Clark's Drug Store

Soft, low and sweet
Soft, low and sweet, the blackbird wakes the day
And clearer pipes, as rosier grows the gray
Of the wide sky, far, far into whose deep
The rath lark soars, and scatters down the steep
His tuneful song, that skyey roundelay.
Earth with a sigh awakes; and tremors play,
Coy in her leafy trees, and falt'ring creep
Across the daisy lawn and whisper "Well-a-day."
Soft, low and sweet.
From ev'ry mossy nook the blossoms peep;
From ev'ry blossom comes one little ray
That makes the world-wealth one with Spring, alway
Soft, low and sweet.

FRENCH ASTRIDE THE HINDENBURG LINE
Germany Hurdled Back Over Line of Twenty-five Miles

Grand Headquarters of the French Army, on the French Front, Monday Night, April 16—(Delayed)—Not only did the French army get astride and partly around the so-called Hindenburg Line today but, in doing so, they captured many thousands of German prisoners. After one of the most intensive artillery bombardments of the war, the French today advanced along another twenty-five mile front. Shells were poured daily into the German positions, and this morning from north of Soissons to just west of Rheims, the French infantry started the work for which they had been patiently waiting.

The Germans opposed the advance with the utmost power bringing into play cannons and machine guns, which had been employed in the most advantageous positions. Nothing, however, could withstand the gallantry and skill of the French, whose ardor was strengthened by the sight of the desolation through which they passed.

There was no hesitation among the French soldiers when the order to advance was given, but they did not throw their lives away. There was no hurry; every movement was executed as though on parade. Advantage was taken of every inch of cover, and thus the infantrymen were able to approach up the sloping ground until within striking distance of the numerous entrances to the tunnels; they then encircled the whole plateau and left sufficient men around to prevent the garrison's retreat or its communication with the main body of the Germans. Its fate was then sealed.

Meanwhile the bulk of the French troops continued their advance both here and on other parts of the line. Telephonic reports from various sectors told of the successes, some time big, some time small, of the different corps engaged. Everywhere behind the advancing French hatches of German prisoners were seen on their way to captivity. Before evening more than ten thousand had been counted, and others were arriving. Some of the prisoners told of exceedingly severe losses, their companies being reduced in several cases from 250 to 80 men or thereabouts. All seemed pleased over their capture, some of them saying that there would be many desertions except for the constant vigilance of their superiors, as most of them were tired of the war.

THE COLONEL SAYS:

"Zam-Buk is a valuable addition to every soldier's kit." This remark was made by Lieut.-Col. A. C. B. Hamilton-Gray, R.C.I.M., Wellington Barracks, Halifax, N.S. He says further:

"I can speak from personal experience, as I have used Zam-Buk myself for cuts, burns and rheumatism, and believe there is nothing to equal it."

Zam-Buk, the great herbal balm, is a boon to the men in the trenches—it ends pain and heals so quickly, and instant application of Zam-Buk prevents all possibility of festering or blood-poisoning.

Don't forget to put some Zam-Buk in your next parcel to the front. All druggists, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto; 50c. box, 3 for $1.25.

Remarkable news comes from the Chinese province of Tukien. The public schools are being turned over to the missionaries because the officials are beginning to realize their own inability to make them efficient. While the motive may be purely political or educational, the final religious harvest will be all the greater. One village has actually given to the missionaries the deeds and endowment of its local monastery, and the proceeds are to be used perpetually for the support of a Christian school. This transformed and transfigured monastery is already organized and flourishing.

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF KHAKI

Dr. J. D. Logan, Editor of the Nova Scotia Highlander, who is now with the 83th Nova Scotia Highlanders, contributes to The Canadian Magazine for April an unusually interesting article entitled "The Psychology of Khaki." Dr. Logan lays bare the effect that the donning of the King's uniform had on him, and he gives also his opinion of what the general effect is, an effect which, he says, the evangelists call a "change of heart."
