

Fore wings of male ash colored or brownish gray, the whitish spot found on the fore wings of pometaria wanting.

The whitish bands found on the fore wings of pometaria are wanting, but there is a jagged, submarginal white band on the upper side of the fore wings in most specimens.

Three interrupted dusky lines across the fore wings, instead of two lines as in pometaria; sometimes these lines are only indicated by dark spots on the costa and by blackish dashes at the crossing of the median nervure.

There is an oblique black dash near the tip of the fore wings, also a distinct, nearly uniform, continuous black line before the fringe.

The white band found on the hind wings of pometaria is wanting.

Abdomen of the female terminating in a retractile ovipositor rather acutely tapering behind.

Body and legs of the female clothed with whitish and dark brown dentate scales; general coloration not uniform; a black, dorsal, longitudinal, interrupted band on the abdomen; a whitish patch on each side of the beginning of the band; the spines often give a reddish tinge to the part they occupy.

Fore wings of male ash colored, with a distinct whitish spot on the front edge near the tip.

Forewings crossed by two whitish jagged bands; the outermost band has an angle near the front edge; the whitish bands are sometimes obsolete, in which case only the whitish spot remains.

Along the sides of the whitish bands there are several blackish dots, each on a nervule, and all generally connected together by a dusky band which includes them.

Within the angle of the outermost whitish band, near the front edge, there is a short, faint, blackish line, and there is a marginal row of black dots before the fringe.

In most specimens a curved white discal band extending across the hind wings.

Abdomen of the female without ovipositor, terminating bluntly.

Body and legs of the female smooth, clothed with glistening brown and white truncate scales intermixed, giving the body the appearance of uniform shining, dark ash color above, and gray beneath.
