his outlay in bettering the property being estimated at £3,000. The landlord, falling into difficulties, was obliged to sell the property, and it is stated realized £7,000 property, and it is stated realized £7,000 more than could have been obtained for the land in the condition in which the tenant originally found it. The unfortunate occupant has no remedy under the law for this crushing injustice, by which the results of the labour and investments of the best part of a lifetime are confiscated. It is no worder that the Pritial Confiscated in the confiscated s no wonder that the British farmer is looking to Canada and elsewhere across the seas, for a home where his toil will benefit himself and his family, instead of the lord

The British tenant farmers who are now on a tour of inspection through Ontario de not hesitate to say that they would rather be let alone than marched here there and everywhere to see what it is not in their line of business to pronounce upon. All very well to see the shows and agri cultural products in the big pumpkins and he gigantic mangold-wurzel, but why rot them off to Bothwell and the oil the gigantic mangold-wurzel, region? Surely what they want to see is general run of farming lands in the rovince, the cost of land, system and exses of working it, and the price real zed by stock and crops grown on it. What have they to do with petroleum? There are farmers in Canada with large holdings of land, and doing business much in the same way as they themselves do it at home. These are the people and places they want to come in contact with. A ving tour through the townships north and east of this city, through North Middlesex, South Oxford, Brant, West Durham and other choice agricultural disicts would be better than a rapid shunt. ng hither and thither on the lines of railway to see—coal oil, or nothing in particular. The British farmers are sensible of the was first fact that they are being treated too much Russia as a side-show to the various Exhibitions.

Free traders here, as well as in the nited States, are assiduously endeavouring to make political capital out of the fact , who that at the present time pig iron happens to be dearer in the United States than in England. The Chicago Inter-Ocean effectnited States has become the second ironproducing country in the world, and the rate of our progress since 1860 has been more rapid than that of Great Britain in the same time. Such a growth of our pig-iron industry does not indicate scarcity of its product, especially when nearly the whole of the augmenting quantity has been consumed at home. Last year the price of our domestic pig iron was lower than it has been in any year since the beginning of our government. This surely does not oint out dearness as a result of the protective policy. It is true that the price has advanced since the revival of business commenced, but there has also been an unward movement of the price in England, where there is free trade in pig iron; hence the recent rise in the United States cannot be assigned to our tariff as its cause, unless it be absurdly supposed that metrically opposite causes. And what is said of pig iron may be said with equal force of various other domestic manufac-

SIR, -A recent number of The Mail contained a brief notice of a newly-discovered marble locality on the north shore of Lake the old Huron belonging to Colonel Rankin, of relation- Windsor. The stone from this property is a hard siliceous limestone, capable of assuming a good polish. In colour it is dark gray, with veins of slightly darker tint unning through it. An analysis of the But stone, from samples left with me by Colonel Rankin, has yielded me the following results :-

Annual Exhibition of the North York Agricultural Society.

> County and Township Exhibitions. NORTH YORK.

NEWMARKET, Oct. 7 .- Among the many gricultural societies throughout the Pro-rince, there are few that rank so high in public estimation as the North York Sopublic estimation as the North York So-ciety, and, therefore, the annual fair held under its auspices is looked forward to with much interest, and participated in with much spirit and heartiness by the people from all parts of the county. association was formed twenty-one years ago, Col. Beresford, of Whitchurch, being the first President. Only two of the original officers are now living. The so-ciety secured a small plot of land in the eastern part of the village, where they held their first show. As their finances assumed substantial proportions, they enlarged their show ground and erected a service-able exhibition building, 80 x 120, which sale exhibition building, 80 x 120, which is considered to be a very fine one for a country place. Last year they purchased a portion of a farm adjoining the grounds nd constructed a half mile track, of which Newmarketers are justly proud. The assessed value of the property is $6,000, and it is clear of debt, with the exception of a trifle owing on the last pur-chase, which will be cleared off as soon as

The number of entries has showed a marked increase for the past half dozen of years, from which it is judged that the people of the county are taking more inerest in local affairs, and not giving so such attention to provincial and city fairs. ast year the entries were 1,900, while year they are over 2.200, the increase peing principally in farm produce, butter, theese, and live stock. The Society offer this year $2,000 in prizes, and, as soon as abilities are covered, the surplus funds vill go to increasing the list. THE OPENING.

ewmarketers have ceased, for a few days, to discuss the topography of the country, in order that they may give their undivided attention to the annual fair, which opened to-day. As has been said, the entries are very numerous, and the exhibition promises to be a great success.

Everyone is talking about the beautiful weather, the like of which has not before been experienced at this season of the year. All on the fair grounds to-day were perspiring freely under a July sun and remarking on the "very fine fall." The Secretary's office has been rehabilitated since last year, and he now occupies comfortable quarters in a neat cottage erected on the grounds. He was very busy all day yesterday making up entries, marking and distributing tickets, and receiving judges, several of whom came from Toronto. The several of whom came from Toronto sides of the enclosure are filled with refreshment booths: but it is a remarkable act that while last year, when the Dunkin act was in force here, liquor could be got at all the booths, this year the strongest drink dispensed over the numerous bars is Exhibitors and the Society's officers were busy in the morning getting articles into place in the Main building, and at noon a very fine exhibition was opened to the public. It is impossible to say who are the exhibitors, because all articles bear a number which corresponds with a number in the secretary's books. The names of the different exhibitors are not written on the cards, and every one is ignorant of them, save the secretary.

DAIRY AND FARM PRODUCTS. of the country pride themselves on the quality of their butter, and, judging of the high opinions expressed in regard to it, they are perfectly justified in so congratutempting quantity. One of the judges says that the display of butter is superior Gwillimbury, took first prize; Mr. Seth Heacock, second and Mr. J. Cowieson, third. In farmers' cheese, Mr. Julius Bruels, of Ringwood, secured first prize; Mr. Walter Scott, of King, second and Mr. Peter De Geer, of Queensville, third. For factory cheese, Mr. O. S. Phillips, of Newmarket, won three prizes. The display of grain is considered very good, the entries being more numerous than in any second se play of grain is considered very good, the entries being more numerous than in any previous year. Those who are judges say that a finer display of field roots could not be made. Turnips, beets and carrots of gigantic proportions, and potatoes of surprising size are shown in profusion. The potato crop in this section this year is said to be far above expectations.

On account of the large number of articles coming in all morning, it was a difficult matter for the managers to get everything in their proper places at the time for opening. So far there are but few visitors to the grounds. They are probably waiting till Wednesday, Thurs-day and Friday, which will be the principal days. There are about 6.000 entries. ich is far ahead of last year. There is a large number of farming implements, and engines to run the different machines, on the grounds. If the weather continues there is no doubt but that the Southern fair will be a great success in every NAPANEE, Oct. 7.—The Lennox agricultural exhibition is being held here today and to-morrow. The show inside the palace is very slim compared with other years. The attendance is large. DYSART. Haliburton, Oct. 7.—The annual agricultural show of the municipality of Dysart, comprising nine townships, owned principally by the Canadian Land and Emigration Company, was held here today. The show of stock was very large, there being 30 entries in horses and 93 in Durham bulls. The exhibit of sheep, principally Leicester and Cotswold, was particularly good, and would compare favour-ably with those shown in much larger places. The samples of root crops, which grow to a very large size in this was up to the average, the show of potatoes especially being extremely good. The interior of the hall presented a very pleasing appearance, being neatly fitted up with ladies' work, &c. An excellent Scotch plaid and blankets woven by Mr. Craig, of this township, deserved particular notice. There were 68 entries in grain, the samples of wheat being much better than at pre-vious shows. Altogether the number of entries was far greater than usual. As the day was very fine, an unusually large num-ber of people were in attendance.

ALMONTE, Oct. 2.—The twenty-first annual exhibition of the North Lanark Agricultural Society, held in Almonte yesterday and to-day, was a complete success. he main building was opened to the public last evening, and the attendance was much larger than usual. Early this morning, the farmers from the surrounding towns began to come in, and after excursion trains had arrived, the thoroughfares of the village were almost impassable. Notwithstanding that Almonte is situated 30 miles from Ottawa, and the Provincial show was so recently closed, the number of entries or the attendance was not curtailed. Between 4,500 and 5,000 paid for entrance to the grounds to-day, and there were over 1,100 entries. The show of horses and cattle was the best ever exhibited. The display of grain was much larger than in previous years. Roots and vegetables were uncommonly good, said by some to have exceeded the Provincial show in quality. Wm. Mostyn, M.D., President of the Association, made a lengthy address previous to the reading of KINGSTON, Ont., Oct. 2.—The Midland Central fair is a complete success, both in the character of the show and in the atdance. The exhibit was better than any of a local nature for several years, and ertain features of it, notably the carriages and grain, were equal to the display made at the Dominion show. There must have been as many as 9,000 persons on the grounds to day. The actual sale of tickets dicated an unusual influx of visitors. The entries are 500 in excess of those of last year, and the results have been such further developing the resources of the county and city. There were excursions county and city. There were excursions in to hide them from view. Smyth, followed to hide them from view. PETERBORO', Oct. 1.—The fifth Central Exhibition in connection with the Agricultural Societies of Peterboro', Victoria, Northumberland, and Durham, which opened in this town yesterday, is proving a grand success in every respect. The attendance so far has been immense, over 8,000 tickets having been sold, and the grand total by the close will fully realize the most sanguine hopes of the directors. The Midland railway brought to town this morning over 1,500 passengers, many also arriving from Cobourg, Hastings, etc., by boat via Harwood. There is a grand display of horses, cattle, machinery, and agricultural implements, besides agricultural products. The total number of entries is 2,027.

GRANT v. BEAUDRY.

A respectably dressed young man, giving fearing that the patient would not recover, attempted to prevail on him to disclose the name of the person who inflicted the wound. To all questions in this direc-tion the sufferer maintained a strict silence. The mystery, however, was partially cleared up on Tuesday by County Constable McMullin, of Yorkville. The particulars, as learned by a Mail reporter, are as follows:—Turner, for some time past, had been engaged as manager of a drug store owned by Mr. Edwin A. Smith, corner of Scollard and Yonge streets, Yorkville. On Friday morning last Turner left the store, promising to return within an hour.
After three or four hours' absence, he made his appearance, and seating himself in the

To prove his assertion he removed his hat, and disclosed a wound on the head, and his hair heavily matted with blood. The wound was dressed, and the injured man left for his home, where he stayed until Sunday, when, as before stated, he gained admission into the Hospital. The matter was reported to County Country has natter was reported to County Constable McMullin, who, having some previous knowledge of Turner's affairs, made the circumstances known to the County Crown Attorney. Tuesday a warrant was issued for the arrest of a commercial traveller named Lawrence Smyth, who, it is alleged struck the blow, which, it is feared, will prove fatal. Smyth was arrested in the afternoon by Detectives Brown and Shee-han, and was locked up in the Central police station. THE CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE About three months ago a man having every appearance of respectability, called at McMullin's house, in Yorkville, and pre ferred a very strange request. After giving his name as Lawrence Smyth, and his residence as Sherbourne street, he informed the constable that he desired to converse with a man who had cruelly wronged him and made his children worse than orphans Fearing, he said, that he could not contro himself in the presence of the destroyer of his happiness, he asked to be handcuffed The constable, seeing that Smyth was very much excited, and would, in all probability, do some rash act if not kept view, agreed to accompany him nearing the corner of Scollard and Yonge street, Smyth held out his hands HANDCUFFS BEING PLACED ON HIS WRISTS by the constable, entered Smith's drug store, and confronted Turner, whom he store, and confronted Turner, whom he charged with having had improper intercourse with his (Smyth's) wife. Both the accuser and the accused grew excited over the discussion that took place, and the former, with his manacled hands, could hardly be restrained from charging on the latter. At the conclusion of the exciting interview, Smyth retired from the store, and the handcuffs being removed, he parted company with the constable. LADIES' WORK.

The frequent visits of Turner to city. The frequent visits of Turner to her house on that street, it is said, were made known to the injured husband. Last week Smyth again visited Turner, and prayed him to desist in the course he was pursuing, a course which would eventually end in trouble and disgrace. A storm interview ensued, and Turner, it is alleged was threatened if he still persisted in making his visits. On Friday morning, Turner, on leaving the shop, made his way to Mrs. Smyth's house. Shortly after his entrance, Smyth also made his appearance. Angry words followed, when, as stated by the unfaithful wife, Smyth struck her paramour a blow on the head with a heavy walking stick, felling him to the ground.

THE CONDUCT OF THE FAITHLESS WIFE is severely commented upon by her friends. She, it appears, is the mother of five children, and, previous to forming the unfortunate acquaintance of Turner, was considered to be a model wife and mother. ince Turner's removal to the hospital Mrs. Smyth has made frequent calls at the store of his employer to make enquiries as to his state of health. On earning that the blow administered had caused concussion of the brain, and that fatal results were anticipated, her sympathies for the sufferer were freely expres

MONTREAL, Oct. 6.—The Orange case MONTREAL, Oct. 6.—Ine Orange case was resumed this morning.

DAVID GRANT, County Master, sworn, testified that there was no procession of Orangemen in Montreal on the 12th of July, 1877. They went to Knox church to service out that day. A friend of his was murdered on the 12th of July of that A respectably dressed young man, giving his name as Robert William Turner, was received into the Toronto General Hospital on Sunday. He was suffering from the effects of a blow on the head. On Monday he gradually grew worse, and at times was unconscious. The medical attendants, fearing that the patient would not recover "yes" when he remised to use his infin. right to walk, to which they answered "yes," when he promised to use his influence with his brethren to forege the proposed demonstration, which he did. The meeting agreed to do so, and carried it out to the letter. No lilies or colours of any kind were displayed by any of the brethren. On that day he went to work as usual. When coing to work he saw large growds. When going to work he saw large crowds of people on Victoria square. They were a rough-looking lot. About 11 o'clock he left his place of business and started for the church, where the service was to be held. He was insulted by rowdies in the square while passing through. Language was used to him which he would not care to repeat in Court. In the church he saw several ladies wearing lilies and Orange colours, one of whom he induced to take the lily off. He afterwards saw a crowd of police marching to Victoria Square, and heard that a brother named Hackett was murdered. According to the latest calculation there are about 3,500,000 Orangemen in Great Britain and the Calonies. men in Great Britain and the Celonies. The resolution of the House of Commons in 1836 to disband the Orange Association was carried out by the Grand Orange Lodge. The Duke of Edinburgh was an Orangeman. Mr. John Hillyard Cameron went to England in 1862 as Grand Master of the Orangemen of British America, and presented an address to her Majesty from the Orangemen of Canada. The Duke of Newcastle was standing by at the time. To the best of his belief, Sir John Macdonald was still an Orangeman. There is now an Orange lodge in England named the "Beaconsfield," by permission of the Premier. The order originated in England, and was called the Protestant Defence Association. In 1848, during the Irish rebellion, when Smith O'Brien. D'Arcy McGee, and others were in open warfare against the Government, the Orangemen sprang to arms and ren-dered valuable assistance to the Government. They were afterwards thanked for their services by a motion in the House of Commons and House of Lords. This closed the evidence on both sides. ADDRESS OF COUNSEL. Mr. DOUTRE contended that a man subjected to the inconvenience of an illegal ar-rest and imprisonment, and forced to lose ninety-nine days attending the Court, should receive a fair remuneration for the expenses he had been forced to incur. Without offending the majesty of the law in any way, he had been thrown into prison. He read extracts from the Orange constitution showing what a man had to believe before becoming a member. It was not confined to any party save Protestants, and had for its motto "The altar and the throne." The constitution provided that Orangemen should be firm believers in God, and should lend their in-Canada, referring to illegal societies, showing that a person belonging to such a combination of men could be imprisoned for 21

Mr. Roy, for the defence, spoke in French for three-quarters of an hour, rapidly going over the evidence which was produced at the examination which has just been concluded.

Mr. Carrer, Q.C., was surprised that the plaintiff should bring an ex-mayor into Court for acting in his official capacity for the safety and peace of the city. It was not a test case, and, therefore, could not settle the legality of the Order in question. He quoted a number of decisions in English Courts in support of his assertion Chapter 10 of the Consolidated Sta tutes of Lower Canada he thought would be applicable tothe case, All the authorities quoted by Judge Badge-ly were quite familiar to every ly were quite familiar to every lawyer, as well as to his Honour. The subscribing to an obligation was an illegal act, the manner in which the oath was administered being a matter of no consequence. In England the Act provided for the imprisonment of a person for a period not exceed in a large transmit. not exceeding 21 years. The Orange society was clearly an illegal one according to the 6th section of the Act, as it forced its members to take an obligation not required by law. The Orange Association, and every other society which required its adherents to subscribe to a declaration of secrety, was undoubtedly such. The obligaion said, "I, A.B., do solemnly and voluntarily swear, etc., etc.;" in other words, they combined together to usurp the constituted authority of the law and took it into their own hands. It mattered not whether they called themselves United Protestants, United Britons, or United Irishmen, they were none the less guilty. They had no power to administer an oath of allegiance. The Rev. Mr. Doudiet testified that members were required to place their hands upon the Bible, and kiss it when the obligation was read to them. On the one hand was an oath of secrecy, and on the other the signs or tokens to be used by members to gain admittance to the Lodge. As the statute in question exempted Freemasons from its provisions, he contended that as conclusive evidence of the illegality of the Orange Association.

The case was then taken en delibere.

AFFRAY IN A BILLIARD ROOM.

An Indian Seriously Wounds a Citizen of Brockville with a Cue. BROCKVILLE, Oct. 6.—Some excitemen was created here this evening on account of an affray which took place in the billiard room under the St. Lawrence Hall. It appears the Indian doctor Utawaun and Mr. P. Toner, of this place, were engaged in a game of billiards, when a slight dispute arose about the count, whereupon the Indian, without any provocation, struck Mr. THE ROBBERY FROM THE RECEIVERGENERAL'S OFFICE.—The Syracuse Herald

DEATH OF REV. ALEX. TOPP. D.D.

Brief Sketch of the Life of the late Pasto of Knox Church.

On Monday Rev. Alexander Topp, D.D., of the Presbyterian church, died suddenly of heart disease, at the residence of Mr. William Galbraith, Maitland street, where of heart disease, at the residence of Mr. William Galbraith, Maitland street, where he was making a call. The deceased was born in Scotland about sixty-five years ago, and was educated at St. Andrew's University, Fifeshire, where he won great honours and his degree of D.D. He was pastor of Elgin church for some years, and, on the resignation of the Rev. Dr. Bains, in 1856, he received a call to the pastorate of Knox church, in this city, and has held the position ever since. About a year ago, owing to the heavy work involved in having the superintendence of a very large congregation, steps were taken to have a colleague appointed, and the Rev. Dr. Inglis, of Brooklyn, was selected, but the death of the latter prevented the project being carried out. The names of other clerymen were then suggested, but it was found impossible to fix names of the state of the important of the state of the st clergymen were then suggested, but it was found impossible to fix upon a suitable person at the time. He was appointed Moderator of the General Assembly in 1876, and prior to that was Moderator of Toronto Presbytery, About the end of June of the present year he visited Scotland to attend to family matters, and while there symptoms of heart disease manifested themselves. This led to his seeking the advice of Dr. Keith and The Chief of Police at Ottawahas been instructed to make an enquiry into the apparent discrepancy in the receipts at the Dominion Exhibition.

Wm. Golden, resising in the Township of York, left his home for the Toronto market on Wednesday morning. After disposing of his load, Golden started on his homeward journey. In driving along the fourth concession of York he was stopped by two desperate-looking cutpurses, who made the usual demand, "Your money or your life." The peremptory order somewhat startled Mr. Golden, who, thinking it a wise move, handed them a small sum of money. The amount did not appear to satisfy the highwaymen, and another demand was made. This had the effect of making Mr. Golden produce the contents of his money-bag, $25 in all. After securing his watch the thieves decamped and have not since been seen. The prevailing opinion in the neighbourhood is that the men who "worked the job" are the same persons who attempted to rob Mr. Dixon on Saturday night. Robberies of this character are becoming so frequent on country roads that farmers, for their own safety, are considering the advisability of carrying weapons to defend them.

system electricity—mechanical force—which is there transformed into vital energy and physical power or strength. In this way the strength of the patient is rapidly built up, the system receiving positive supplies of strength from inexhaustable sources. No other method of treatment known to medical science can accomplish this result, as they are all dependent upon the physical power or strength generated within the system, which medicines may promote but cannot increase except in a very limited degree.

This system of treatment has proven wonderfully successful in curing Retroversion. Anteversion, and Falling of the Uterns, or "Female Weakness," also in curing Paralysis, Neuralgia, Swellings, Tumors, Stiff Limbs, Nervous Debility, Sleeplessness, and most Chronic Diseases.

Nervous Debility, Sieepiessues, and most office Diseases.
All cases of Constipation are promptly relieved by a very few applications, and the result is permanent. No patient who can sit up ten minutes at a time is too weak to have this treatment applied. The applications are always entirely unobjectionable, being always made through the clothing. Lady patients should bring with them a loose "wrapper," or "morning-gown."
