Farmers Returning Home Mistake Open Water for Glare Ice—Drowned.

LAKEFIELD, Ont., Feb. 16.—Last night Arch Johnson with his wife and two children and a farmer named Murphy, all residing in Harvey about ten miles north of this, were returning home in their sleigh and attempted to cross Buckhorn lake on the ice. Having crossed in the morning they had no doubts as to the safety in returning. The night was dark and as they were driving to what they thought glare ice it proved to be open water. Murphy was drowned. Johnson, who is a good swimmer, succeeded in saving his wife and two children. Johnston's horses were both lost.

That municipal assistance would never have been given had it been known that the Northern would eventually acquire the Northern would eventually acquire the road, and thus have three avenues to worry them where before they had only one;
That respect should be paid to the legislation of a year ago declaring that the T. G. & B. could amalgamate with the G. T. R., but that it could not amalgamate with any other road without the consent of the governor-in-council:

thumb of the Northern without bowing down further;

That the wishes of a quarter million people directly interested should be respected before the interests of a number of speculators who had bought bonds in the road after the agreement with the G. T. R. had been entered into;

And that lastly, that agreement entered into between the then T. G. & B. directors and the Grand Trunk should be carried out.

Mr. Mowat said he could always gain a better knowledge of a case by hearing the people themselves than through documents; that the government had no intention of rejecting the legislation of last session, permitting amalgamation with the G.
