

Policy Recommendations from

Conclusion

Canada should develop a multi-pronged approach to its Africa relations. Canada's Africa policies should focus on the needs of ordinary Africans. The National Forum highlighted a desire for a highly-developed, multi-disciplinary capacity building effort to strengthen aid and development efforts, strengthen regional security and create a favourable investment climate. National Forum participants also emphasized the role of African and Canadian civil society in policy development and Canada-Africa relations.

