Sports on the Terrace Thursday Afternoon.

The university boys held their sports on Thursday afternoon, and good contests were witnessed by the small number that gathered on the terrace. Two records, however, had to go, the running high jump and the mile race. The judges were J. D. Fowler and profrs W. C. Murray and W. K. Hatt; John W. Wetmore acted as starter and John C. Court News.—The Sunbury circuit court opens at Ononcton on Tuesday next.

The Carleton county circuit court opens at Woodstock the following Tuesday.

The Supreme court has adjourned until Saturday, Nov. 7, when judgments will be delivered.

Sir John Allen will preside at a session of the Equity court to be held on the 17th Nov. at Andover.

C. W. Beckwith, referee in equity for Sunbury county, returned from Ontario Wednesday, where he had been engaged holding the equity court. The business was the settling up of the estate of the late Terrance McElroy, and the appointing of a guardian for the youngest son, Francis C. E. McElroy who is under age. Ellen McElroy was appointed guardian, and it was decided to sell a certain portion of the young man's interest in the estate. The amount realized from such sale to be devoted to the education, etc., of the young man until he becomes of age. There are eight heirs. The estate is valued at about $20,000. Chas. E. Duffy was attorney for petitioners.

On account of the illness of Judge Wetmore there was no session of the divorce court Tuesday.

At Mr. ALLISON.—On Friday last week a conference was held at Seckville, at Mr. Allison college, of delegates from Wolfville and Dalhousie colleges, Nova Scotia and the New Brunswick university at Fredericton. An intercollegiate lecture association was established, and a course will be opened early next term. It is more than probable that Bill Nye will be the first lecturer. The place of delivery has not yet been agreed upon.

AN AMUSING INCIDENT.—An amusing incident occurred on Saturday last at Justice Purdie's court, Regent street. A case was being argued before the Justice, and a new-fangled lawyer, who has recently opened an office on Regent street started to manufacture law for the instruction of a member of one of the leading law firms of the city. He was taken to task by the Justice, which appeared to mightily grieve him.

At Vancouver.—Hon. George S. Hill, a member of the legislative council of New Brunswick, and Daniel Gillmore, a son of the honored member for Charlotte county in the house of commons, arrived in the city to-day and ate at the Manor house. Mr. Hill sat for Charlotte in the legislative assembly of New Brunswick in 1865, and was defeated at the election in 1866 when confederation was carried. He was re-elected and sat from the general elections of 1878 until appointed to the legislative council in 1882. He was a member of the upper house in 1887. Both gentlemen are strong liberals, and living as they do on the border, favor enlarged trade relations with the United States.—Vancouver World, 16th.

Three Feet of Snow.—While Fredericton is rejoicing in green fields people of the interior, not many miles away, have their doorways and fence corners decorated with drifts of snow three feet deep. To add to this the cold snap of Wednesday and Thursday in the field, and on some farms where the potatoes had not been dug they shared the same fate. A hoe was of no avail on Thursday, nothing but a pick-axe or crow-bar would have been of any use.

HALLOWEEN.—Don't forget that to-night is Halloween. The boys will be on the warpath as usual but they will not escape so well as they did last year. Of course, boys will be boys, but let us say you know the old folks cannot stand too much. In many homes, to-night will be one of enjoyment and merry chat and laughter will echo round each fireside.

HOLINESS AGAIN.—Rev. B. F. Gaskin of the Beulah Workers will preach in the temperance hall, Sabbath afternoon, Nov. 1st, at 3 o'clock, and in the evening at 8 o'clock. Prayers, praise and testimony meeting previous to preaching service. All con. a. bring silver collection.

Maryville's New Mill.

Another stirring industry is to be added to those which have made the town of Marysville famous as one of the greatest hubs of manufacturing in New Brunswick.

A shingle mill, 100 feet long by 42 feet wide, is to be erected on the western bank of the Nashwaak, just above the dam and close beside the Canada Eastern railway. The mill proper will be built of wood, the frame above, which is to be of spruce or hemlock, contains 45,000 feet. The engine and boiler houses will be of brick, 200,000 of these being required. A large furnace will also be built for the burning of sawdust and refuse. This will be separate from the chimney proper, not as in the case of the Morrison's mill furnace, a part of the chimney. About thirty men are now at work excavating, laying the foundation and shaping the frame, which is a large wharf about 200 feet long, will be built along the water front so that teams can drive all round the building. A large boat house has been built on the eastern side of the mill, and the blacksmith shop will be moved to the lower side of the old bridge. The mill will be equipped with ten Dunbar shingle machines manufactured by McFarlane, Thompson & Co. of the city. Several of these machines have been used in the lower mill and have given such good satisfaction that there was no hesitation on the part of Mr. Gibson in making a choice of machines for the new mill. The mill will be run in close to the building from the Canada Eastern track so that by means of an elevator the manufactured product can be at once put on the cars for export. The lumber will be brought by rail and by water. Mr. Gibson's lands along the river and along the route of the railway being well stocked with cedar, in fact the lands are allowed to be almost inexhaustible. The mill will employ about fifty hands. Several new houses will have to be built in the spring to afford shelter for this addition to the population. Richard Staples is the builder, one of the best construction mechanics in central New Brunswick. It is expected that the mill will be roofed in in three weeks, so that the work of putting in the machinery may go on at once and the mill be ready for work as soon as possible. The motive power will be a 150 horse power engine, the style of which has not as yet been decided on.

Presentation to Miss Ross.—Yesterday afternoon was the scene of a pleasant gathering in the library of the Normal school, though there were features connected that made a deep feeling of sorrow pervade all gathered there. It was the occasion of the presentation to Miss Ross of several tokens of respect and love, ere she went out from the position of teacher in the institution, a position which she has filled with tact and usefulness for the past five years during which 7000 students have addressed her in the most respectful manner.

Police Penalties.—At the police court, Tuesday, another assault case came up for trial, in which Peter Douglas was charged with assaulting Joseph Douglas with intent to do him bodily harm for the plaintiffs. The case was settled by defendant paying the costs.

It was an expected looking crowd that gathered at the police court on Monday last, when the assault case was to be tried. It soon, however, began to be rumored that the complainant, John D. Taylor, had skipped. The prisoners, in consequence, were taken to the gaol and the trial postponed. They were, however, turned to grief when the police magistrate remanded them to jail until Thursday. No one appeared to prosecute, the parties were allowed to go and White Chapel will appear more or less with its old time hilarity.

Two of the O'Rea boys and Joe Estman were taken to the gaol on Monday night, when they beat Walter Kelly, of the tug Pantheon, on Queen street about ten o'clock Thursday night. It appears that Kelly was on the street and that he passed them on the wrong side of the walk. They told him to take the right side and as he would not do so, they determined there and there to make him. Kelly was struck on the forehead with a weapon of some kind. There are various theories advanced as to what it was. Steel knuckles, a sling shot, a stone and other things are mentioned but whatever was used Kelly will have a mark for life. Joe Estman said to the police when they reached the battle ground that he was not concerned in "de fus" at all. Kelly was taken to the gaol on Monday night. Wright. They failed to appear, however, and it is thought he has skipped.

Gabe and Mary Paul, Indian and squaw, of St. Marys, resided on Queen street, Friday afternoon in a way that would lead an observer to imagine they were initiating a woodboat beating against the wind. They were checked full of their antics by the police. They were taken to the gaol and it is thought they will be released on Monday.

Philip MacNeil lost a cow, Monday night, by hanging. She had been fastened with a chain and in some way twisted it so as to choke herself.

A number of young men who had been prohibited in the race freely of the ancient, got into an altercation on Sunday morning. A free fight ensued, in which all the parties took a full hand, and several broken noses and black eyes were the result. Policeman Barker arrived just a little late, and the parties escaped punishment which they richly deserved.

A sixty horse power engine passed over the Canada Eastern a few days since for Sanson's new mill. It will contain a rotary and two Dunbar shingle machines, and it is expected to be ready by the end of March. The machinery will be put in by Howard Seape of this city. This with their mill at Stanley, will be able to supply the neighborhood with lumber of all kinds at reasonable rates. The young men are to be commended on their enterprise.

LIVELY RENAISSANCE.—A team of horses attached to a farm wagon was held standing at the lower end of Queen street, Wednesday morning, having on board 917 barrels of kerosene oil for city merchants, the largest consignment that ever came at one time to the port of Fredericton. Entries are being passed to-day. The duties will amount to about $5,000.

TO REMOVE.—It is reported upon good authority that George T. Whipple, 917, purchased the building now occupied by J. O'Brien as a tinshop, and after repairing it, will remove from his present quarters.

America has lost ten of her remaining buffaloes. They were bought at a fabulous price by Mr. Leland, the millionaire banker of Liverpool, England, and passed through Chicago on route to New York, whence they sail next Tuesday. The animals are to be placed in Mr. Leland's private park.

"WE FOUND THE HOG."

The Biggest Turnup of the Season, or Whopper, Which.

He was the editor of a newspaper in the classic precincts of Chatham, Miramichi. As he sat in the Barker house, a few evenings since, musing on the uncertain current of human affairs, he was joined by a man who was not the proprietor. Their talk, from generalities, settled down to the subject of what they did not know of the porcine race, and a listener observed that there were volumes of pork lore that they were not versed in. At this moment there was a startling sensation. The massive doors of the hotel swung inward and with a rush there came a man with unkempt hair, eyes blazing and a man in a long coat, who with a noise like we see in pictures of a hippodrome. With inflated lungs and a voice like a bull he bellowed, "We've found the hog!" "Where? Where?" asked the man who was not the proprietor. "In that barn!" was the reply. "All right! drive her into town for Halloween." Turning to the man who was not the proprietor, the astonished editor asked for information. He was told that at the Killarney farm the salt sea breezes cause a great abundance of periwinkles, cockles, clams and other shell fish, and a certain improved Chester hog had gathered at the farm, falling split in halves, when one morning he was missed. Search was unavailing. Yesterday when hauling in turnips, which they move one at a time on McCluskey's tall slides, the slides gave way at once and the hog was found, lying on the long log. He had eaten his way into it and had no desire to return. "Well," reflected the editor, "it's a mighty big turnup or a mighty tough yarn."

Charles Titus, St. Marys, is getting out at that place one hundred and twenty-five perches of stone for Howard & Crangle's new building. Mr. Kilpatrick, St. Marys, took a large force of men by train Monday to Zealand Station. They will work on the block of land lately purchased by an American company there to-day and on Monday. There were to-day two sad homes in the Nashwaak valley. William Young received word on Friday morning of the death of his daughter, Mrs. A. Reed, who since her marriage about a year ago lived in New Hampshire. As Miss Sarah Young had a wide acquaintance on the Nashwaak and in most of the county. Her death occurred from typhoid fever at half past two on Friday morning. She will be buried in New Hampshire as being the victim of a contagious disease she could not be brought home.

Alexander Forbes, a son of William Forbes of the Nashwaak was drowned on Wednesday in New Hampshire. He had seven other young men, left here for that state a year and three months since and was employed as river work. The last word received by his parents was that he was going dam building when a dispatch that he was drowned plunged them into grief. His remains were expected to-day. Deceased was a smart, intelligent young man, twenty-two years of age and was well liked by all the people of the parish. Much sympathy is expressed for the families thus bereaved and all love can do to assuage their grief will be done.
