Electric Divining Rod.

Adolf Schmid, a Swiss engineer of standing, has just patented in several countries a device which takes the place of the divining rod of superstitious tradition.

It consists of a magnetic needle and a coil arranged in the magnetic meridian. This instrument is carried about the field in which it is desired to locate water, and whenever it passes over a hidden spring the magnetic needle will perform rapid and lively oscillations.

Automobile Wheels.

Automobile wheels have an action upon roads quite different from those of a cart or carriage, says a writer in Red Cross Notes. Automobiles increase dust. They bite the road very hard or dig into it, acting more or less as a grindsone or marble cutter. The road is gradually dispersed as fine gravel. The wheels of a carriage, on the other hand, act in a conservative way on roadbeds.

Is Disease a Crime?

Not very long ago, a popular magazine published an editorial article in which the writer asserted, in substance, that all disease should be regarded as criminal. Certain it is, that much of the sickness and suffering of mankind is due to the violation of certain of Nature's laws. But to say that all sickness should be regarded as criminal, must appeal to every reasonable individual as radically wrong.

regarded as criminal, must appeal to every reasonable individual as radically wrong.

It would be harsh, unsympathetic, cruel, yes criminal, to condemn the poor, weak, over-worked housewife who sinks under the heavy load of household cares and burdens, and suffers from weaknesses, various displacements of pelvic organs and other derangements peculiar to her sex.

Frequent bearing of children, with its exacting demands upon the system, coupled with the care, worry and labor of rearing a large family, is often the cause of weaknesses derangements and deblity which are aggravated by the many household cares, and the hard, and never-ending work which the mother is called upon to perform. Dr. Pierce is he maker of that world-famed remedy for woman's peculiar weaknesses and the hard, and never-ending seems that one of the ready of the term of the tworld-famed remedy for woman's peculiar weaknesses and habor to enable ber to secure from the use of his "Prescription" its full benefits. It is a matter of frequent experience, he says, in his extensive practice in these cases, to meet with those suffering from prolapsus, anterversion and retroversion of the uterus or other displacement of the wornally organistis by reason of the patient's inability to abstain from hard work long enough to be cured. With those suffering from prolapsus, anterversion and retroversion of the uterus or other displacement of the womanly organistis very necessary that, in addition to standing his "Favorite Prescription" will do the rest. In colorings more freedom than usual is marked in the new styles, purples, grays and blues being prominently dis-played. Small figures on solid grounds, stripes, plaids and checks are the patterns from which to make selections.

Wash ties will also be worn extensively. These are made of shirting material in the popular four-in-hand shape and when laundered present a neat and dressy appearance.

How to Economize Wicks. Before putting new wicks into stoves and lamps divide a skein of white fingering wool into eight inch lengths and thread it through the lower end of each wick after the manner of a fringe, This will convey oil to the shortest bit of wick and will also economize time and patience, for what is more annoy-ing than the stove or lamp which burns-Doubt stops at the door of the mule go.

Summer.
As soon as weather conditions permit the average man will don his oxfords. The oxford for summer is what is known as the "custom shape," with rather a narrower and more pointed toe than last season. There will be some russet leather shoes worn, followed closely by vici kid, gun metal calf and other materials of dull finish. The oxford shoe will be tied with wide laces of silk. The great popularity of negligee shirts and the habit of going without a waistcoat during the hot days opened a great field for the beltmaker. The proper belt for 1906 is to be one and one-half inches in width. In length it is graded from thirty to fifty inches, so that the wearer can obtain one suitable for his figure.

Simplicity of appearance is the aim of the beltmaker this season, and therefore the buckles are of neat design, but of rich appearance. These buckles are made to match the leather and are of silver, nickel, gun metal, oxidized gilt and Roman gold finish.

Owing to the popularity of gray suits the gray belt will be worn. This belt is made of ooze leather, with lining to match. The edges are beveled, and the belt is finished with a neat oxidized buckle. Negligee shirts will be worn more extensively than ever. These linens are usually of plain white, the latter being effectively made in plaited cosom effects.

Collars for the coming season are either of the standing wing shape or the familiar turn over or fold style. It is safe to assert that the wing collar will be a favorite. The fold collar will be worn exclusively for negligee pur-

CONTRACTOR OF THE PARTY OF THE CRIME IN FIGURES.

Statistics For England and Wales For the Year 1904—Enormous Total of Persons Tried.

A bluebook was issued recently, says Lloyd's Weekly, by the Home Office giving the criminal statistics of Eng-land and Wales for the year 1904. It shows that the total number of persons tried for various offences during the 12 months was 807,139, as compared with 808,696 in the previous 12 months, the convictions being 665,379 against 660,convictions being 665,379 against 660,300. The persons imprisoned numbered 199,153, as compared with 189,727 in 1903, and the number of convicts in prison on March 31 was 20,099. The figures, it is stated, are not all of equal value as criteria of the state of crime, but they all indicate an increase of criminalty. The total number of persons for trial for indictable offences were 59,960, or 177.59 per 100,000 population, being an increase of 1,516, or nearly three per cent.

population, being an increase of 1,516, or nearly three per cent.

There has been a continuous growth of crime since 1899, when the number of persons tried was 50,494, or 156.97 sail aro per 100,000 of the population. For many years prior to that year, however, there was a steady decline, with occasional interruptions, in the number of persons tried, and in 1899 the total was less than in any previous year since 1875. During the quinquennial period 1860-4 the annual average was 280 per 1860-4 the annual average was 280 per 1875. During the quinquennial period 1880-4 the annual average was 280 per 100,000 population, compared with 182 in the last quinquennial period. The increase in 1904 was wholly in offences against property. The only offence against the person which showed a marked tendency in increase is bigamy, for which the figure was 138, the quinquennial averages for 1895-9 and 1909-4 being 104 and 112 respectively.

It is satisfactory to observe that those classes of offences usually committed by habitual criminals have ceased to increase at the same rapid rate as formerly. Cornwall is still one of the counties with the least crime. Chamorgan and Monmouth are all the worst counties, but the footbon of London has slightly improved. The worst counties for drunkenness are Northumberland, Glamorgan, Durham, and London, the best position as regards the offence being taken by a large group of cural counties. Minor offences of dishonesty and serious frauds and herachoffence being taken by a large group of rural counties. Minor offences of dishonesty and serious frauds and breaches of trust had increased, and offences of the vagrancy class are growing rapidly.

During the year 9,918 persons were convicted in Courts of Assize and Quarter Sessions, of whom 28 were sentenced to death, 970 to penal servitude, 7,899 to imprisonment, and 91 to detention in an inebriate reformatory; 55 persons were found guilty but insane; 1,896 were acquitted, and in 38 cases a jury found the accused to be insane inry found the accused to be insane and unfit to plead, while 16 persons were ordered to be whipped or flogged. The total number of persons dealt with by Courts of Summary Jurisdiction was 794,981, of whom 655,661 were convicted.

84,160 being sentenced to imprisonment During the year 36,269 coroners' in-quests were held. In 2,257 cases open verdicts were returned, and, deducting one case of justifiable homicide and 16 executions of persons condemned to death, 4,888 deaths were ascribed to death, 4,888 deaths were ascribed to criminal violence or culpable neglect. Of these 3,327 were cases of suickle, a decrease of 153 as compared with the previous year. The continuous increase in suicides, frequently referred to in previous volumes of the criminal sta-tistics, has thus received a check, Verdicts of wilful murder were returned in 191 cases, and of manslaughter in 126. The number of criminal lunstics received into asylums during 1904 was 235, and at the end of the year the total number of criminal lunatics under detention was 904, of whom no fewer than 407 had committed murder.
of 28 sentences of death, 11 were muted to penal servitude for life, three free pardons were granted.
