

proportion to the charges on each.

How the aid
shall be applied :

ories to which this Act extends,) giving to each an equal per centage on the total amount of the constituted rents established by the schedule of each such seignior, after deducting the value of the Crown's rights therein ; And the sum as apportioned to each seignior shall be applied by the Receiver General in the following order, which shall be the order of charges thereon :

To redemption
of commutation
money of lods
et rentes ;

1st. To the redemption of so much of the said rentes constituées representing the lods et rentes or other mutation fines in the seignior as may remain after the reduction made by the application of the value of the Crown's rights as aforesaid, by an equal per centage of reduction on such remaining rentes in each case ;

Of banality ;

2dly. To the redemption of the rentes constituées representing the banality in the seignior, by an equal per centage of reduction on each such rente ;

Of cens et
rentes exceeding 1*l.* per
arpent ;

3dly. To the redemption of the rentes constituées representing the cens et rentes and other charges on lands held for agricultural purposes in the seignior, by an equal per centage of reduction on each such rente constituée, exceeding the rate of one penny half penny per annum, per arpent ;

Reduction of rente in any case ;

4. The reduction of such rentes constituées shall always be in proportion to the capital sum applied to effect such reduction, the reduction being equal to the legal interest of such capital ;

Sum apportioned to belong to the Seigniors.

5. The sums so apportioned for each seignior shall belong to the Seignior thereof, subject always to the right of the Seignior dominant, and shall be dealt with in every respect, as moneys paid in redemption of the rentes constituées mentioned in the schedule of such seignior, subject to the special provisions hereinafter made.