

It comes to choosing a manure spreader is no need to run any risk. Satisfactory is a certainty if you choose an I H C.

Advantages which have made I H C spreaders a matter of record. Superiority of I H C spreaders is not due to construction but to the care—the materials—that are used in making every part.

Advantages that are used in making every part. Spreaders have many advantages—all of them to make the machine, as a whole, more than any other. It is folly to suppose that good parts make a satisfactory spreader.

Comparison between I H C Manure Spreaders and any other makes it clear that there is no other make of spreader that will give you the many advantages which have made I H C spreaders a matter of record.

attack on the report. He found fault with it, he alleged, because some of the things which had come out in the evidence were not mentioned in it.

Mr. Jones said he had no objection to the committee being composed of men who had no right to condemn him and proceeded to criticize Ald. Jones in connection with the administration of the liquor license law.

Ald. Jones rose to a point of order. He asked his worship to keep Ald. Potts to the discussion of the report of the committee.

Ald. Potts—"Well it's out now and I don't care. I tell you though that I would rather be standing where I am than sitting where Ald. Jones is."

His worship—"I think, Ald. Potts, that if such a report had been brought in about me last I would say nothing and accept their judgment."

Ald. Jones—"But I will not accept their report. All I want is a measure of common sense. The committee was packed by Ald. Jones as soon as my back was turned."

Ald. Jones—"I again rise to a point of order. It is not true."

Ald. Potts—"That it is true."

Ald. Jones—"Mayor Frink is the only authority you can appeal to and he says it is not true."

Ald. Potts—"Your worship, is it not true that Ald. Jones came to you in your office and asked you to put Ald. Hayes on the committee?"

Mayor Frink—"Yes, I think he did."

Ald. Potts, continuing his speech, said that all he wanted was a fair measure of justice.

He proceeded to defend the police clerk who he said had tried to enforce the laws till he found that the justice magistrate and the chairman of the safety board were arrayed against him.

Referring to Director Wisely, he declared he had always regarded him in the same light as the fifth wheel of a coach.

At the time of the union of the city and Portland, however, Mr. Wisely's friends had sufficient influence to get him installed as director of public safety.

At this point his worship put the question, remarking that anything to do with a special meeting will be held at which the report will be further considered.

He then said that it was then 5.55. Says He Has Nothing to Apologize For.

URNS BATTERED ON MRS. GLOVER

Witness Tells of Her Threats Says She Threatened to Kill Husband Many Times

Father of Accused Girl Tells of Her Being One of Nineteen Children, and of Her Poor Chance in Life—Defence Hopes to Finish This Week.

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 8.—According to testimony introduced today, Mrs. Lillian M. Glover three times threatened to shoot her husband, Clarence F. Glover, at Walnut, for whose murder Hattie LeBlanc is now on trial here.

Her father, Clarence F. Glover, at Walnut, for whose murder Hattie LeBlanc is now on trial here. Mrs. Kats Sampson, a witness for the defense, said Mrs. Glover had made these threats while visiting her at Auburndale, and that she appeared enraged because she alleged, she had found her husband in the arms of another woman.

Neighbors and relatives of the defendant were first called including the girl's father, Abraham LeBlanc, of West Aitchison, N. S. These witnesses testified that Hattie was one of nineteen children; that she had no opportunity for an education and had spent only six months at school, and that she always bore a good reputation before coming to the state.

A witness testified that the revolver with which Glover was killed, could not back fire, thus tending to show that alleged marks on Hattie's hand could not have been received in that way.

The final witness of the day, Hattie LeBlanc's sister, Mrs. Irene LeBlanc Langley, said Mrs. Glover had shown her three notes, which she had written, in which she declared that she wished to rid herself of her husband and would do it.

At this point his worship put the question, remarking that anything to do with a special meeting will be held at which the report will be further considered.

He then said that it was then 5.55. Says He Has Nothing to Apologize For.

London, Dec. 8.—The street railway riot in Toronto last night was impulsive, unplanned and not a vicious affair, although it spread so fast that over 200 cars were damaged, mostly by having the windows broken.

The character of the management of the Toronto railway is shown by the fact that today very little attempt was made to mend the damaged cars, and although the company has hundreds of extra cars stored away, they ran the cars all day with broken windows, making the citizens, in general, pay for the damage by the discomfort of riding in open cars in frosty weather.

PREMIERS TO MEET IN OTTAWA TODAY

WEAVING A NET ABOUT FERGUSON

Representation to Be Discussed Maritime Provinces Seek Change in B. N. A. Act

Quebec is Not Likely to Agree That Old Membership Be Restored in View of the Fact That Its Population is Gaining, and the West Feels the Same Way.

Special to The Telegraph. Ottawa, Dec. 8.—There will be a conference of provincial premiers here tomorrow to consider the question of the diminishing representation of the maritime provinces in the federal parliament.

The census next spring will show a population of considerably above 2,000,000 for Quebec, and the unit of representation is bound to be considerably above 20,000. Unless a change is made in this British North America Act, all Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island will lose seats in the redistribution which must follow the census.

What the Maritime Provinces Want. What the maritime province government want is an amendment declaring the representation for every province shall be restored to what it was at confederation and shall hereafter fall below that figure.

Agreement Doubtful. It is doubtful if any sort of an agreement will be reached at this meeting. Quebec is understood to object to any arrangement declaring that the representation of the provinces shall not decrease, while the whole scheme is based on the declaration that the representation of Quebec shall never increase.

NO MOURNING FOR SCIENCE FOUNDER

Funeral of Mrs. Marv Baker Eddy Without Sombre Trappings

NO EULOGY SPOKEN A Few Passages from "Science and Health" and a Prayer Comprised the Services—Body Laid in Sealed Vault in Cemetery.

Associated Press. Boston, Dec. 8.—The followers of Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, the founder of the Christian Science church, parted with her visible form today at a funeral service that was marked by its simplicity and lack of ostentation; that brought no expressions of sorrow, at least not from her followers; that was surrounded by no trappings of mourning, but which, nevertheless, was sufficiently impressive to linger long in the memory of the six score of persons who attended.

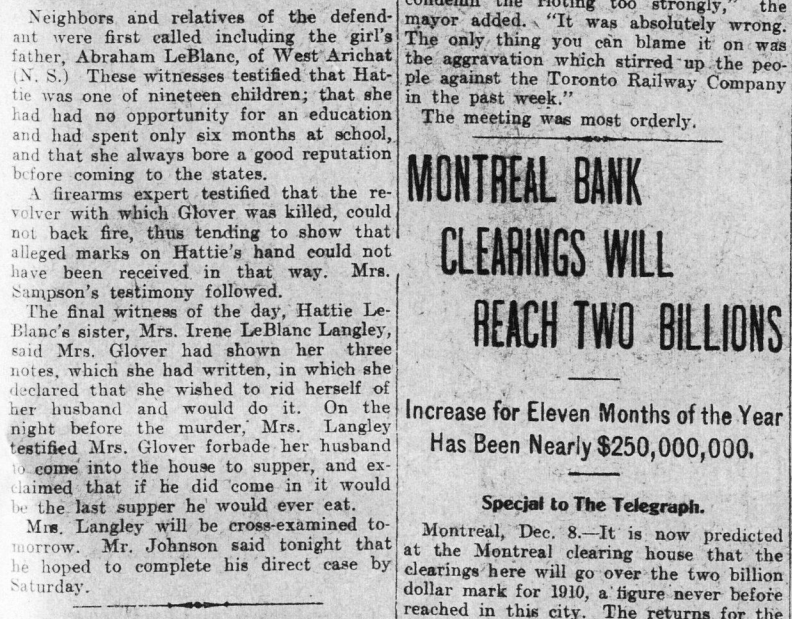

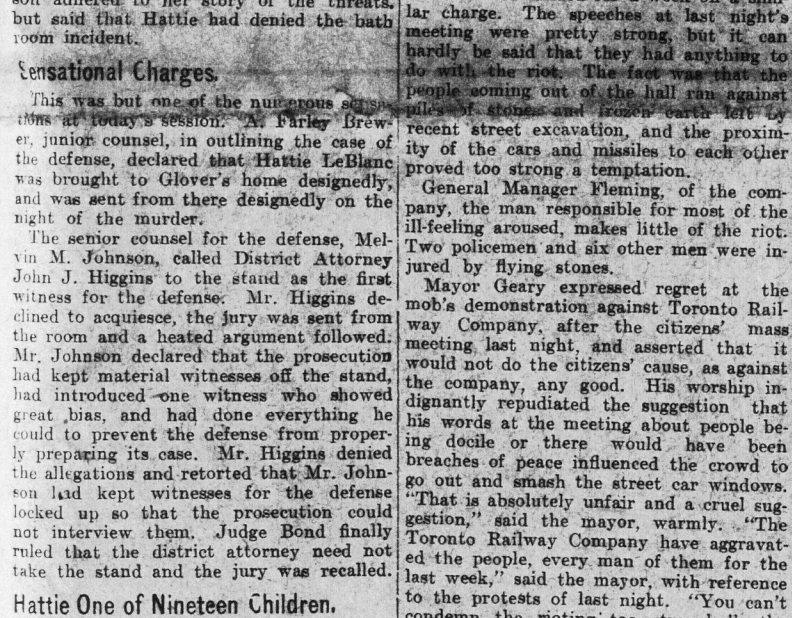

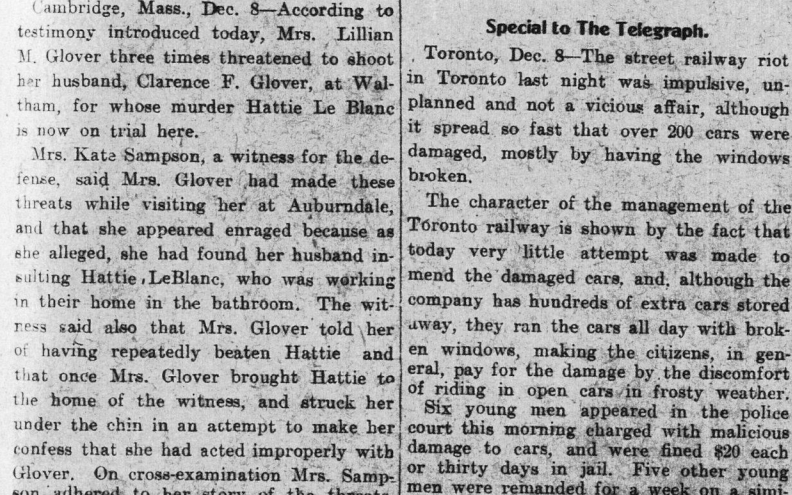

There was no eulogy. The only sobbing heard was from the young granddaughters of Mrs. Baker Eddy, whose cries shrouded that was the only sombre color noted in the house. The spacious parlors where the little gathering sat for eighteen minutes, in calm grave thought, were bathed in sunlight. A spray of roses lay on the table, and here and there about the room was a bouquet, as if for decorative effect.

Those who looked for the last time on the features of the dead saw the small, delicate face of a woman's smiling about sixty years, instead of ninety. The expression on the face of the dead was singularly peaceful and showed no signs of suffering. Eighteen carriages followed the hearse across the snow-clad hills to Mount Auburn cemetery in Watertown.

New York, Dec. 8.—While the fire insurance companies pay out each year approximately $10,000,000 for fire losses in the metropolitan districts of Manhattan, the Bronx, Brooklyn and Long Island City, they collect in premiums more than $25,000,000, according to the testimony of Willis O. Robb, manager of the New York Fire Insurance Exchange, before the legislative investigating committee yesterday.

New York, Dec. 8.—There's a skunk in the restaurant over here with a gun; come get him." The "skunk" was John C. Warner, a young engineer of Highwood (Conn.), and somebody did "come get him," for one night during the recent epidemic of strikes, Warner was stabbed in the back and died of his wounds three days later.
