DRILL AND DANCES BY GIRL GUIDES

Hundreds Assembled at Casa Loma to See "March Past and Review."

Girl Guides at Casa Loma achieved the exceptional last night when they presented a postponed program and made it come with a swing that it is doubtful could have been surpassed if the numbers had been put on at schedule time last Saturday. Rain and very uncertain conditions of sun-drenched air caused many of the troops to disperse, and it was whispered about the grounds that even some of the captains and officers were amongst the delinquents who failed to put in an appearance, but in spite of many drawbacks the drills and dances came off with flying colors, under the alert management of Miss Margaret Bred and Miss May Bloomer.

At 7:30 several hundreds had assembled on the lawn and broad verandahs of Casa Loma, where large arc lights, aided by the moon, threw a silvery tinge over the green, velvety grass, and made the turrets of the house loom large in the darker spaces above. The band of the Queen's Own unfolded the proceedings with patriotic airs, and out from the castle came the ranks of the guides in the "march past and review." They made a brave showing, headed by the masses of company of standard-bearers carrying the banners of the allies. Then followed the platoons, each headed by its own captain and flag. Lady Pellett, Mrs. F. H. Torrington, Sir Henry Pellatt and other officers to "receive the salute" as the companies filed past, and many a company of mature soldiers would have envied the precision with which the girls in white went thru their exercises.

Folk dances. Then like fairies rising from the earth came the "white middie" skipping lightly in a group of English folk dances, and forming intricate figures and transformations in the more stately exercise of the "grand march." Days gone by were recalled by the appearance of the quaint costumes of the minuet, and the feature of the evening came when four sections of the Guide appeared in the belt everyone bearing the pole headed with flowers and strung with ribbons.

DOMINION DAY TO BE MEMORABLE ONE

Toronto Will Have Large Military Parade to Commemorate Confederation.

Camp Borden, June 26.—With aeroplanes circling overhead and the peacocking machine gun by the hundred in the parade, the fiftieth anniversary of the birth of the Dominion will be celebrated in Toronto Monday, July 2, and will be one to live long in the memory.

Major-General Leslie has arranged with Col. Hoare, of the Royal Flying Corps, for a squadron of 12 planes, or two "Fights" of six planes, to fly over the route taken by the troops during the parade, and over the exhibition grounds afterwards. Not will it be only in the air that the Royal Flying Corps will be represented, a large detachment will head the parade.

The N. C. O.'s class from the B. F. and P. T. school, Camp Borden, whose drill is the clockwork, will be brought down to the city for the parade, as will 100 machine guns with their crews, being a portion of the equipment at the machine gun school, Camp Borden.

In addition to the militia units, which will be out in full force, the depot of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, 10th Regiment, will be in the parade. There will be the governor-general's bodyguard, 5th Hussars, 2nd Grenadier Coys., 10th Royal Grenadiers, 48th Highlanders, 109th Regiment, 110th Regiment, the overseas training company of the 10th Regiment, the service battalions of the above militia units, and details of auxiliary engineers, army service corps, medical units, etc.

About 6,000 of all branches of the services are expected to be in the parade, which will form up on University Avenue at 10 a.m. on the exhibition grounds, from which the review and march will take place, the salute being taken by Major-General Hoare. The hour of the parade will probably be 10:30 a.m. and in the afternoon, if arrangements for transportation with the railway company, all the men who are sufficiently advanced in their training will be taken to the ranges for their class firing.

Preparations Elsewhere. At Hamilton about 2,500 men will be in line, including the Canadian Mounted Rifles, 2nd Regiment, Artillery, A.S.C. and medical units, and the 13th Royal Regiment and 51st Highlanders. Similar parades are being arranged at Brantford by Col. Howard of 28th Regiment, and at St. Catharines by Col. Trail of the 10th Regiment.

At Niagara Falls, Col. Turnbull of the Welland Canal Field Force, will be in addition to his own men and the 44th Regiment, the Carleton Place Cadets of Niagara Falls, N.Y., will take part in demonstration.

At St. Catharines, Col. Wilson is arranging a parade of his own regiment, the 51st, and the 50th Canal Guard. Altogether about 10,000 men, exclusive of the Royal Flying Corps, will participate in the various parades. At Camp Borden, the salute will be observed as a half holiday. There will be no training in the afternoon, and visitors will be admitted to the exhibition grounds, to which all the soldiers and visitors in camp are invited, Camp Hoare being thrown wide open to the public.

At Camp Borden, the program of sports for Camp Borden will be drawn up, but which will take place in the evening, will be pulled off as usual.

Longer will the free-handed soldier look like a young Christmas tree on tag days of the previous year. The occasion, flags, rosettes, etc., conspicuously on uniform, headquarters has decreed to be "most unsoldierly" and will not be permitted. Commanding officers have been instructed to inform their men of the Army Council's decision, and to see that the jacket pocket, where it can be shown if necessary.

At the Camp Debating Society this evening, the subject under discussion was whether or not after the conclusion of hostilities Germany should be treated as a hostile nation. The leader of the affirmative was Mr. Beaumont, and of the negative Mr. Green.

RUSSIA WILL FIGHT TILL WORLD IS SAFE

Liberated Army and People Will Make No Separate Peace.

By a Staff Reporter. St. Petersburg, June 26.—In another stirring address today at the capital Ambassador Bakmetiev, head of Russia's special mission, gave a solemn pledge that the Russian people and army, "convinced that a separate peace would mean the triumph of German autocracy, are prepared to fight on beside America until the world has been made safe for democracy."

The ambassador spoke before the senate and was given a reception almost as enthusiastic as that accorded him Saturday in the house. On no previous occasion since the war had he been so completely aside. At the conclusion of the address a resolution was adopted by unanimous consent, expressing the senate's gratification over the stand of the newest democracy.

"Russia rejects with indignation any idea of separate peace," said the envoy. "Striving for a lasting peace based on democratic principles established by democratic means, the Russian people and army are rallying their forces around the banners of freedom. Russia wants the world to be safe for democracy. To make safe means to have democracy rule the world."

Many of the rumors of internal dissension in Russia, Mr. Bakmetiev said, are the result of a misunderstanding of the great change taking place in the whole fabric of the government to transform it to democratic standards. He pleaded for patience and confidence that these changes, altho they might take time, would be worked out successfully in the future.

Tonight the ambassador and other members of the Russian mission were given a reception by President Wilson at the White House.

Along with two other Canadians, Edwards made his first attempt to leave Germany in the month of January. They were successful in getting a border town when they were spotted by the patrol and marched back to camp. After undergoing many days in the cells they were taken to a working camp. From there they once more tried to make good their escape, and were caught at the Holland border.

Many months later they were working on a farm, and in the evening, while supper was being served, made good their escape, and after many days in the open landed safely in Holland. They were warmly received by the Hollanders, and after being taken to the British consular office at Rotterdam were sent to the records office at London, where Edwards was informed that he had been reported killed in action.

VENIZELOS TO PROPOSE JOINING THE ENTENTE. London, June 26.—A despatch to The Times from Athens says that as soon as parliament is convoked, M. Venizelos will probably propose to the deputies that Greece join the allies. He does not intend, however, to mobilize the nation against its will. He is expected first to undertake a great campaign explaining to the people the various interests are bound up in the entente cause.

If this mission is successful he will be able in about three months to put the entire forces of Greece into the balance.

A despatch to The Times from Athens says French troops yesterday entered Athens and occupied several points in the city.

Lightning hit the barn of John Gray, 4, Chatham Township, but a bucket of water was able to extinguish the fire which followed before much damage had been caused. The subway of the C. W. & L. E. Railway, at the Michigan Central crossing at Charing Cross, was flooded this morning, and traffic was suspended until noon. Reports from the country state that many of the drains are overflowing and the roads submerged in many places as a result of heavy rains.

HOW HE ESCAPED FROM HUN PRISON

Sergt. F. E. Edwards of "Patricias" Addresses Victoria Church Congregation.

Interesting stories of life in the front line trenches during the first months of the war and of the hardships which the entente allied soldiers underwent when taken prisoners in the German camps, were told the members of the congregation of Victoria Presbyterian Church last night by Sergeant Francis Edwards, Edwards is one of the very few surviving members of the original Princess Patricia Light Infantry and after being wounded twice and taken prisoner by the Hun, was successful in escaping from Germany and landing back home safely on Canadian soil.

It was not until he had made two unsuccessful attempts to escape into the woods that the veteran finally made good his escape.

In describing the conditions which the soldiers found themselves in when the first troops landed in France, he said that they did not have their trenches in as good condition for living in then as the Germans, owing to lack of material. They were in water up to their waists most of the time and had to fight in the day time and make sand bags for trenches at night. During the battle of St. Eloi, the regiment came under a heavy German artillery fire and Edwards was wounded and taken to the base. Many days later he returned to join his unit, which had been sent to the Ypres front. It was there that the battalion was badly cut up and he along with a number of others was captured.

Referring to Prussian atrocities, he told of being lined up with a number of other prisoners against a wall to be shot. One of a party of sixteen was shot in the back of the head and died from loss of blood. The officer in charge after killing two men, decided to send the wounded men on to Germany. They were given two days without food or water, and when they were marched through the street to the Giessem camp, civilians turned out and spit in the soldiers' faces.

Living conditions were very hard for the prisoners, he said, until parcels containing food and tobacco were received from the British Red Cross Society. The Giessem camp, he said, there were 10,000 prisoners quartered, chiefly French, Russian and very few Canadian, who were kept in the open air, and were given a loaf of black bread and some water.

Efforts to Escape. Along with two other Canadians, Edwards made his first attempt to leave Germany in the month of January. They were successful in getting a border town when they were spotted by the patrol and marched back to camp. After undergoing many days in the cells they were taken to a working camp. From there they once more tried to make good their escape, and were caught at the Holland border.
