British Naval Manoeuvres of More Than Usual Interest This Year-Defence and Attack,

London, Aug. 5.-War was declared between the home fleet, under nand of Admiral Wilson, and the Mediterranean fleet, commanded Admiral Domville. The annual British naval manoeuvres thus com-menced are regarded as the most in-teresting yet devised by the Admiralty. Altogether, twenty-six battleships and Altogether, twenty-six battleships and forty-three cruisers will be engaged in a presumed contest for the command of the sea between two maritime countries. The opposing fleets are represented by the letters B and X, the former being the home fleet, which is divided into two squadrons, one at Berelraven, Ireland, commanded by Admiral Wilson, and the other at Madeira, under Lord Charles Beresford.

Madeira, under Lord Charles Beresford.

The problem set for the home fleet is to effect a junction of forces at sea, while on Admiral Domville, in command of the X fleet, concentrated at Lagos, Portugal, is imposed the task of finding either Admiral Wilson's or Lord Charles Beresford's squadron before they are able to effect a junction.

For Saving a United States Lumber Scow From Fire.

During the burning of Jenks, Taylor, Howard & Co's lumber yard and mill a week ago Saturday night one of Reid's tugs came over to assist in salvage work, and towed a scow laden with lumber to Sarnia for safety. After the fire the scow was returned to this side, but, owing to the circumstances of the case, the captain did not think it necowing to the circumstances of the case, the captain did not think it necessary to report the arrival and clearance, as required by the regulations. Some person reported the alleged infraction to special treasury agent Bailey, and the owners of the offending craft were called before Collector of Customs Avery. A fine amounting to the full value of the lumber aboard the scow was exacted, according to the inflexible rules of the department, though the violation was claimed to have been simply a technical one. Mr. Reid was told that his redress was in appealing to the department to have the fine remitted.

Pope Pius has received Prince Massino, the head of the Papal section of the Roman aristocracy, who was accompanied by his daughter-in-law, Princess Beatrice, the daughter of Don Carlos. The Pontiff seemed specially glad to see her, saying:—"We are from the same town. A few anecdotes show what manner of man is Pius X. His position as Patriarch of Venice brought him from $2,000 to $2,400 a year, which did not go far when he had paid the bills for all of his numerous charities. So when he was called suddenly to leave Venice he often found himself without money. Once when he had come to Rome he was without a cent, and did not know where to turn. He was finally obliged to borrow $400 from a bank and was uneasy until the debt was paid. He has a nephew, John Baptist Sarto, who, althought related to him, is only the Archpriest of the small Village of Pessagno, the birthplace of Canova.
