

4. If the offence for which extradition is requested has been committed outside the territory of the Requesting State, extradition shall be granted if the person whose extradition is requested is a national of the Requesting State. If the person whose extradition is requested in respect of such an offence is not a national of the Requesting State, the Requested State may, in its discretion, grant extradition.

5. For the purpose of this Article:

(a) an offence shall be an extraditable offence whether or not the laws of the Contracting States place the offence within the same category or denominate the offence by different terminology;

(b) the totality of the acts or omissions alleged against the person whose extradition is requested shall be taken into account in determining whether the conduct would amount to an extraditable offence in the Requested State.

6. Extradition may be granted irrespective of when the offence in relation to which extradition is requested was committed, provided that the conduct:
