TEST OF CHARACTER

Is World-Wide Competition, New Yorker Declares at Convocation Hall.

The realization of our divine parentage was forced home by Prof. W. A. Brown of the Union Seminary, New York, in his sermon to Varsity students in Convocation Hall yesterday morning. Since God was the Father, all human beings were related to Him and to each other, and it was worth while to strive for them in an endeavor to bring them into the kingdom. The speaker declared that if the world could only come to a realization of the divine relations and of their relation to each other, all the horrid injustice and cruel bloodshed which had been attending the war which was recently troubling Europe would have been avoided.

been attending the war which was recently troubling Europe would have been avoided.

"If the realization could only come to men that they should carry their religion with them into their business life, the spirit of brotherhood would completely alter the spirit of brotherhood would completely alter the spirit of greed and lust of gold which is a factor only too common.

The Heart of the Faith.

"After this manner say ye, Our Father which is in Heaven." These words sum up in briefest compass the very heart of the Christian faith. When the ever present question comes to us, 'Who made me? Who controls me? Who directs me? We are taught by Christ to answer, 'Our Father.' This is challenged from within and from without. Sometimes this challenge arises in the language of the university, sometimes in the realm of business and statecraft when men act as the there was no law but that of self.

Prof. Brown enlarged on the great movement of democracy which was influencing the world even as far as the remotest east. If the world was formed for the making of men it was not strange that we should find in it so much of danger, strife and temptation, as it was by coming in contact with those that character was formed, and was tested. We were not able to imagine Paul without his blindness. Lincoln without his thorn in the flesh, Mitton without his face, or Christ without his cross.

Long Island Family Startled by Her Jumping From Couch, Leaving Crutches Behind.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Early last Christmas morning fourteen-year-old Helen Scott of 43 Puntine street, Ja-maica. L.I., dreamed she could walk alone, which she had not been able to do since Jan. 29, 1912. When the girl awoke a moment later, with a cry of mingled terror and delight, she was standing in the middle of the floor. By the head of the bed lay the crutches without which she had not been able to move for fourteen months.

Mrs. James A. Scott, her mother, heard in the adjoining room the clatter of the falling crutches, and ran in thinking Helen had fallen from her bed When she realized the truth, Mrs.

"I knew you could walk, Helen, if you only had confidence enough in yourself. Walk into the next room and show your father.' And Helen did. The reliance that had come to her in her dream rein the oil. Stir slowly, always in one direction, until the mixture is like butter. Add a little of the vinegar and lemon until it is thin. Resume working in the oil and at this time add one-half the salt. When it gets thick again add more vinegar and continue in this way until all the ingredients are in.

Lemon is used with the vinegar, as it makes a whiter dressing. Omit it if a dark-colored mayonnaise is desired.

Should the dressing curdle or separate, it can be reunited with butter. Melt three tablespoons of butter and cool it in a round-bottomed bowl.

When quite cold stir the separated mayonnaise into it a spoonful at a time and it will return to its original consistency.

There is no probability of mayonnaise breaking or curdling if the stirring is all in one direction and the oil and vinegar quite cold.

The mechanical mixers are good investments, as they last a lifetime and insure proper mixing. These devices consist of the bowl with an aluminum funnel attached to hold the oil. This is arranged so that it falls into the eggs one drop at a time. On the opposite side is a handle attached to a flywheel and this turns fast or slowly as you wish. This leaves the other hand free to add the seasonings and the vinegar. These mixers may also be used for heating eggs and whipping cream.

Immodesty of Fashions.

In a reference to modern women's dress, Mgr. Bruchesi says: "The most elementary rudiments of decency appear to be completely forgotten. The immodesty of feminine dress is becoming more and more marked. Women and young stris cheerfully become fashion's slaves. Do they think of the sins which they give, and of the sins which they expose themselves to make others commit?"

Care of the Teeth

When should a child's teeth begin to eceive attention? Several weeks beore he is born. I know it is surprising o many mothers to learn that by attention to their own diet and diges-tion they start properly the growth of of all the year, to put on our thinking baby's teeth-not only his first set but caps and decide, if we have not already the permanent set. Many mothers do not realize the importance of looking after the first eeth. They think that these disappear anyway, and that, therefore, they do not require to be cared for.

The first set of teeth, the milk teeth. The first set of teeth, the milk teeth, as they are called, last for some six years, and then during the next half dozen years or so they are gradually replaced by the teeth of the second set, When it is understood that the condition of the first teeth affects the permanent ones it will be seen how necessary it is to guard the milk set. While the milk teeth are in the mouth, the second teeth are there too, underneath the others, the first set being displaced by the growth of the permanent teeth, and falling out as their successors are more fully developed. Should there be decay in any of the first teeth it may reach down into the corresponding one of the pass. The transposal.

Mayonnaise—Yolks of four eggs, one quart of salad oil, or olive oil, two tablespoons each of lemon juice and vinegar, two teaspoons each of mustard and salt and a generous pinch of red pepper.

Perfect mayonnaise does not depend upon the ingredients any more than it does upon the method of mixing them, so work as follows: Chill all the materials and the mixing bowl. This last must be porcelain or crockery and the fork must be silver or of wood. No tin can come in contact with any mixture containing vinegar.

Break the eggs and put the yolks into the bowl, stir them until they are slightly mixed, add all the seasoning except the salt and begin working in the oil. Stir slowly, always in one direction, until the mixture is like butter.

This describes the tango as "bad and scandalous," and absolutely forbids it. "A certain dance has invaded our society," says the letter. "I do not know its origin, but it has spread over the whole world with incredible rapidity. Unquestionably its author is the spirit of evil.
