The Play Problem

"Rain, rain, go away,
Little Tommy wants to play."

How often we have heard the familiar nursery rhyme. How few of us have given thought to the seriousness of the play problem. Certainly little Tommy wants to play, and we want him to play, but how shall we insure good, clean recreation for him?

As a rural school teacher of some experience, I find the play problem a very serious one. You bury your little ones in purity and innocence. Mrs. Careless and Mrs. Ignorant allow their children to run at large. These children imbibe in the course of their unguarded roving bad habits and impurity. The children of both families reach the school age and are thrown into contact in the same school. They study together and play together. Recreates usually finds them engaged in a good, clean game, for the careful teacher, if not actually on the play ground, is within sight or hearing.

Noon hour—the teacher goes to lunch, and the restraint is removed. What of the noon-time games? Too often, I fear, it affords opportunity for the heretofore carefully-shielded child to be instructed in the undesirable knowledge of the other child.

Most teachers, I think, will admit that they are unable to successfully cope with this evil. It exists in almost all schools. Shall we allow the childhood of our land to be thus robbed of its innocent bloom, or how shall we prevent it?

Some Home Club members, no doubt, know from experience of this difficulty. Will you not give the matter your thought and pass on, through our Club, to me and to others your suggestions?—"School Ma'm."

Our Awnings

THE home is filled with sadness, with sorrow and with gloom; We walk with silent footsteps through every darkened room; Pa says he can't abide the place—he stays out late at night; Before, this home was happy and everything was bright. But now in the bright sunlight, the blinds are all pulled down, If we attempt to raise them, ma has an awful frown. What is it caused this sorrow, this misery and distress? Why, mother cut the awnings up to make herself a dress.

No more upon the porch we sit and find a shady spot. For now there is no shade at all, no place where 'tis not hot; And sister lost her one best beau because of all this row.

Oh! I wish they'd change the fashion—look back to something plain, right now;

For if stripes went out of style, ma would have something new.

If she didn't have the latest, she'd be sure to freeze her feet; And peace would reign at home again, and how the time we'd bless, If ma'd give us back the awnings that she took to make a dress.

Lay in Supply of Honey

THE following comes from the Ontario Beekeepers' Association and will be interesting to many housewives.

With prices of all other foods soaring, housewives will be pleased to learn that there is plenty of honey and that the prices will not be advanced. The report recently issued by the Ontario Beekeepers' Association shows that a large crop of light honey has been extracted this season. The quality is unsurpassed, being light in color, heavy body and a very good flavor. The Associated Honey Crop Committees have advised that last year's prices be not advanced so that honey will be freely bought in many households.

As it requires no preserving and will keep in first class condition in any dry place, the 60-lb. can will be a popular size. An average family will conveniently use that quantity throughout the winter. It is to be hoped that the supply will be equal to the demand. Many customers are buying early. The prices recommended by the committee are as follows:

No. 1, light extracted, wholesale, 10c to 11½c per lb.; No. 1, light extracted, retail, 12½c to 15c per lb.; No. 1, comb, wholesale, $2.00 to $2.75 per doz.; No. 2, comb, wholesale, $1.50 to $2.00 per doz.

These prices are f.o.b. in 50-lb., 10-lb., and 5-lb. tins, the former being net weight with the tin thrown in, the two latter being gross weight.

Excellent Sandwich Fillings

THIS is the season of the year when we are on the lookout for variety for our picnic lunches, socials, garden parties and so forth. It is sometimes difficult to think of anything different in the line of sandwiches which may prove useful when next preparing our basket of good things.

Meat thinly sliced or finely chopped and seasoned, or mixed with salad dressing.

Celery chopped fine and mixed with salad dressing.

Olives chopped fine and mixed with salad dressing (½ c. to ¾ c. oil).

Celery, pimientos and nuts, chopped fine and mixed with salad dressing. Cream cheese and nuts, or olives, or pimientos or cream.

American cheese grated, seasoned with tomato.

Lettuce with mayonnaise and nut meats.

Peanuts, pounded smooth, seasoned and moistened with cream.

Eggs cooked to smooth paste, sugar, lemon juice and nuts added.

Dates and preserved ginger.

Dates and peanuts chopped fine, moistened with cream.

Peas cooked to smooth paste, lemon juice and nuts added.

Ham chopped fine with hard-boiled eggs and mayonnaise dressing.

Cucumbers sliced thin with mayonnaise dressing and English walnuts.

Bananas sliced thin, dipped into juice of lemon, mayonnaise dressing and nut meats.

The bread should be 24 hours old and cut in thin even slices.

If fancy forms are desired, shape before spreading with butter. Cream the butter and spread evenly.

Jots

A teaspoonful of common baking soda in the water when rendering lard makes it white and sweet. Another good idea is to put a thin layer of salt in the bottom of the jar in which the lard is poured to keep it from getting rancid.

When furniture becomes dented and not broken, the marks may easily be made to disappear. Treat it in this manner: Wet the bruised spot with water. Double a piece of brown paper five or six times and soak it in warm water. Place it upon the bruise and apply a warm (not hot) flat-iron till the moisture has evaporated. If dent has not disappeared, repeat the treatment.
