A COMPARISON

When the Council of 1914 took office the tax rate stood at 22 mills. It raised it to 23 mills.

In 1915, it was increased to 24 mills. And when the legislators of 1916 assumed control of affairs, they advanced the rate to 26 mills. The ratepayers thus had to meet a growth of 3 mills in the rate in these years.

These were the earlier years of the war, when business was disarranged, when the future was dark and the ratepayers called upon to bear for the first time the rapidly increasing costs of living and national levies. With outside burdens, mounting in number and weight, they resented the increased municipal taxation and dismissed the council.

The Council of 1917 was pledged to economy. It succeeded in keeping the rate at 26 mills and having at the end of the year a surplus of $3700. Their success in doing so led to their being returned to office by acclamation.

In 1918, it exercised even greater economy and retained the rate at 26 mills. This in fact of unprecedented advances in the cost of labor, materials and supplies of half a million dollars worth.

It did more. It curtailed all public works that were not absolutely necessary. This means that the growth of the debt was checked and that the ratepayers will have less, in the future, to pay on improvement taxes. In a number of instances, where public improvements were made and did not mount into large sums, the principle of paying for them in the same year, was adopted and found favor. The principal debenture issues were for patriotic purposes.

Had the ratepayers not had an economical council, there is no question of what would have occurred. Had the city had a council such as held office earlier in the war, the taxpayers would have had to pay a higher rate.

All over the province, city councils, excepting in this city, increased their tax rates. Stratford advanced them 7 mills; Peterboro 8; Belleville 3; Brantford 5; St. Thomas 2.5; Windsor 4.5, and Hamilton 4 mills. An average of 4.8 mills.

To have increased our rate this year by as much as 4 mills would have meant an expenditure in round numbers of $48,000 more. The Council of 1918 then deserves credit for saving this or a similar sum to the taxpayers of the city.

The ratepayers strongly insisted, during the war years, on rigid economy. As a consequence, the municipality emerges in a strong financial position, with its credit high, and having only a moderate debenture debt.

What new conditions and perplexities 1919 may usher in cannot be foreseen but whatever they be, will they not be best met by a mayor and council pledged to economy?

old lumber king and ship owner, named Robert Dollar, who has been one of Uncle Sam's dollar-a-year men, helping make history. He has focused the attention of American business men upon the possibilities of trade in the Far East.

Before giving his views, it will be interesting to note that Mr. Dollar began his lumbering career in the Chaudiere district near Ottawa; cut logs on Georgian Bay; married a Canadian girl; followed the big timber to Michigan and thence to California.

There he found that in order best to sell his lumber it was advantageous, when a market was to be found for it in China or Japan, to own ships. It naturally followed that after delivering a cargo of lumber, say in Shanghai, he should seek a return cargo rather than return in ballast to California. Gradually he became a big ship owner, with a valuable trade connection in China and Japan.

As an illustration of the esteem in which he is held both in his adopted country and China, he was recently entrusted with a transaction between the U.S. government and China, involving $32,000,000, and was not asked by either country to put up a bond. This was a tribute to his integrity.

In view of Mr. Dollar's opinions on Chinese and Japanese trade, and the circumstance that this Dominion is building a Canadian merchant marine, his statement of possibilities will at this time prove interesting. In the current issue of the American Magazine he says in an interview: "Great Britain has no fewer than thirty-seven organizations getting ready to cope with after-the-war problems of every conceivable kind. Every nation in Europe is getting ready. We are the only nation that is lagging. We are doing practically nothing yet."

"Our own company, for one thing, is spending several hundreds of thousands of dollars in building new docks and other shipping facilities at one port alone in the Orient. We are also making extensive preparations at other Far Eastern points. Some of these facilities may not be actually needed for years, and they strike certain people as foolish, as a waste of money. True, the half mile of docks we are constructing at this place may seem unnecessary at this stage of world development, but we are laying broad foundations for the future. We know they will be needed, as a national asset, we know they will become immensely valuable, for correct reading of the history of the human race enables us to see what is coming. Always the nation that has the greatest fleet of ships has commanded first place in the world. And always the center of commerce moves westward. It is destined next to pass to the Pacific. America will have the greatest number of merchant ships ever possessed by any nation. Trade must be found for them. The greatest field in the whole world for commercial development is China, with its population equaling one third of the world's total inhabitants. The nations on the Pacific, notably America, China and Japan, are to become leading nations hereafter. That is why our company is laying plans for expansion at both sides of the Pacific."

F. S. Scott Addresses Shoe Manufacturers

DISCUSSES INDUSTRIAL ISSUES

The following report of a speech made by Mr. F. S. Scott, M.P., at a banquet in the Windsor hotel Montreal, following his election to the position of President of the newly organized Shoe Manufacturers' Association of Canada, appears in the current issue of the Shoe and Leather Journal.

Mr. Geo. A. Slater, proposed the toast of the new President of the Shoe Manufacturers' Association, Mr. F. S. Scott, M.P., which was honored with three cheers and a tiger, followed by the singing of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow." Mr. Scott responded with a speech which evidenced to those who heard it that the Association made a most judicious choice of executive had not made any mistake. His speech was a clear, masterly handling not only of industrial but of general economic questions, and at times that completely carried the audience off its feet. It was really the event not only of the evening, but of the year. He said, in part: "The Association had not been organized for profit but to enable the industry to take its place in the march of progress. It was prophetic of the people of Canada had determined to go on. The world was expecting great things from the Dominion of Canada and we had to live up to the reputation our men had made for us. We had great problems ahead of us. Problems that had never before confronted us. Canada had to raise more than three times its former revenue. There was no way to work harder we must increase our trade and if we are to maintain the industries of this country which for forty years have been its backbone we will have to be up and doing, for influences are already at work that mean the ending of all that has been accomplished in the forty years, unless they are met with determination. If it had not been for this denterful industry, we should have been able to take the part we have taken in the field or in war production. There has been too much silence and inaction on the part of the Dominion. It is time to be up and doing. The province of Quebec can do more than any other to stem this baneful tendency. All we ask for is to have the matter looked upon from the standpoint of the country as a whole and not from the narrow viewpoint of a section of the community. We were glad that a better understanding was promised amongst the shoe trade by the Shoe Manufacturers' Association of Canada. He believed that two thirds of the capital invested in the industry was of French origin. Speaker went on to say that already before the return of the men, there were whispers of industrial strife. It is inconceivable that in years to come we should be in a position to look back to the time when we were at peace and effort that have been made. He called for a square deal to the men - wages with a proper relation to the cost of living. He believed that two thirds of the capital should also stand for a square deal in service in production. But let us have more sympathy with the average man who returns from his army life more or less incapacitated mentally as well as physically for this work of construction. The motto for the days to come should be 'Get together'."

Following the address of President Scott came remarks of Senator G. D. Robertson, Dominion Minister of Labor who spoke of the plans of the Government for rehabilitating the soldier. He stated that they would need the utmost co-operation of manufacturers in carrying out these plans. Senator Beaulieu and others followed.

into its own; but it seems to me that it is up to the citizens of the City of Kitchener to rise and put on their civic political bosses in exactly the same position which the Autocrats of Europe have placed in to-day. The era which we are now passing through is the day when the workingman comes into his own, and its up to the workingman of this city to put men in the council who will give us better wages and shorter hours. We are to use two weeks before election, to get back into power. When we elected this council two years ago we were told to have a council who would restore harmony, conduct the affairs of the city in an economical way and in many other ways approach our ideals of a better city. It is up to you, in my opinion they have made a bad failure of most of the things they tackled. We have to-day a deficit of over $15,000 which will have to be borne by the workingman. We have a lawsuit still staring us in the face, which may not turn out quite as rosy as some of the aldermen try to make us believe. The real way to live is to do it our own fault, and you can't get around the fact that a state was selected two years ago, which has proven itself unable to live in any way, and you are to have a council who are to select a city council, who Mr. Workingman has brains enough and are conversant enough with public affairs to select a council who will do nothing but an insult to your ability, to have any clique cram this thing onto you again.

In looking over the list of names for aldermen you will find many men who have proven their ability in business, and still as workmen and if the future does not bring us a council who are going to carry on the great work of reconstruction, you will have to get young blood to grow with the situation.

Mr. Workingman, its up to you to get busy, put your thinking cap on, get rid of all bad influences and select a council for yourself when you go to the polls next year's day, and to you do that you can rest assured that we can still call this the best city in Canada. Thanking you, I beg to remain, Yours for better civic government, W.H. Gottfried.

Dec. 28th, 1918. To the Editor, Record: "Why not check the stores on New Year's Eve and give the clerks a chance to attend the Special Evening Services, held in the Churches, along with the rest of the people?" Signed, One in sympathy with the Clerks."

AN APPEAL TO THE ELECTORS To the Editor: I have been most seriously impressed by the conditions surrounding Municipal Affairs at present, and feel it my duty to issue a word of warning to the future, to use the franchise with supreme caution in this critical time. We hear much about peace and harmony and cooperation from the opponents of the council of 1917 and 1918. Let me ask: Why were the people who created the discord and disharmony in this city? And who are so solicitous for its welfare now? Was it the men who started the agitation to change the name, or those who pleaded to postpone it till after the war? Was it cooperation or coercion they used to accomplish their ends? Who were the people who shouted Pro-German at all who failed to see eye to eye with them and who were so misguided that they failed to realize that the city was first settled

Influenza Still Claiming Victims By the Thousands

Epidemic Breaking out Anew From One End of Country to The Other.

Warning to the country that the influenza epidemic is by no means ended and that all possible precautions again at the disease should be taken has just been issued by the public health authorities at Washington.

Late reports show that the disease is breaking out anew in its very worst form from practically one end of the country to the other. Already there have been over 300,000 deaths from the disease and one prominent health official predicts that there will possibly be 700,000 deaths in this country next year from influenza and the ailments which follow it. The disease has been very baffling to the medical profession and health authorities frankly admit that ordinary preventive measures such as wearing of masks and closing public places seem of little avail.

Persons who are weak and rundown, and who have not the strength to throw off the influenza germ, are the earliest victims. Those who catch colds easily or who are suffering from influenza troubles are also early victims, as the inflamed nucleus membrane linings of the nose and throat are an open door to the germs. If you are suffering from any of these symptoms, nothing will build you up and fortify your system against attack like Tanlae, which contains the most powerful tonic properties known to science. This statement is easily proven by the fact that this celebrated medicine is now having the greatest sale of any system tonic in the history of medicine. It has been accomplishing remarkable results during the present epidemic and hundreds of thousands who have used it are enjoying the best of health. One prominent physician in Texas frankly stated that he had found Tanlae the finest tonic to be had for building up his patients who had had influenza.

Actual experience has shown that the best way to keep from taking influenza is to keep your system in good shape as it is a well known fact that it can throw off almost any infection, not even excepting Spanish influenza, which is one of the most contagious diseases known.

Tanlae increases your strength and weight and creates a good, healthy habit of living. It keeps you physically fit and makes you strong, vigorous and well, and in this way fortifies you against deadly disease germs in connection with the Tanlae treatment, be sure to keep the bowels open by taking Tanlae Laxative Tablets.

Tanlae is sold in Kitchener by E.O. Ritz & Co., in Galt by R.W. Meikleham, in Hespeler by Jno. R. Phin in New Hamburg by W.H. Boulton in Milburn by R.B. Hamilton in West Montrose by J.C. Rishel, in C. & Co., in Preston by H.L. Friek, in Waterloo by A.B. Learn, in Doon by L.C. Bullock.

By people who underwent all the hardships of pioneer life to escape the persecution of militarism, and in order to have freedom and peace in this country. People whose intellectual faculties were sufficiently developed to anticipate the conditions facing us to-day. People who are just as generous and law abiding, more so in fact, than those who have shouted themselves hoarse, to manifest their loyalty.

Before the war these people by their industry and integrity had placed themselves on record as having the best city "in its size," in Canada, and were so heralded by the very men who have caused the discord within the city.

We reap what we sow. Yet we find these men seeking to secure peace without a harvest and thrashing, in order to separate the chaff from the wheat.

Mr. Elector remember you are the man with the Flail to do the Threshing. Do you want Chaff or Wheat. The city as a people ask your verdict, and trust you to do your work WELL.

Do not allow Coercion as we had last year before the Dominion election, to lull you into voting for the Young Man's Party, men who are striving to get a snap judgment at a critical period. Have any of the young men manifested any real desire for peace and harmony? If they had done so the old Council would have appreciated their assistance in some of the trying times through which it passed.

I, therefore, ask the electors to act with mature thought and best judgment and the city will accept your verdict with the assurance that your verdict means your own individual welfare. The war is ended only in so far as we accommodate ourselves to the new obligations we have to assume.

Democracy, to be real, requires your cooperation in every station in life. Life, did you ever stop to think what it means, the great blessing it has in store for you, or the misery and grief in proportion as you use your knowledge of its principles. Most sincerely yours, Wilson Her.

OBITUARY MRS. ANNA BELLA GOFTON Registering the death of Mrs. Anna Bella Gofton, wife of Mr. Roger Gofton, which occurred suddenly Friday evening, the deceased lady was proceeding to the King Street Baptist Church in company with Mr. and Mrs. Plumb, and when opposite the home of Mr. A. Lang, she was overcome with a heart attack and collapsed.

Dr. Honsberger was called, and her husband, Mr. R. Gofton, whom the party had left at the home of Joseph Street, but the deceased lady had expired three minutes after their arrival.

A Threat to Hamilton. The Board of Control of Hamilton received a communication from the Fire Underwriters' Association, which stated that unless the Fire Department was increased to a strength of at least 150 men, the insurance rates in this city would be increased. The city intends to inaugurate the two-platoon system, which will mean an increase in the strength from about 80 to 125 men, and the board thinks the Chief of the Fire Department is best qualified to know the city's needs. This latest demand of the underwriters is regarded as a hold-up and the city will put up a fight against a further increase in rates.
