

Lawrence, like the mouths of three rivers, and hence the name.

RICHELIEU RAPIDS are half way from Three Rivers to Quebec. The St. Lawrence is here about two miles wide, with a rocky shore, and the rapids extend about 9 miles. Steamboats pass these rapids without difficulty or danger, but other vessels can ascend them only by taking advantage of the tide or by being towed up by steam boats.

Sillery Cove, noted for the last battle between the English and French, which completed the conquest of Canada in 1759, and Wolfe's Cove, where Wolfe landed and drew his cannon up the precipice, are passed just before reaching Quebec, as is also Cape Diamond, at the base of which the gallant Montgomery was killed on the 31st of December 1775.

Between Montreal and Quebec there are three regular lines of Steamboats, generally well fitted with State Rooms and Cabins. Travellers will find them at all times in good order, with intelligent and obliging Captains, and Clerks and Stewards that understand and perform their several duties. The Captains and Pilots are men of experience; and in no part of the world have fewer accidents occurred to Steamboats than on this River. No
