

house, garden-ground, and medical attendance, free of charge.

5. Those emigrants who are unable to take their families with them, and wish to provide for their maintenance, may allot to them 1 or 2 dollars out of their monthly wages of 4 dollars, which allotment shall be paid monthly to them by the emigration at Canton; the remaining portion of the wage—namely, 2 or 3 dollars, as the case may be, being received by the labourer himself in the colony. On the other hand, those emigrants who wish to be accompanied by their families, may take them with them, free of charge; and a gift of 20 dollars to the wife, and 5 dollars to each child, shall moreover be paid to enable them to provide extra comforts for the passage. The women will be unfettered by any engagement whatsoever, being entirely free either to work or accept service, or to attend solely to their household duties, as their own wants or inclinations may determine. Families will in all cases live together, and provision will be made for the gratuitous education of the children.

6. In order that the emigrants may have the means of constant communication with their families or friends, their letters may at all times be forwarded, free of expense, through the Government, from the colonies to Kwang-tung, and through the emigration agent from Kwang-tung to the colonies, by the usual bi-monthly mail steamers.
