TORONTO FRANCHISES. Sir Henry Pellatt is full to overflowng with protests against what he holds to be invasion of private rights-he never has anything to say about the injury inflicted on public rights by the manipulation of public service companies. One would imagine, to read his effusions that the only class of investors worthy of consideration are those who buy bonus common stock from the promoters and financial agents who get it for nothing. This is perhaps natural from his point of view, but it is not
