While at work in a box car at Sand Point this morning about 3 o'clock, Tom Law, an Englishman, belonging to Montreal, had his left leg broken and his right leg badly bruised.

He was working with a C. P. R. gang in the car, helping them to unload a heavy case of machinery, when the case slipped off the truck catching his leg and pinning him to the floor. He was taken to the C. P. R. emergency hospital where it was found by Dr. F. L. Kenney that his left leg was broken and that his right leg was badly smashed. Law was removed to the general hospital in the ambulance.

POLICE COURT.

In the police court this morning Arthur Moore, aged 23 years, was charged with being drunk and assaulting and beating a boy named Harold Comeau on Germain street yesterday afternoon. Moore said that he was innocent of assault, that the boy threw snow balls at him and as he ran towards the youngster with his arm stretched out he unintentionally caught a collision between his fist and the boy's nose, but he did not mean it. The story did not look good to the magistrate, and the prisoner was fined $20 or two months jail.

In giving sentence the magistrate spoke strongly on the fact that men, women and children must be protected from drunken men who stagger along the streets. He also requested the police to be on the watch for persons who expectorate on the sidewalks. He said that now spring has arrived the sidewalks are clean and they should be kept that way.

Two drunks were fined four dollars each.

NOTHING DOING.

L. P. D. Tilley read the naturalization papers of Enrico Marrotto, an Italian.

There being no further business the court adjourned sine die.

JEWISH PASSOVER BEGAN LAST NIGHT

Its Faithful Observance by Local Hebrews

Services Continue from Monday to Tuesday Night—The Holiday and What it Means to Descendants of Israel

This is the week of the Passover, and it is being observed by devout Jews in every part of the world. The eight days, which commenced at sunset last night, form the most important season in the Hebrew calendar, and appropriate services are being held in the local synagogues. Rabbi Andrus presided in the Hagan avenue synagogue last night and services are being held this morning, this evening and tomorrow evening. Tuesday and Wednesday are considered the most important days of the season and special care is given the rites of the institution on these days.

The Jewish Passover partakes of a patriotic as well as religious festival. Commemorating as it does the throwing off of Pharaoh's yoke the season somewhat resembles the American celebration of Independence Day or our own First of July, which is in honor of the founding of our Dominion. As the Jews regard Jehovah as the head of their state and their temporal as well as spiritual ruler the holiday is, however, a deeply religious one.

As a holiday, however, the Passover is the most poetic. Its celebration of freedom symbolizes not only the breaking of shackles by all oppressed people, but it is the festival of the birth of spring—the resurrection of life. In order to transport themselves in spirit to the days when their ancestors were led out of the house of bondage, the orthodox Jews eat unleavened bread for eight days, the time it took to bring the present generations that their ancestors in the eagerness to leave the house of bondage took their unleavened bread with them.

The beginning of Passover is marked by two Seder nights. These are celebrated this year on Monday and Tuesday evenings. The Seder is one of the most impressive and pleasant family gatherings among orthodox Jews. The head of the family—in his absence—his oldest son takes his place—lounges on sofa cushions at the head of the table, the youngest child, gathered in from the present generations, and a pleasant family gathering among orthodox Jews. The head of the family—in his absence—his oldest son takes his place—lounges on sofa cushions at the head of the table, the youngest child, gathered in from the present generations, and a pleasant family gathering among orthodox Jews.

Like the Oriental monarchs and Greek patriarchs, who used to lounge, while consuming their meals, so the Jew lounges while enjoying his Passover meal in the company of his family.

After the head of the family blesses the wine, at the close of which everyone utters devout Amen, the ceremony begins. The youngest in the family questions why everything looks so different that night. To this the head of the family answers by telling the story of the exodus of the Jews in Egypt and of the miracles performed by the God of Israel in behalf of the oppressed children.

Four cups of wine are prescribed for each person during the Seder. They are toasts to Abraham, Moses, Israel, the oppressed, and one to the future, which always shines forth to the orthodox Jew as the hope of seeing Jerusalem rebuilt. In addition to the cups for the present there is a cup for the Prophet Elijah, who is supposed to visit his beloved people during the Seder. The door is even left open to admit him. Bitter roots are consumed as a reminder of the bitter life led by the Jews in Egypt. Finally is used as a symbol of thankfulness for the earth's products.

DELEGATES RETURN FROM MISSIONARY CONGRESS

W. A. Stelzer Says it Was an Inspiration—Leaders in All Denominations Took Part.

The St. John delegates to the first national laymen's missionary congress in the world's history returned from Toronto via C. P. R. today.

W. A. Stelzer, the delegate from St. Luke's church, speaking to The Star, stated that the congress in every way exceeded his highest expectations. Massey Hall, seating five thousand people was crowded every session with strong, solid, mature business men, banking officials, managers of leading business industries, professional men and business men of every description and six hundred ministers, representing all Protestant denominations, gathered together from the Atlantic to the Pacific, discussed in an intelligent and business-like way Canada's responsibility in evangelizing its share of the world. The addresses were all of a very high order. Men's hearts were deeply stirred by the facts and testimonies presented. To Mr. Stelzer personally was given a new vision of life and its duties. The impressions received cannot soon be forgotten. The Bishops of Toronto and Huron, Canon Cody and Tucker and Silas McRobb were the principal speakers, while representatives of the Church of England, celebrated men of all creeds took part, including Sir Andrew Fraser. There was not a discordant note or address in the whole congress. Plans were formulated through which, it is hoped, commencing with the man nearest and extending until every man, civilized and savage, will hear the message of God's love in this generation.

Several of the St. John delegates visited Niagara and Montreal on the return trip.

The board of management of the Seamen's Mission will meet at the mission at eight o'clock this evening.

AN UNBREAKABLE SET OF TEETH

There is a class of patients who do not object to paying a fair price for artificial teeth, if they can really secure comfort, usefulness and naturalness.

I have a set of teeth, such as is obtainable in any other office in this city, to my knowledge. It is out of the ordinary line and unlike the teeth in general use. Its beauty is at once apparent and it is practically unbreakable.

It will pay those who are desirous of obtaining the best to be had in the dental line to call and inspect this for themselves. I will gladly demonstrate its superiority over other plates, even if you have no immediate intention of investing.
