there is no difference generally in crops when planted in drills or in hills- at least not enough difference generally in Cops. PLANTING POTATOES .- From thouleast not enough difference to enable farmers to decide which is the best way to plant potatoes; and the consequence is that they plant both ways, according to their customs. Suppose we plant in rows three feet apart, and the hills the same distance in the rows, it would seem that if we planted in drills, the rows three feet apart, and the seed dropped 18 inches apart, or 12 to 15 inches, as is often done, that we should obtain a much larger yield than on the three-feet hill system, but such is not often the case, unless most manure be used in the drills than in the hills. The seed planted is about the same in both cases.

THE SEED-HOW PREPARED, ETC .-I have many times proved that small potatoes (not very small) will produce rge crops as large ones, if the season is favourable; but if an early drouth occur, the large potatoes afford a nourishment to the young plants that small seed can not do. large seed be cut into three or four pieces, there is no difference as regards

THE PUBLIC ARE INVITED nourishment. It is not, however, advisable to select the small seed to plant for many years as by so doing with the same variety, and grown on the same farm, some deterioration as to size of the tubers will be the result .-A changeof seed occasionally is advisable. In cutting potatoes to plant, it should be done lengthwise, so as to divide the cluster of eyes at the seed end. Drying the cut seed upon the grass for a day or two renders it less liable to rot when planted early in a soil that retains water in a cold spell of weather. The proper depth to plant is six inches, or about that depth as a general rule; but good crops are often grown when the seed is covered deeper or shallower, owing to the favourableness of the season. HOW TO SAVE LABOR .- As "time is plant and grow crops with the least labor, at the same time doing the work well. On clean incllow soil potatoes may be advantageously planted and cultivated as follows: After plowing and harrowing, mark off the rows three feet (two feet and a half may often do as well as three) with a Than any one in the trade, notwithstanding plow, then drop the seed as you want it, if you adopt the drill system. A single piece of seed, or a single small potato placed about 15 inches apart will give you all the crop that the land is capable of producing. Or you may plant a little more seed at 18 or 24

CLOTHING ESTABLISHMENT, Cover the seed with a onehorse plow, running on both sides of A new lot American Cottons the rows, and leaving each drill ridged ny. Leave the land thus till the potatoes have grown nearly as high as the level of the land; and then take your harrow, turn its teeth up, place a few large stones upon it as a weight, give the full length of the traces, and then run the reversed harrow crosswise of the rows, lapping enough to make the ground perfectly smooth: and if you eak off some of the plants no injury will be done. In a few days the potatoes will be above ground growing finely, and not a weed in the field!

AFTER CULTIVATION .-- If your land is not productive of many weeds, nothing need be done to the potatoes till they approach the time to blossom, when you should run a cultivator between the rows, and as close to them as possible, twice in a row. You now mould boards to suit the width of the rows, and run it twice between each row, hilling up the potatoes just NEW ERA & ANDOVER, enough to cover all the weeds among them, and if the work be well done no further cultivation is necessary .advise first running a cultivator between the hills to loosen the soil, so that the horse hoe shall do its work nore than a quarter of a century, and have obtained a world-wide reputation for their virtues. They correct diseased action in the several assimilative organs of the ody, and are so composed that obstruc ions within their range can rarely with-tand or evade them. Not only do they re the every-day complaints of every-dy, but also formidable and dangerous seases that have baffled the best of man skill. While they produce poweral effects, they are, at the same time, the afest and best physic for children. By their aperient action they gripe much less than the common purgatives, and never give pain when the bowels are not inflamed.

They reach the vital fountains of the blood, and strengthen the system by freeing from the elements of weakness. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, these Pills may be taken with safety by anybody. Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dinness of Vision, Premature Old Age and many other diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave, all of which as a rule are first caused by deviating from the path of nature and over indulgence.

The Specific Medicine is the result of a life study and many years of experience in treating these special diseases. Full particulars in our pamphlet which we desire to send free by mail to every one.
