Death of Father McCarvill.

This community was shocked on Friday afternoon last, on learning the sad intelligence of the death of Rev. Peter V. McCarvill, junior priest at the Cathedral, which occurred at the City Hospital, about 5.15. About two weeks previously he was taken ill, with what seemed to be typhoid fever, and was removed to the Hospital where he gradually grew worse until the end came, as above stated.

The deceased priest was a son of the late James McCarvill and Mary Shreenan of Kinkora, and was 31 years of age at the time of his death. He was a graduate of St. Dunstan's College, and he prosecuted his Ecclesiastical studies at the Grand Seminary, Quebec. He was ordained priest at Quebec on December 22nd, 1911, and sang his first Mass in his native parish church, Kinkora, on Christmas Day. In March last he became attached to the Cathedral staff, where he continued zealously to labor until stricken with his fatal illness.

Father McCarvill was an admirable character; a man of sterling qualities and excellent abilities; a fine preacher and a most zealous worker in the vineyard of the Lord. To all appearances a life of splendid sacerdotal usefulness lay before him; but his Divine Master, in His infinite wisdom, ordained otherwise. His death at the beginning of a most promising priestly life, is a serious loss to the diocese. Deceased leaves to mourn a sorrowing mother, one sister and five brothers, who have the sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement. The mortal remains of the deceased priest were borne to St. Dunstan's Cathedral Saturday forenoon, where a Solemn Mass of Requiem was sung at 10 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Gauthier was celebrant of the Mass, Rev. Pius McDonald, deacon, Rev. Father Crocken, sub-deacon, and Rev. Dr. McLellan Master of Ceremonies. After the Mass, Libera and Absolution, the casket with the body remained in the Sanctuary until the afternoon. During this time the remains were viewed by large numbers of people. The features looked as placid as in sweet sleep.

At 3.15 a Libera was again sung, and Absolution given, Rev. Dr. McLellan officiating. The casket was then taken to the hearse and conveyed to the Railway Station, for conveyance to Kinkora for interment. The cortege was large and imposing, the Catholic Societies, at short notice, turning out in considerable numbers. The honorary pallbearers were: Chief Justice Sullivan, Judge Blanchard, Mayor Lyons, Dr. Conroy, James Eden and Councillor Campbell. The active pallbearers were: Councillors Riley, Walker and McKenna, James Hennessey, John M. Hughes and James McIsaac. The remains were taken to the home of the deceased priest's mother at Kinkora, where they lay until Sunday afternoon, when they were borne to St. Malachi's Church, followed by an immense procession of parishioners and others. The remains lay in the Church until Monday forenoon, when the last solemn obsequies were held, and interment took place in the adjoining cemetery. The Church was admirably draped for the occasion, and the casket containing the remains rested on a catafalque within the Sanctuary. The attendance at the solemn services was very, very large. The whole parish and many from neighboring parishes turned out, and there was a large contingent from Charlottetown. About thirty priests were in attendance. Everything in connection with the funeral was carried out with admirable order and precision. Much praise is due to the pastor, Rev. J. J. McDonald, for the splendid success attending the solemn funeral services.

After the recitation of the office of the dead, a Solemn Mass of Requiem was sung, the pastor, Rev. J. J. McDonald, being celebrant; Rev. Father Crocken, deacon, Rev. Father Murphy sub-deacon, and Rev. A. J. McIntyre Master of Ceremonies. A splendid, appropriate funeral sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. McLellan. His text was from the 5th verse of the LXIV Psalm: "Blessed is he whom thou hast chosen, and taken to thee; he shall dwell in thy courts." In the development of his theme, the Rev. preacher unfolded the admirable character and shining virtues of the deceased priest, with whom he had been associated in the work of the ministry during his brief sacerdotal career. So much paths did the Rev. preacher put into his discourse, and so deeply affected was he himself that the vast congregation were moved to tears.

After the Libera and Absolution, the mortal remains of the dead priest were viewed by those present. Then to the strains of the Miserere, the body was solemnly borne from the church to the cemetery, close by. The pallbearers were six of his brother priests: Revs. Dr. Curran, Pius McDonald, Dr. Monaghan, R. J. McDonald, Dr. Smith and S. J. McDonald. Here in the cemetery of his native parish, among his own kindred, the mortal remains of good Father McCarvill were laid to rest. Requiessat in pace.

Signor Pinoretta, an agent of the Brazilian Government, who was in Montreal recently, told a newspaper man in that city that the German menace against his country was not only real but imminent. It is, apparently, not so much the number of German immigrants pouring into Brazil that alarms the people there as the fact that few of these show any inclination of becoming naturalized, and the suspicion is growing that most of them are simply agents of the German Government, sent forward to spy out the land and secure information against the day when the Kaiser will make an effort to seize the country.—Vancouver Sun.

It was due to the clamor raised by the Hearst papers that the United States, in violation of the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty, decided to fortify the Panama Canal. It was partly due to the uproar of yellow journalism that the war with Spain was declared, and this section of the press is practically alone among influential American journals today in urging that there should be discrimination in favor of American shipping. The Hearst journals were prominent in the fight for Reciprocity, and even issued Canadian editions in order to rally Canadians to the support of the Continentals last summer. They now stand out in the open, and in the future ought not to be mistaken by any British subject for anything but what they are—bitter, unscrupulous advocates of aggressive Americanism, the foes and insulters of everything British.—Mail and Empire.

A correspondent down east wants to know if we can grow pumpkins here in Pincher Creek. Sure. The only trouble is the vines grow so fast they scrape the skin of the pumpkins by dragging them over the ground.—Pincher Creek Echo.

The Eastern politician who finds it somewhat trying to have to make a round of the township fairs in order to keep in touch with his constituents may realize what an easy time he has of it, when he learns that J. L. Cote has just returned from a 2,500 mile journey in the constituency of Athabasca, which he represents in the Alberta Legislature. It is about as large as the three Maritime Provinces.—Winnipeg Free Press.

Referring to alterations in the Commons Chamber, a news item says: "Moreover there has been some artistic padding done in the region of the ceiling, to improve the acoustics. Without this padding the utterances of members in times past have been known to rebound." Quite true. Many speeches have rebounded with the force of a boomerang. But scarcely from lack of padding.—Ottawa Citizen.

Again comes the report from Quebec City that immigrants have been fleeced by sharks employed at that door way to Canada. This time definite charges have been made. They should lead to the punishment of the guilty. Robbing a newcomer unprepared for the sharp ways of men with easy jobs is even worse than robbing a native. The immigrant has enough to go through in securing entry without having to contend with evil doers the moment he steps from the ship.—Montreal Gazette.

According to statistics there are consumed in the United States every day 21,718,448 cigars and 23,736,190 cigarettes, without including those rolled by the smokers themselves. These figures are large. Taken alone, they seem to confirm the fears of those who go about dreading the ravages of the cigarette scourge. But measured against the population of the country they are seen to be small. They show a per capita consumption of less than a cigarette a day for the male voting population alone and considerably less than a cigar a day.—Tobacco Leaf.

Over fifty members of the British Parliament are reported to be in various parts of Canada at the present time. The result should be good on both sides of the ocean. The visitors will be able to see what is strong as well as what is weak in this country's general make-up and the knowledge gained will make for correct views. If Canadian members of Parliament on their side show equal interest in visiting Great Britain they, too, will be able to understand things better, and good will follow all round.—Montreal Gazette.

It goes without saying that, if war were to break out, Canada would defend the Flag until victory was won or defeat had to be acknowledged. That is the cheapest and easiest of patriotism. We are all patriots "when the band begins to play." But the patriotism that counts is that which is ready to make sacrifices in time of peace in order that there shall be no abatement of the natural power and prestige. Should Canada be asked to make such a sacrifice, if a sacrifice it can be called that involves only the giving of money, every one of us ought to be ready to do our share.—Victoria Colonist.

Borden's Return.

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—Premier Borden is expected to reach Ottawa next Sunday. He will probably be given a civic welcome and on the following day will as already announced be the guest at a conservative banquet at the Chateau Laurier.

Between Quebec and Ottawa the First Minister will be tendered a series of receptions. Preparations are being made for demonstrations in honor of his return at Quebec, Three Rivers, Montreal, and other points. The indications are that Mr. Borden is to be the recipient of the greatest welcome ever accorded an English speaking Conservative leader in the province of Quebec.

From what is known here of the plans the receptions will be merely party celebrations, but popular expressions of satisfaction at the able and patriotic manner in which Mr. Borden has represented Canada at the crucial conferences which have been held in Great Britain during the past few weeks. The Premier will travel from Quebec to Three Rivers and Montreal by special train. The Montreal welcome promises to be a memorable one and a large number of Conservative members from Ontario are expected to take part in it.

Obituary.

Death, the grim reaper, always leaves behind a trail of sorrow. No matter how or when he visits us, but especially when he snatches from us one who is much loved and esteemed. Such was the case when on Thursday, August 22nd, Margaret, beloved wife of Clement Sutherland passed peacefully to her rest at the age of 50 years. Deceased had been in ill health for the past six months, and all that could be done by skilled physicians had been tried and failed. She was one of nature's noble women and her gentle affability and sympathetic nature made her a favorite by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance, possessed of a religious spirit and endowed with the virtue of self sacrifice, she was ever ready to assist the sick, the poor and the needy. She was attended in her last illness by the Rev. S. J. McDonald, and died fortified by the last rites of the Holy Catholic Church. The large concourse of friends that followed her mortal remains to the grave was a silent but impressive tribute. She leaves to mourn a grief-stricken husband, a disconsolate mother, three brothers and one sister. With these sorrowing relatives we mingle our tears. May our Divine Saviour whose Sacred Heart is all tenderness wipe them all away by making us realize the joy into which her pure soul has entered Rest in peace. Calmly her gentle presence left us After her brief day, While the glow of her pure life shone o'er her, Into the heart that was waiting for her, Our loved one passed away. —Com.
