LETTER SENT HIM IN JANUARY JUST ARRIVES

Harold Duplisa of Princess Pats Heard From By Brother

Word has been received from Harold Duplisa of the Princess Pats by his brother, Wm. Duplisa of Fairville, stating that one letter sent by his brother in January reached him only the other day, while several parcels containing tobacco, gum, candy, etc., have gone astray.

Duplisa is an excellent shot and mentions that he is taking his toll with considerable frequency. Having been in hospital on three successive occasions he naturally has no love for the German foe and is doing his utmost to loosen their numbers so far as one rifle will permit.

Believing that mail from the front is also likely delayed he mentions Rudolf McKiel's death.

PYTHIANS WILL DECORATE GRAVES

Thursday afternoon, Aug. 26, New Brunswick Lodge, No. 1, Union Lodge No. 2 and St. John Lodge No. 80 as well as Victoria and Cygnus Companies Uniform Ranks of Knights of Pythias will hold their annual decoration day and place flowers and Pythian emblems upon the graves of their brothers in Fernhill, Church of England Burying Ground, Cedar Hill, Methodist Burying Ground and other cemeteries in the province.

The occasion will be marked with the usual splendid display of flowers and regalia and music will be furnished by military bands. In Fernhill at the conclusion of the decorating, memorial services will be gone through with, consisting of hymns, oration, prayer, etc. The knights are bending every effort to assure themselves of a sufficient supply of garden flowers as there will be need of close upon 1,200 bouquets.

BIRTHS AND MARRIAGES
Registrar Jones reports fifteen births, eight boys and seven girls, and fourteen marriages during the last week.

HE WINS $25.
The shoe-manufacturing firm of Getty & Scott, Ltd., of Galt, Ontario, some time ago advertised for suggestions for the name of a new line of women's shoes. Among the responses sent in was one from R. J. Walsh, of Waterbury & Rising, Ltd., proposing the name "Bernice." This morning he was pleased to receive a reply informing him that all the names suggested his met with most favor. A check for $25 was enclosed.

The Man In The Street

One swallow doesn't make a summer. Neither does one band concert.

But of course if starting late in the summer saves part of the $1,000 appropriated for concerts, it would mean so much more for street work.

And though the summer's going fast the end-september still lingers in the open cars.

Isn't there satisfaction, though, in tramping on his newest shine?

In Our Letter Box
To The Man in the Street,
Dear Sir:
"Do you know if there are a few spare boards loose in some of the departments at City Hall? If there are they could be used to excellent advantage in Indiantown in a little repair work upon the public steps. What repairs have been made are too much of a patch-work nature, with a stumbling board at the very top of the stairs conveniently elevated so that too great an effort will not be necessary if one wants to take a tumble. Tell visitors, tourists and strangers to the stairs not to get "flipped" but to "watch your step." The best way to run no one on the steps is to go by another street.

"Yours faithfully,
"TUMBLER."

Don't Pull-It Again, Though

Had they had chickens in their possession, they would probably have been more afraid of their wifes than of the police.

The city yesterday voted $500 for work which apparently belongs to the Dominion Department of Police. Let it not be said again that our civic treasury is getting low.

NEW PLAN TO SWELL THE FUND

Make Souvenirs From Pieces Of Suspension Bridge

SUGGESTION WORTH WHILE

Money Could Thus be Secured For the Patriotic Fund, Which is Becoming Depleted—Sentimental Feature as Well

The Times has been furnished with a suggestion along patriotic lines which contains the additional merit of appealing to local sentiment and a still further quality which brings into mind more than two generations of St. John history.

The suggestion is this—That instead of having the wood and metal materials of the old Suspension Bridge burned up as kindling and converted into junk, that the best portions of it be divided into small pieces suitable as souvenirs and sold throughout the city in aid of the Patriotic Fund.

It is not difficult for any citizen of St. John to see the merit of this idea. In the first place, the Suspension Bridge is the city's most notable landmark. The younger generation opening to other passenger bridge across the falls, and few older residents remain who can recall to mind the bridge that preceded it. It has therefore been wrapped up in the life of this city and its people, roughly speaking as long as St. John can remember.

This faithful old structure—a memento of the safe and honest building of old-time workmen, and a monument to the methods of construction—has been a connecting link for many millions of foot passengers, horse travelers, and of late years automobilists. There is really no way in which its usefulness as a bridge can be computed in numbers of people or tons of freight. Man a plank flooring has been worn out and scores of times has the structure been overhauled and repaired, while its capital supports of masonry and cables have stood the test of decades.

What takes the old Suspension Bridge could tell would fill a large book. Beginning with its troublesome construction, it has weathered the fiercest storms that have ravaged this territory. It has looked down upon numerous river tragedies, has welcomed the sight-seeing visitors, transported big caravans, notably the Barnum & Bailey's circus with its wonderful "Jumbo" elephant; stood the rush of refugees at the time of the great fire in 1877, and in every phase of St. John's existence for a Bible lifetime has the old white bridge been a participating factor.

Should not this kind of sentiment, mixed as it is with history, be sufficient appeal to the people of St. John to make the sale of souvenirs a generous source of reimbursement to the Patriotic Fund, so rapidly dwindling as the war progresses? The Times thinks well of this suggestion, that the historic Suspension Bridge, which has served this country and its people for so many years, should be sold in a burst of glory in further serving its country and its flag in being cut up into cherished mementoes which an appreciative public would doubtless gladly purchase.

This paper lends out this idea as it received it from a citizen. No doubt there are plenty of energetic bodies of young people in town who could prevail upon the proper authorities to have a section of the bridge sufficiently large to carry out this project. It seems impossible that any business concern would refuse to handle these properly labeled mementoes over the heads of the boys who are risked their lives to keep Canada British.

SOLDIER BOYS WANT TO HEAR FROM HOME LAND

Three Canadians Use Magazine in Request—Fairville Man Reads and Complies

A gentleman in Fairville was surprised this week on opening an English magazine recently to hand to find the names and addresses of three soldier boys now in England, and underneath a written request that if the person who read the magazine wished to do a kindness he had only to drop a post card to the undersigned, who were not receiving mail regularly and would like to hear from a Canadian. One of the soldiers was a corporal in an infantry regiment; another belonged to a cycle corps and the third a wireless operator. This three branches of the service were represented. Needless to say the owner of the magazine at once sent postcards in response to the request.

FOR RED CROSS

A garden party and sale is being held today at the summer residence of F. S. Thomas, Morna, in aid of the Red Cross fund.

Advertising to Save Life

An eastern railroad is using newspaper advertising to cut down accidents.

Its lines have many grade crossings over roads much frequented by automobilists.

In years past these crossings have been the scene of some serious disasters.

The newspaper advertising is especially directed to automobilists and it impresses on them the need of care.

It shows that this railroad believes automobilists read newspapers.

It also believes it will cut down its item of damages to a figure that will make the advertising profitable.

If you have a message the newspaper's advertising columns is the place to put it.
