MARVELS OF BRAIN SURGERY

Strides of Science—Savant Told British Medical Association of Operations That Save Lives and Cure Criminals.

In his recent presidential address to the British Medical Association in London, Sir William MacEwen told of an operation performed by himself on a man suffering from an abscess on the brain.

The patient collapsed, and artificial respiration had to be carried on while the brain was opened and the pus removed. Suddenly the man, who for long minutes had been trembling on the brink of the grave, woke up.

"What's all this fuss about?" he remarked pettishly.

Operations on the brain will make the blind to see, the lame to walk, and will restore other lost faculties.

Time was, and not so long ago, when a bullet in the brain meant certain death. Today there are scores of men alive and well, who have been shot through the head.

A certain man was suffering from brain disease, and X-ray examination showed that a portion of the brain was actually decayed. The patient was in a state of coma.

The doctor in charge of the case decided to procure the brain of another patient and transplant a portion of it to replace the diseased portion.

New Result

That day a child born in one of the hospital wards died. Its brain was at once removed. The back of the man's skull was then removed, the diseased portion of his brain cut away and replaced by a part of the infant's brain. Then the section of the skull was replaced. A week later the patient was rapidly improving!

Sometimes brain operations result in apparent miracles.

A patient suffering from a tumor on the brain was taken to a big hospital. He had been blind for seven years. When the tumor was removed the man quickly recovered not only his sight, but also his light.

More marvelous still, however, operations of this kind sometimes result in making a bad man good!

A man was sentenced to five years

PRIVATE Dancing Lessons.—R. S. Searle, Phone Main 4292. 4004-12-18

Imprisonment, after being found guilty of nearly 200 robberies.

He was aged forty-three, and had been more or less criminal in his tendencies all his life. The prison doctor, examining him, found a dent in his skull, and learnt that the man had a bad fall when a boy.

The doctor decided to operate. He did so at once, and found that the bone was pressing on the brain. He raised the bone and cut it away, performing the operation known as trepanning.

Changed Character.

The result was extraordinary. All the man's criminal tendencies disappeared. He became quite normal. On application to the higher courts he was released, and, by latest accounts was earning an honest livelihood.

Still more remarkable was the case of a savage, forbidding brute, sentenced to imprisonment for life for murder. Even the warders were afraid of him. After being in prison three years a visiting surgeon examined him and found he had a deep depression at the back of his skull.

The surgeon decided that, in all probability, a splinter of bone had been driven into the brain. He operated, found that his diagnosis was right, and removed the splinter.

The man got well rapidly, but the change in his character was far more wonderful than that in his health. His whole face altered. He became bright, kindly, intelligent, and his new disposition was as sweet and kindly as it had previously been fierce and brutal.

Peter McIntyre and a young lad named McIntyre of Turro were injured on Saturday afternoon in an automobile collision in Turro.

McIntyre suffered a fractured leg and the boy was cut by flying glass. The occupants of the other car, driven by Albert Robie, were uninjured, though the cars were badly wrecked.

A fine of $300, imprisonment for 90 days, or both, at discretion of the court may be meted out to offenders under the ordinance.

The ordinance will be given the third and last reading next week, following which it will be sent to Mayor Cowan for his signature.

Horse racing, placing, accepting and holding bets on horse races, and publication of information on betting odds are forbidden by the measure. One exception will permit agricultural societies to hold horse races at fairs, such as are held annually at the Michigan State Fair.

The ordinance will be given the third and last reading next week, following which it will be sent to Mayor Cowan for his signature.

BRANDON ON CHERKS AND BROW AND LEFT HALF DEAD BY K. K. K.

Hagerstown, Md., Nov. 20.—Officers here are making a rigid investigation of an attack made upon Edward Fisher, a railroad man, who was kidnapped in Hagerstown by eight men, purported to have been members of the Ku Klux Klan from Waynesboro, Pa., taken in an automobile to a field outside of the city and branded on both cheeks and his forehead with the letter K.

Besides having the letters seared on his flesh with acid, Fisher, it is reported, was beaten and left in the field. He had to crawl part of the way home.

It is understood that his assailants told Fisher that he was marked and beaten because he mistreated his wife. Mrs. Fisher denied such reports.

A. Freeman Co. were visited. For their night's work they received less than $25, and a few non-negotiable certificates.

The budget will consume the greater part of the commission's deliberations. "Prohibition in its present form is here to stay," said the Rev. L. S. Mudge of Philadelphia, elected Clerk of General Assembly, in commenting upon the recent elections throughout the nation.

"The publication of the 'wet' is very premature," he said, "for a study of the election results does not reveal that increasing sentiment for the repeal or modification of the Volstead act which they would have believed now exists. The act was adopted by an overwhelming majority of American citizens, and any one who disobeys it is false to American ideals."
