nachine shop, and between eight and o'clock yesterday morning was engaglevers. In front of the wheel is a little metal table on which the articles to be ground are held. Between this rest and the wheel there is a narrow space. McGrath was grinding one of the levers and in a moment of carelessness relaxed the firm pressure necessary in such work. The lever was suddenly drawn in and jammed between the wheel and table. This sudden pressure resulted in the sudden bursting of the emery wheel, which, as is usual, was running at a very high speed. The stone split into three pieces. One of flying downwards, tore its was through the flooring of the shop; another went straight out and buried itself in the wall of the building, but the third struck McGrath fair in the breast, just over his heart. It would appear that this segment struck rather side on for beyond some severe bruises, the boy's flesh is uninjured.

The shock, however, must have been very great and evidently affected the heart, for McGrath fell to the floor in an unconscious condition. Dr. D. E. Berryman was hastily sum-
