimonarchists the more determined to keep Germany a republic. Monarchy, with a Ludendorff the real power behind the throne, would be the realization of their most terrifying nightmare

FOSTER URGES STUDENT INTEREST IN POLITICS

Addresses Large Gathering at Univer sity of Toronto.

TORONTO, Oct. 21 .- Sir George E. Foster, addressing a large body of students of the University of Toronto n Hart House today, said he appeared before the students as a politician, not as a partisan, there being a great difference between the two. The term 'politician' had come to be one of opprobrium, he said, yet the term 'politics' in its genesis and best sense is a synonym for all that is finest in human enterprises and activity."

Sir George urged the students to take an interest in public affairs, but deplored the strife of political parties.

"The older I grow," he said, "the more I realize that lack of co-operation between our political parties is reacting upon Canadian life socially, morally and spiritually in a hurtful manner." Sir George urged those of the students who had votes "to utilize them as wisely as possible," and added: "No one can go through life these days life and activ ignore public opinion The students gave Sir George Foster a hearty reception.
