SOLDIERS' MEMORIAL.

QUEBEC, Aug. 18.—The design of the monument which Quebec proposes to erect to the memory of her brave boys who fell or served in South Africa, has been adopted. It is by Hamilton McCarthy of Ottawa, and represents a soldier of the Canadian infantry planting the standard of his country on the summit of a kopje. The pose is striking and animated, and the effect of the whole is very impressive. It was intended originally to have erected this monument in the national park to be formed out of the Plains of Abraham, and to have had the corner-stone laid by H. R. H. the Duke of Cornwall and York during his coming visit; but, owing to the hitch in the transfer of the Plains to the city by the municipality, this idea seems to have been abandoned, and it is now said that the site of the proposed monument is still undecided.

A WARNING FROM HOME.

(Montreal Witness.)
When addressing the men of St. James' parish, at a special service yesterday morning, the Rev. Abbe Vacher, treasurer of the Canadian college in Rome, stated that the pope was kept well posted on Montreal through the agency of the college, and added that his holiness felt much aggrieved at the immensely large number of drinking places in our city and also the increase of theatres. He further said that one sure means of pleasing the holy father was to stay away from such places.

POLICE COURT.

On the 21st of July Thomas O'Brien was given in charge by his father for being drunk, breaking furniture, resisting the police and assaulting his mother. After a lecture from the magistrate he was sentenced to a fine of one hundred dollars or a year in jail, and the magistrate said that he would be out of the way for some time. A few days ago, after serving four weeks, O'Brien paid fifty dollars and was released. Yesterday he used obscene and filthy language on the Carleton ferry boat, within hearing of a number of ladies and today was fined eight dollars or two months.

He was not the only prisoner on the bench. Frank O'Neill had taken two puns and Charles McCracken used abusive and insulting language to a woman who lives near him and this morning pleaded guilty to the charge. He had also threatened to do bodily harm, but this charge was not pressed, and he was fined eight dollars or two months.

Steve Brodie—not the famous Steve—raised cane in the Seaman's mission yesterday by toying with the seat at a chair. Incidentally he managed to break a door, and this morning the magistrate called upon him to promise to pay the carpenter's bill.

Thomas Conboy, an "uninteresting drunk from Sheffield street, was given eight dollars or ten days.

Blood Alley Billy Burns appeared on the charge of using insulting language to his sister-in-law. She would not mind him calling her names if he could prove them, but she disliked being insulted. The magistrate explained that the fact of Billy using those names to her did not make them true and she went away quite satisfied. Billy, with a broad smile announced to the court his approaching marriage, which happy event is to take place in two weeks.

A HORSE THAT CAN TRAVEL.

There was an interesting race from the che-mite house to Rothsey last evening. C. T. Gillespie was driving out in his carriage, and at the one-mile mark was on even terms with the Sussex train. He raced the train to Rothsey and got there first. Of course the train made the usual stop, but was running at her ordinary rate of speed, and the fact that Mr. Gillespie reached Rothsey before her was much commended by the passengers, who to the distance of about twenty-five miles, and it is said won a wager on the race. He got a great reception on his arrival at Rothsey. Everybody on the train watched eagerly as every stage of the journey for a glimpse of the white horse that was speeding along, now behind, now ahead of them, now on even terms, and finally a winner by a good margin.

A RUNAWAY.

At half past eight last evening a horse, owned by Robert L. Ross, and driven by Thomas Gains, took fright at a street car at the head of King street and ran away. Gains was thrown from the wagon, but beyond a few scratches on the face was not severely injured. While the horse was running along Charlotte street, Harvey Dean, colored boy, black, was struck by the wagon. The horse ran up Coburg street, along Carleton, down North, along Mill, up Main and out Douglas avenue, to the bridge, where it was caught. The wagon was broken to fragments.

NEW SALVAGE CORPS WAGON.

The new salvage corps wagon, built by James R. Andrews, was yesterday morning examined and passed by Director Wisely. Last evening it was handed over to the corps. It is a very smooth running wagon and makes practically no noise. The body part is hardly jarred by rough roads on account of the solid rubber tires with which the wheels are fitted.

THE CLAM BAKE.

Local and Western Newspaper Folk at McLaron's Beach Yesterday.

During their western trip the members of the Canadian Press Association have been entertained in a variety of ways. But until yesterday afternoon they had not met the original clam bake in its native haunts. Last night they were able to say, "We have met the enemy and it is ours."

A special Shore line train took the party to within a very short distance of McLaron's beach, where for about two hours Caterer Jackson had been working over that clam bake. But before testing the results of his labors, which then lay in a sea weed covered heap, whose odor of cooking clams, potatoes and corn had the ambrosia of the gods beaten from the start, the party wandered about and a large number took the opportunity to have a dip in the salt water.

In the early evening the wanderers were called together, the clam bake was unveiled in silence, and the party sat around it on logs and stones, and on the sand. Local press men acted as waiters, and they were assisted by Mayne Daniel, W. S. Fisher and others. A claim in the vicinity to eat, if one has had no practice, and the visitors realized the truth of this. They started out somewhat timidly, and with close shut eyes swallowed the first clam as it lay smothered in melted butter. Their eyes were opened then and every sense was on the alert to assist in the enjoyment of that meal.

In time the repast was over, and A. G. P. McDonald, of Alexandria, Dan. McMillan, of Fredericton, and Mayne Daniel spoke briefly to the assembled company. The visitors seemed to have enjoyed themselves and they said so.

The party again broke up into groups. One crowd got into a hay field that had the appearance of a pasture. The after grass may come on it some time in the dim and distant future, but the lady who owns that field has hopes. May they be realized. Anyhow an attempt to play ball there resulted in editors, managers, sporting editors, religious editors and ordinary reporters hearing things about themselves. The ball got lost later on as darkness gathered, the crowd came together and while waiting for the train sang wailing melodies. No one was hurt. About half past eight the party reached the city, after a most enjoyable day. This morning the members of the association left for Fredericton by steamer, followed by the best wishes of the many friends they made here.
