IN THE WRONG OFFICE.

Assistant County Clerk Blackbill is a profound student of the finer sentiments of human nature. Consequently he appreciated the incident which came under his notice the other day. A young seaman, in immaculate broadcloth and polished linen, accompanied by a smiling, blushing damsel, entered the office and enquired for Mr. Holmes. Mr. Blackbill bowed with his customary gallantry and suavely expressed regret at the temporary absence of the official in question. Touched with the look of evident disappointment on the faces of his visitors, the deputy assured them that, if it were a matter of office business, he could probably accommodate them. The lady smiled, blushed and nodded in the order named. The youth coughed, closed the door uneasily and stammeringly enquired for a marriage license. Explanations followed.

J. A. McKee, representing the Gray Carriage Co., of Chatham, had several up-to-date buggies on the fair grounds Tuesday, and disposed of them all. They were handsome rigs. T. Beattie is the local agent for this firm.—Comber Herald.
